India Takes Issue In UN With Soviet

Says World Wants To Promote Peace, Unity In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — India took issue with the Soviet bloc Friday and called for continuation of the U. N. military force in the Congo with all member nations sharing the cost.

Ambassador C. S. Jha outlined the Indian position in the assembly's Budgetary Committee as the assembly itself neared a vote on rival resolutions containing formulas for bringing peace and unity to the divided Congo.

The resolutions renew the call for an exodus of Belgian military and semimilitary personnel and political advisers from the Congo, but there are differences among Asian-African sponsors on whether a specific deadline should be fixed.

They call also for new measures to prevent outside military aid from reaching rival political factions and urge a reconvening of Parliament. A separate Soviet resolution proposes a 21-day deadline for reconvening Parliament.

The Budgetary Committee is trying to find a method of assessing the $120 million estimated costs for the 1961 Congo operation.

It is faced with refusal by the Soviet bloc countries and France to pay anything — a situation which threatens the entire U. N. organization with bankruptcy.

With the April 21 target date for adjournment just a week away, the 99-nation assembly held morning and afternoon sessions in an effort to dispose of the Congo question.

Sabotage Worrying Castro

HAVANA (AP)—The new wave of sabotage that turned Cuba's biggest department store into smoking ruins left a grave problem Friday for Prime Minister Fidel Castro—whom can he trust?

His enemies, in striking at the multimillion-dollar nationalized El Encanto store, appeared to demonstrate the depth of their penetration into the ranks of workers and militia that Castro claims as his strongest support.

The fire Friday night also destroyed an El Encanto warehouse, and another damaged a paper warehouse. And at least nine explosions rocked Havana's suburbs during and after the fires. From the hinterlands came reports that three stores were fired in Santiago, a cotton mill destroyed by flames in Juguani, and tons of sugar cane were ruined by fires in Pinar del Rio Province.

Informed sources described the Prime Minister and his associates as "livid with rage" at the destruction of El Encanto, which had become one of Castro's showpieces.

Hoffa's Telephone Operator Convicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal court jury Friday convicted a former telephone operator, Sally T. Hucks, of obstructing a Senate rackets committee investigation into affairs of James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters officials.

The jury convicted Mrs. Hucks, 43, on nine out of 10 counts in an indictment that alleged she altered and destroyed hotel records of telephone calls made by Hoffa and other union officers.

The government contended the records were destroyed in 1959 to hide them from Senate investigators.

The jury also convicted Moss Herman, a former Teamsters official, on two counts of conspiracy in the case.

A third defendant, Joseph M. Williamson, 39, an Urbana, Ill., attorney, was acquitted of charges of participating in the alleged conspiracy to shield Hoffa.

U.S. To Put Man On Moon By '67

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States might land a man on the moon in 1967 and perhaps beat the Soviet Union to it — if it's willing to spend billions on a crash program, a top space official said Friday.

But Dr. Robert C. Seamans, associate director ofthe National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said adopting such a goal would require a change in high national policy. And, he added, going "all out on an absolutely crash basis" would cost billions more than is now contemplated.

The present tentative target for a U. S. moon-landing flight is 1969 or 1970. Moscow has not hinted at its plans, but its first space traveller, Maj. Yuri Gagarin, said it might be "sooner than we think."

A 1967 target date, Seamans said, would be "a very major undertaking. To compress the program by three years would greatly increase the funding ... If it was a matter of national policy, I would be the first to review the program and wholeheartedly pursue the goal ... That goal may very well be achieved."

Seamans was testifying before the House Science and Astronautics Committee. A Republican member, Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado, told him to consider his words carefully. The NASA official then said 1967 "is a date that could be considered from a planning standpoint."

Seamans and other NASA officials have been justifying the Kennedy request for a total $1.23 billion appropriation for NASA for fiscal 1962 starting July 1.

Seamans said NASA had asked for $1.4 billion but about $182 million had been lopped off by Kennedy's Bureau of the Budget. Nevertheless, he said, this was a markup of $125 million over the amount proposed by the Eisenhower administration in January.

Seamans said the largest single item in the Budget Bureau cutback was $42.6 million for Project Apollo, the intermediate step that leads up to landing a man on the moon. That figure was left at the Eisenhower level of $29.5 million.

Seamans said Apollo has been speeded up by about two years by the Kennedy administration. It now contemplates launching a three-man space laboratory in an earth orbit by 1965, and an orbit around the moon by 1967.

Car Production Is Climbing

DETROIT (UPI)—United States car production climbed to 112,551 units this week, the highest level of 1961, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

Ward's said that with 43 of the industry's 48 assembly plants operating, output climbed 20 per cent from the 93,790 cars produced last week.

This week's output was equal to 83 per cent of the 135,402 cars assembled at the same time in 1960.

The statistical agency said U.S. truck output this week totaled 23,698 units, only a slight increase from 23,488 last week, and 10 per cent below the 25,681 of last year.

Senate Delays Minimum Wage Bill Tally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate conservatives used talkathon tactics Friday to delay a crucial vote on President Kennedy's $1.25 an hour minimum wage proposal until next week.

Before adjourning for the weekend, the Senate agreed to vote on a Republican-sponsored $1.15-an-hour substitute bill after it resumes debate on the issue at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

It was the only progress administration backers were able to salvage out of a day marked by lengthy speeches and other stalling tactics by the bill's opponents.

The substitute bill, sponsored by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., is similar to the measure passed by the House March 24.

It would limit extension of coverage to 1.2 million new workers, who would get $1.05 an hour. It also would hold to $1.15 the wage increase for 23.9 million employes already covered by the wage-hour act.

Democratic leaders were confident they had the votes to defeat it, then move on to passage of the president's plan.

Business Upturn Is Indicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs of a strengthening economy were reported Friday by the Federal Reserve Board, though its own index of industrial output edged up only slightly from the recession level of January and February.

And the Labor Department reported that the number of workers drawing unemployment compensation benefits declined during the week ended April 1 for the sixth straight week.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security said the total dropped by 89,100 to 2,996,300. It was the first week since late December that the volume had fallen below three million.

The April 1 total was 426,000 below the record of 3,422,300 reported in mid-February.

Gains in retail trade, auto sales, steel production, private building, money supply, and hours of work were shown in the Federal Reserve Board's national summary of business conditions for March.

Rising steel and auto output this month suggested that the industrial production gain will be extended into April, and the Commerce Department added more good news by an announcement of impressive gains by the depressed housing industry.

Private home starts climbed in March to an annual rate of 1,283,000 dwellings, the department said. This was 8 per cent above February and 15 per cent higher than March of last year.

Some 102,100 private houses and apartments were started, plus about 4,400 public units. The gain of 34 per cent from February's total of 76,000 private starts was officially termed "somewhat larger than the sharp seasonal rise which is normal."

This bolstered hopes that the housing industry, which frequently has helped to buoy a slack economy, would again play the role of a leader in a general recovery.

The reserve board's index of mine, factory and utility output reached 102.4 per cent of the 1957 average, half a percentage point above February's 101.9 per cent and a hairbreadth above January's 102.3 per cent.

The figures suggested the recession was just rounding its bottom, with February the low point. The three-month period of very slight change is typical of a recession at its low point, but the index has far to go to reach the peak rate of 111 per cent set last January.

The reserve board summary noted that nonfarm employment held steady in March, while the average hours of work in manufacturing industries climbed, although not enough to reduce the unemployment rate significantly.

Kennedy Calls Economic Session On Latin America

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Friday pressed forward his Latin American "Alliance for Progress" with a call for a summer meeting of the hemisphere's finance ministers.

The meeting, Kennedy told a glittering Pan-American Day audience at the Organization of American States, would seek to give further shape to "a new era of economic progress and social justice." In his conclusion, he urged: "Let us make this summer of 1961 a decisive turning point in the history of the Americas."

The program should go forward through the OAS, he said, and the OAS should be the chief instrument for fulfilling "the contemporary mission of Pan-Americanism."

General Walker Denies Charges Of Domination

Name Linked With Birch Society

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP)—Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker denied Friday that his division information program is dominated by the controversial John Birch Society.

The 24th Infantry Division commander also took issue with a published report that he had described former President Harry S. Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as "definitely pink."

A privately owned newspaper for U. S. servicemen, the Overseas Weekly, created a stir with a report that the 24th Division was exposed to a "propaganda barrage" from the militantly conservative society.

Publications sponsored by the society have been made available to troops in Walker's division, the paper said, and the division newspaper has reprinted material from the society's anti-Communist publications.

The Overseas Weekly, which has no official connection with the Army, also alleged that Walker, in an Augsburg speech last year, described 60 per cent of the American press and radio-TV industry as Communists and said Truman, Acheson and Mrs. Roosevelt were "definitely pink."

Walker issued a statement that "statements in the Overseas Weekly of April 16, 1961, alleged to have been made by me on Jan. 24, 1960, are untrue."

When a reporter commented this was not a denial that the general had made the statements, a division spokesman said he could not leaborate on Walker's comment.

Postal Rate Increase Is Being Urged

Five-Cent Stamp To Lick Deficit

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just like his predecessor, Postmaster General J. Edward Day asked Congress Friday to increase postal rates and wipe out the postal deficit.

For most Americans the increase would mean sticking a five-cent stamp instead of a four-cent stamp on their envelopes.

In total, the increased rates would bring in $741 million a year. Former Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield requested similar increases in the past several years, but Congress took no action.

The heart of Day's request was a one-cent boost on each of the most common forms of American mail. His proposed rates:

First class letters—five cents an ounce.

Postal cards—four cents.

Air mail letters—eight cents an ounce.

Air postal cards—six cents.

Submitting proposed bills, Day asked Congress to pass them before July 1.

The postmaster general told Congress his bills would increase first-class mail revenues by 25 per cent, second-class by 79 per cent, and third-class by 40 per cent.

Some second-class changes:

1. An extra 1½-cent charge would be added to all general circulation magazines and newspapers mailed outside the county in which they are published.

2. Newspapers now delivered free or at a rate of one cent a pound within the county of publication would be charged at a rate of 1½ cents a pound, plus ¼ of a cent for each piece.

3. In the third-class category, rates would go up from three to four cents for the first two ounces and from 1½ cents to two cents fo. each additional ounce on a per piece basis. The minimum bulk rate would go from 2½ cents a piece to 3½ cents. Third class covers advertising circulars, merchandise samples, and similar material.

Stevenson Wants Belgians Out Of Congo

Adlai Says Exodus Could Relieve Crisis

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson declared Friday a Belgian exodus would speed a solution to the Congo crisis, but he rejected proposals setting a deadline and threatening penalties.

The U. S. chief delegate expressed support in the General Assembly for a mildly worded Asian-African resolution urging quick reconvening of the Congolese Parliament to determine the future political structure of the divided country.

After hearing Stevenson, the assembly adjourned until Saturday for a vote on rival Congo resolutions before it.

Stevenson suggested a federal form of government, similar to that in the United States, would be the best for the Congo.

He said the sooner Belgium withdraws extraneous personnel from the Congo "the sooner the task of reconciliation can go ahead."

He referred to Belgian military and semimilitary personnel and political advisers whose withdrawal had been demanded in previous Security Council resolutions.

He mentioned recent assurances from Belgium that it would comply with council resolutions and declared that imposition of a 21-day deadline "with a strong hint of sanctions would only make the solution of the Congo problem more difficult."

The deadline is called for in a resolution sponsored by a group of Asian-African nations and Yugoslavia.

Stevenson rejected a Soviet resolution seeking to impose a 21-day deadline for the reconvening of Parliament. He said this amounted to unwarranted interference in the domestic affairs of a member nation.

Red Square Jammed To See Gagarin

Hero Welcome Given Russian Spaceman

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev weeping with emotion brought spaceman Yuri Gagarin home to Moscow Friday and the city's millions hailed him as the space age Columbus in a roaring welcome no Stalin or czar ever received.

A near mob scene developed in Red Square. Women fainted in the crush as the crowd tried to press toward the marble Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum on which Gagarin and Khrushchev stood with other dignitaries. Police finally pushed the crowd back and restored order.

There were no reports of casualties.

Gagarin drew roars when he said he and his fellow cosmonauts are "ready at any time' for more space flights. And Khrushchev said the Soviets would send more, "space swallows" out and "leave other states behind." He left no doubt he was referring to the United States.

Mr. K. Lends Cheers

Eyes downcast and modest throughout the tumult, the 27-year-old carpenter's son lost his reserve only when he greeted his comely wife and clasped her for 30 seconds in a hug and kiss while tens of thousands of Russians, egged on by Khrushchev, cheered.

The Soviet Premier jumped up and down excitedly as he greeted Gagarin. He kissed and bear-hugged the flier who was dressed in the uniform of a Soviet air force major. In his speech to a vast crowd in Red Square, Khrushchev compared Gagarin to Christopher Columbus.

"His name will live forever in the history of mankind," the Premier said.

After the ceremonies at the airport and a triumphal ride past two million singing, flower-throwing Muscovites to Red Square, Gagarin was guest of honor at a reception in St. George's Hall of the Kremlin.

Foreign observers agreed that never in the 805-year-old tumultuous history of Moscow has there been such an outpouring of public affection. The city belonged to to the man who was orbited in space Wednesday for 108 minutes and returned safe and sound.

Assignment Accomplished

Khrushchev interrupted a vacation on the Black Sea coast to fly to Moscow for the ceremony.

He arrived at Vnukovo Airport a few minutes before the Ilyushin airliner bringing in Gagarin from an undisclosed space center in the interior.

Bands played, flags whipped in the breeze under a bright spring sun.

The cosmonaut's plane rolled to a stop near the dignitaries grandstand and there was dead silence.

From it stepped a slim short figure in uniform. The cheering burst like a thunderclap. Looking left and right as though nervous, Gagarin strode 200 yards to the grandstand.

He saluted and reported that he had "successfully accomplished my assignment for the Communist party and government." His hand snapped down.

The pudgy Khrushchev kissed him, pounded him on the back and hugged him for 25 seconds while the crowd roared.

The Premier waved his gray fedora as though urging the crowd to greater demonstrations.

Then, with tears streaming down his cheeks, Khrushchev led Gagarin to his waiting wife, Valentina, 26, his father and mother, who was wearing a woolen scarf over her head.

The family burst into tears. Valentina fell into the arms of her husband.

Flowers Knee Deep

Mrs. Khrushchev came up and she, too, embraced the man hailed as the first space age hero.

Attorney Denies Powers Release

MOSCOW (AP)—Roman Rudenko, the Soviet attorney who prosecuted U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers at his trial, said at the Gagarin reception Friday night a recently published report that Powers might be released soon was a fabrication.

"I haven't heard it and I do not believe it," he added.

Senate Delays Minimum Wage Bill Tally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate conservatives used talkathon tactics Friday to delay a crucial vote on President Kennedy's $1.25 an hour minimum wage proposal until next week.

Before adjourning for the weekend, the Senate agreed to vote on a Republican-sponsored $1.15-an-hour substitute bill after it resumes debate on the issue at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

General Walker Denies Charges Of Domination

Name Linked With Birch Society

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP)—Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker denied Friday that his division information program is dominated by the controversial John Birch Society.

The 24th Infantry Division commander also took issue with a published report that he had described former President Harry S. Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as "definitely pink."

A privately owned newspaper for U. S. servicemen, the Overseas Weekly, created a stir with a report that the 24th Division was exposed to a "propaganda barrage" from the militantly conservative society.

Publications sponsored by the society have been made available to troops in Walker's division, the paper said, and the division newspaper has reprinted material from the society's anti-Communist publications.

The Overseas Weekly, which has no official connection with the Army, also alleged that Walker, in an Augsburg speech last year, described 60 per cent of the American press and radio-TV industry as Communists and said Truman, Acheson and Mrs. Roosevelt were "definitely pink."

Walker issued a statement that "statements in the Overseas Weekly of April 16, 1961, alleged to have been made by me on Jan. 24, 1960, are untrue."

When a reporter commented this was not a denial that the general had made the statements, a division spokesman said he could not leaborate on Walker's comment.

Postal Rate Increase Is Being Urged

Five-Cent Stamp To Lick Deficit

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just like his predecessor, Postmaster General J. Edward Day asked Congress Friday to increase postal rates and wipe out the postal deficit.

For most Americans the increase would mean sticking a five-cent stamp instead of a four-cent stamp on their envelopes.

In total, the increased rates would bring in $741 million a year. Former Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield requested similar increases in the past several years, but Congress took no action.

The heart of Day's request was a one-cent boost on each of the most common forms of American mail. His proposed rates:

First class letters—five cents an ounce.

Postal cards—four cents.

Air mail letters—eight cents an ounce.

Air postal cards—six cents.

Submitting proposed bills, Day asked Congress to pass them before July 1.

The postmaster general told Congress his bills would increase first-class mail revenues by 25 per cent, second-class by 79 per cent, and third-class by 40 per cent.

Some second-class changes:

1. An extra 1½-cent charge would be added to all general circulation magazines and newspapers mailed outside the county in which they are published.

2. Newspapers now delivered free or at a rate of one cent a pound within the county of publication would be charged at a rate of 1½ cents a pound, plus ¼ of a cent for each piece.

3. In the third-class category, rates would go up from three to four cents for the first two ounces and from 1½ cents to two cents fo. each additional ounce on a per piece basis. The minimum bulk rate would go from 2½ cents a piece to 3½ cents. Third class covers advertising circulars, merchandise samples, and similar material.

Stevenson Wants Belgians Out Of Congo

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson declared Friday a Belgian exodus would speed a solution to the Congo crisis, but he rejected proposals setting a deadline and threatening penalties.

The U. S. chief delegate expressed support in the General Assembly for a mildly worded Asian-African resolution urging quick reconvening of the Congolese Parliament to determine the future political structure of the divided country.

After hearing Stevenson, the assembly adjourned until Saturday for a vote on rival Congo resolutions before it.

Stevenson suggested a federal form of government, similar to that in the United States, would be the best for the Congo.

He said the sooner Belgium withdraws extraneous personnel from the Congo "the sooner the task of reconciliation can go ahead."

He referred to Belgian military and semimilitary personnel and political advisers whose withdrawal had been demanded in previous Security Council resolutions.

He mentioned recent assurances from Belgium that it would comply with council resolutions and declared that imposition of a 21-day deadline "with a strong hint of sanctions would only make the solution of the Congo problem more difficult."

The deadline is called for in a resolution sponsored by a group of Asian-African nations and Yugoslavia.

Stevenson rejected a Soviet resolution seeking to impose a 21-day deadline for the reconvening of Parliament. He said this amounted to unwarranted interference in the domestic affairs of a member nation.

Student Killed

TOKYO (AP)—Teachers supervising a bus excursion Friday for 161 sixth-grade students cautioned all their charges about putting their heads out the bus windows.

Soon after the trip started, Kazuo Sugi, 11, put his head out the window on a narrow street. His head struck a telephone pole and he was killed.

Hero Welcome Given Russian Spaceman

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev weeping with emotion brought spaceman Yuri Gagarin home to Moscow Friday and the city's millions hailed him as the space age Columbus in a roaring welcome no Stalin or czar ever received.

A near mob scene developed in Red Square. Women fainted in the crush as the crowd tried to press toward the marble Lenin-Stalin Mausoleum on which Gagarin and Khrushchev stood with other dignitaries. Police finally pushed the crowd back and restored order.

There were no reports of casualties.

Gagarin drew roars when he said he and his fellow cosmonauts are "ready at any time' for more space flights. And Khrushchev said the Soviets would send more, "space swallows" out and "leave other states behind." He left no doubt he was referring to the United States.

Mr. K. Lends Cheers

Eyes downcast and modest throughout the tumult, the 27-year-old carpenter's son lost his reserve only when he greeted his comely wife and clasped her for 30 seconds in a hug and kiss while tens of thousands of Russians, egged on by Khrushchev, cheered.

The Soviet Premier jumped up and down excitedly as he greeted Gagarin. He kissed and bear-hugged the flier who was dressed in the uniform of a Soviet air force major. In his speech to a vast crowd in Red Square, Khrushchev compared Gagarin to Christopher Columbus.

"His name will live forever in the history of mankind," the Premier said.

After the ceremonies at the airport and a triumphal ride past two million singing, flower-throwing Muscovites to Red Square, Gagarin was guest of honor at a reception in St. George's Hall of the Kremlin.

Foreign observers agreed that never in the 805-year-old tumultuous history of Moscow has there been such an outpouring of public affection. The city belonged to to the man who was orbited in space Wednesday for 108 minutes and returned safe and sound.

Assignment Accomplished

Khrushchev interrupted a vacation on the Black Sea coast to fly to Moscow for the ceremony.

He arrived at Vnukovo Airport a few minutes before the Ilyushin airliner bringing in Gagarin from an undisclosed space center in the interior.

Bands played, flags whipped in the breeze under a bright spring sun.

The cosmonaut's plane rolled to a stop near the dignitaries grandstand and there was dead silence.

From it stepped a slim short figure in uniform. The cheering burst like a thunderclap. Looking left and right as though nervous, Gagarin strode 200 yards to the grandstand.

He saluted and reported that he had "successfully accomplished my assignment for the Communist party and government." His hand snapped down.

The pudgy Khrushchev kissed him, pounded him on the back and hugged him for 25 seconds while the crowd roared.

The Premier waved his gray fedora as though urging the crowd to greater demonstrations.

Then, with tears streaming down his cheeks, Khrushchev led Gagarin to his waiting wife, Valentina, 26, his father and mother, who was wearing a woolen scarf over her head.

The family burst into tears. Valentina fell into the arms of her husband.

Flowers Knee Deep

Mrs. Khrushchev came up and she, too, embraced the man hailed as the first space age hero.

Attorney Denies Powers Release

MOSCOW (AP)—Roman Rudenko, the Soviet attorney who prosecuted U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers at his trial, said at the Gagarin reception Friday night a recently published report that Powers might be released soon was a fabrication.

"I haven't heard it and I do not believe it," he added.

Four Realtors Fined $50,000 By U.S. Judge

Falsified GI Loan Documents

BALTIMORE (AP) — A federal judge levied fines totaling $50,000 and two prison terms Friday in the case of a real estate firm charged with making false statements on Veterans Administration loan documents.

Two officers and two salesmen of the firm — Baltimore's U.S. Realty Co.—pleaded guilty before Chief U.S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen.

The government contended it lost $21,000 on transactions conducted through the defendants.

This occurred when the government had to pay the insurance on loans to veterans who defaulted on their payments, Asst. U.S. Atty. John G. Underwood told the court.

Caswell J. Caplan, 31, president of the firm, and Stanley E. Sugarman, 34, its vice president, each received a two month prison sentence and a fine of $15,000.

The salesmen, Marvin L. Sachs, 31, and Barry Yaffe, 26, were fined $10,000 apiece.

Md. Dairymen Indicted In Price-Fixing

Charges Involve Sales To Schools

BALTIMORE (AP)—Eight Baltimore dairies, a trade association and four top dairy executives pleaded innocent Friday to federal charges of price fixing on sales to schools in Baltimore County and Baltimore City.

The pleas were entered in U.S. District Court here, where Judge R. Dorsey Watkins gave the defendants 30 days to file preliminary motions. Judge Dorsey gave federal prosecutors an additional 30 days to answer the defense motions, and set another 30-day period to complete all other pretrial motions.

Under a March 22 federal grand jury indictment are National Dairy Products Corp.; Cloverland Farms Dairy, Inc.; H. E. Koontz Creamery, Inc.; Green Spring Dairy, Inc.; Royal Farms Dairy, Inc.; Will's Dairy, Inc.; Aristocrat Dairy, and Penn Dairies, Inc.

Also named in the indictment are the Milk Distributors Association and four executives, John M. Lescure, Maurice M. Thomas, George C. Oursler and James J. Ward Jr.

The grand jury charged the defendants with violating federal anti-trust laws by allocating contracts and fixing prices of milk bids.

Maryland News In Brief

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — National Science Foundation fellowships have been awarded to 18 students at the University of Maryland doing graduate work in science, mathematic, and engineering. The grants were given to 1,725 students throughout the nation.

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Speakers at the Rotary International conference opening here Saturday are expected to include Gov. Tawes and Secretary of Commerce Luther B. Hodges. More than 500 Rotarians from Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia are expected. Tawes will greet Hodges as the secretary's plane lands at Easton Memorial Airport.

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — The Campbell Soup Co. has announced cash grants to two Maryland colleges. Hood College in Frederick will receive $1,000 and Washington College in Chestertown will get $5,000. Campbell distributed grants to 41 colleges in the United States and Canada this year to broaden educational programs.

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — Funeral services were to be held Saturday for George W. Legg Sr., former court crier of Queen Annes County Circuit Court. Legg died at his home here Wednesday at the age of 92. Survivors include his widow, two sons and two daughters.

FREDERICK (AP) — John Dennis, 47, a Frederick milk truck driver, was killed Friday when his truck collided with a car near here and burst into flame.

The accident happened at U.S. 340 and Maryland 79. The driver of the car, Mrs. Frances Warnick, 29, of Brunswick, Md., was injured and taken to Charles Town, W.Va. General Hospital. Police said the gasoline tank of the truck exploded as a result of the crash.

97-Year-Old Woman Becomes Citizen

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Doanta Mancinelli became a United States citizen Friday. At 97 years of age and after nearly 50 years in this country, the Weirton, W. Va., woman said it was "the happiest day of my life."

The elderly woman, who came from Italy in 1913, was one of 49 persons naturalized in U. S. District Court here.

Afterwards, with tears in her eyes, the mother of nine said, "The United States has been so wonderful to me. Now I'm a citizen. This is the happiest day of my life."

She said her children urged her to get her citizenship. Two sons accompanied her to the ceremony.

JFK Nominates James Wine

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Wine, who headed the Democratic National Committee's community relations division during the presidential campaign, was nominated by President Kennedy Friday to be ambassador to Luxembourg.

Wine, whose home is at New Canaan, Conn., was named to succeed A. Burke Summers. The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation.

Wine, 42, is a native of Huntington, W. Va.

Mine First-Aid Meet Transferred To Charleston

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shift of the 1961 national first-aid and mine rescue contest from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Charleston, W.Va., was announced Friday by the Bureau of Mines.

The contest will be held in Charleston's new Civic Center Oct. 2-4, the same dates as originally scheduled for Pittsburgh. The bureau said the change was made because of uncertainty over when Pittsburgh's new auditorium will be completed.

The contest is sponsored by the bureau and the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association. Cooperating are the National Coal Association, the United Mine Workers, state mining departments and coal operator groups.

Maryland Man Named Marshal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Friday named Claybourne A. McLelland, Poolesville, Montgomery County, Md., for an 8-year term as U.S. marshal for the Canal Zone.

He will succeed Joseph L. Kincaid. The job pays $9,950 a year. McLelland, 41, has been employed at the Carderock (Md.) Naval Model Basin since 1940.

He started working for the government in 1933 as a Senate page.

Eichmann Trial Is In Recess Until Monday

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) A three-judge Israeli court retired Friday for three days of deliberations on whether it would be legal and moral for Israel to try Adolf Eichmann and possibly send him to the gallows for the mass murder of Jews.

Judge Moshe Landau, president of the three-man tribunal, announced he would give the court's decision at 2 a.m. EST Monday.

Robert Servatius, German defense counsel, pictured Eichmann as just a little man who had acted under orders and became a "peaceful citizen" the moment the Hitler regime collapsed. The prosecution insisted he was "guilty of the most atrocious crimes."

The afternoon Tel Aviv newspaper Yediot Aharnot quoted Servatius as saying Eichmann had not considered suicide as an alternative to the trial and possible execution. It quoted Servatius:

"I have asked the same thing in my talks with Eichmann. Eichmann told me it was inconceivable because in this world of ours suicide would have been considered an admission of guilt. He said he would prefer to be executed than to commit suicide and 'would rather that those who judge me carry the burden of their decision.'"

Eichmann was back in his closely guarded and still secretly located cell, spending the weekend with the books he reads when court is not in session.

At the hearing Friday he seemed more alert and interested in what was going on during the two - hour session, apparently somewhat recovered from his cold.

To the outside world it seemed to be a foregone conclusion that the three Jewish judges would decide they have a right to try the former Nazi. But persons sitting in the courtroom are not so sure. Judge Landau and his two associates have been careful to protect Eichmann's legal rights throughout and the defense has been allowed to defend him to the hilt.

It was almost the unanimous opinion of the 450 correspondents here for the trial that Landau and his associates are men who put principle above all else and that no decision of the bench would be made because of a passion, hatred or revenge.

Illegal To Sue

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The government is pushing a bill to make it illegal—retroactively—to sue any government employe, including police, for any action taken in the state of emergency imposed after the 1960 racial disorders.

Russia's Answer To Cease Fire In Laos Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials said Friday there is some evidence that Moscow may give its answer to an American-backed British proposal for a cease-fire in Laos within the next three days.

U. S. officials did not conceal their concern at the prolonged Soviet silence. The United States has said it will not agree to attend any conference on Laos until the fighting had been stopped.

Officials disclosed for the first time that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov told Kennedy nearly three weeks ago that the Soviet Union would reply in three days to Britain's cease-fire call.

The three days passed without an answer. Officials here believe there are two possible explanations:

1. That a deliberate stalling operation is under way to allow the Communist-led Pathet Lao forces to expand their position in Laos.

2. That the Soviet Union has run into difficulty with Communist China on agreeing to a cease-fire before a conference is convened.

The Chinese are reported insisting that the Communist ground forces should push their present advantage as hard as possible on the theory that the United States would not dare to intervene.

Charcoal Plant To Be Re-Opened

BURNSIDE, Ky. (UPI) — A closed - down charcoal briquet plant here will be re - opened. Bogus Money Is Discovered In Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Treasury Department agents are investigating the appearance here of some counterfeit $10 bills, one of which turned up at a bank.

City police said Friday that at least four of the bills had been discovered, two at an automotive concern and one at a supermarket, in addition to the one at the bank.

Police reported the bank gave a customer the bill without noticing it was bogus. The customer later returned the bill, complaining of difficulty passing it.

Officials said all the bills bore the same serial number: L11441505C. Police said they had not learned the origin of the bad money, nor how much of it was around.

Air Conditioning Eliminated From New Civic Center

BALTIMORE (AP) — By a vote of 5-2, the Civic Center Commission has rejected a motion to include air conditioning in the main contract for the $12 million Civic Center.

The commission decided to make air conditioning the first alternate in the structure, but insisted it was more important to first have the building constructed.

Architect A. G. O'Dell said "we will be fortunate to get the building up for (the remaining) $7.2 million without any alternates."

The majority said they also wanted air conditioning, but that to include it in the main contract would be to ask for too high a bid and a long delay for redesign and rebidding.

Commissioner Nathan Jacobson said to build the arena without air conditioning would be "the biggest blunder we could make.

"We'd be the laughing stock of the city," he said.

W.Va. Elementary Principals Elect

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Elevated to president of the West Virginia Elementary School Principals Association Friday was Mrs. Mabel Merical of Nitro.

Election of other officers also came at the closing session of the annual meeting of the association here. Mrs. Merical succeeds Lawrence Modesitt of Parkersburg.

President-elect is Keith Thompson of Athens, who will take office next year. Carl Maupin, Tri-adelphia, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Clara B. Johnson, Sistersville, was named to the group's executive board.

Slag Processing Plant Proposed

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A $200,000 slag processing plant will be constructed at Alloy, Fayette County, it was announced Friday. The plant will crush slag for use in road construction and will employ 60 to 75 men.

S. S. Burford, South Charleston, and Huntington highway contractor J. Edwin Green will build the plant. Burford said they would obtain slag from Union Carbide's big electro - metallurgical plant at Alloy.

Burford said he and Green believe the slag will find wide acceptance among road builders. He said the product, heretofore a waste material, meets "the most rigid specifications for road use."

CENTREVILLE, Md. (AP) — Funeral services were to be held Saturday for George W. Legg Sr., former court crier of Queen Annes County Circuit Court. Legg died at his home here Wednesday at the age of 92. Survivors include his widow, two sons and two daughters.

FREDERICK (AP) — John Dennis, 47, a Frederick milk truck driver, was killed Friday when his truck collided with a car near here and burst into flame.

The accident happened at U.S. 340 and Maryland 79. The driver of the car, Mrs. Frances Warnick, 29, of Brunswick, Md., was injured and taken to Charles Town, W.Va. General Hospital. Police said the gasoline tank of the truck exploded as a result of the crash.

Slag Processing Plant Proposed

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A $200,000 slag processing plant will be constructed at Alloy, Fayette County, it was announced Friday. The plant will crush slag for use in road construction and will employ 60 to 75 men.

S. S. Burford, South Charleston, and Huntington highway contractor J. Edwin Green will build the plant. Burford said they would obtain slag from Union Carbide's big electro - metallurgical plant at Alloy.

Burford said he and Green believe the slag will find wide acceptance among road builders. He said the product, heretofore a waste material, meets "the most rigid specifications for road use."

Md. Dairymen Indicted In Price-Fixing

Charges Involve Sales To Schools

BALTIMORE (AP)—Eight Baltimore dairies, a trade association and four top dairy executives pleaded innocent Friday to federal charges of price fixing on sales to schools in Baltimore County and Baltimore City.

The pleas were entered in U.S. District Court here, where Judge R. Dorsey Watkins gave the defendants 30 days to file preliminary motions. Judge Dorsey gave federal prosecutors an additional 30 days to answer the defense motions, and set another 30-day period to complete all other pretrial motions.

Under a March 22 federal grand jury indictment are National Dairy Products Corp.; Cloverland Farms Dairy, Inc.; H. E. Koontz Creamery, Inc.; Green Spring Dairy, Inc.; Royal Farms Dairy, Inc.; Will's Dairy, Inc.; Aristocrat Dairy, and Penn Dairies, Inc.

Also named in the indictment are the Milk Distributors Association and four executives, John M. Lescure, Maurice M. Thomas, George C. Oursler and James J. Ward Jr.

The grand jury charged the defendants with violating federal anti-trust laws by allocating contracts and fixing prices of milk bids.

JFK Nominates James Wine

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Wine, who headed the Democratic National Committee's community relations division during the presidential campaign, was nominated by President Kennedy Friday to be ambassador to Luxembourg.

Wine, whose home is at New Canaan, Conn., was named to succeed A. Burke Summers. The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation.

Wine, 42, is a native of Huntington, W. Va.

Mine First-Aid Meet Transferred To Charleston

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shift of the 1961 national first-aid and mine rescue contest from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Charleston, W.Va., was announced Friday by the Bureau of Mines.

The contest will be held in Charleston's new Civic Center Oct. 2-4, the same dates as originally scheduled for Pittsburgh. The bureau said the change was made because of uncertainty over when Pittsburgh's new auditorium will be completed.

The contest is sponsored by the bureau and the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association. Cooperating are the National Coal Association, the United Mine Workers, state mining departments and coal operator groups.

Maryland Man Named Marshal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Friday named Claybourne A. McLelland, Poolesville, Montgomery County, Md., for an 8-year term as U.S. marshal for the Canal Zone.

He will succeed Joseph L. Kincaid. The job pays $9,950 a year. McLelland, 41, has been employed at the Carderock (Md.) Naval Model Basin since 1940.

He started working for the government in 1933 as a Senate page.

Eichmann Trial Is In Recess Until Monday

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) A three-judge Israeli court retired Friday for three days of deliberations on whether it would be legal and moral for Israel to try Adolf Eichmann and possibly send him to the gallows for the mass murder of Jews.

Judge Moshe Landau, president of the three-man tribunal, announced he would give the court's decision at 2 a.m. EST Monday.

Robert Servatius, German defense counsel, pictured Eichmann as just a little man who had acted under orders and became a "peaceful citizen" the moment the Hitler regime collapsed. The prosecution insisted he was "guilty of the most atrocious crimes."

The afternoon Tel Aviv newspaper Yediot Aharnot quoted Servatius as saying Eichmann had not considered suicide as an alternative to the trial and possible execution. It quoted Servatius:

"I have asked the same thing in my talks with Eichmann. Eichmann told me it was inconceivable because in this world of ours suicide would have been considered an admission of guilt. He said he would prefer to be executed than to commit suicide and 'would rather that those who judge me carry the burden of their decision.'"

Eichmann was back in his closely guarded and still secretly located cell, spending the weekend with the books he reads when court is not in session.

At the hearing Friday he seemed more alert and interested in what was going on during the two - hour session, apparently somewhat recovered from his cold.

To the outside world it seemed to be a foregone conclusion that the three Jewish judges would decide they have a right to try the former Nazi. But persons sitting in the courtroom are not so sure. Judge Landau and his two associates have been careful to protect Eichmann's legal rights throughout and the defense has been allowed to defend him to the hilt.

It was almost the unanimous opinion of the 450 correspondents here for the trial that Landau and his associates are men who put principle above all else and that no decision of the bench would be made because of a passion, hatred or revenge.

Illegal To Sue

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—The government is pushing a bill to make it illegal—retroactively—to sue any government employe, including police, for any action taken in the state of emergency imposed after the 1960 racial disorders.

Russia's Answer To Cease Fire In Laos Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials said Friday there is some evidence that Moscow may give its answer to an American-backed British proposal for a cease-fire in Laos within the next three days.

U. S. officials did not conceal their concern at the prolonged Soviet silence. The United States has said it will not agree to attend any conference on Laos until the fighting had been stopped.

Officials disclosed for the first time that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov told Kennedy nearly three weeks ago that the Soviet Union would reply in three days to Britain's cease-fire call.

The three days passed without an answer. Officials here believe there are two possible explanations:

1. That a deliberate stalling operation is under way to allow the Communist-led Pathet Lao forces to expand their position in Laos.

2. That the Soviet Union has run into difficulty with Communist China on agreeing to a cease-fire before a conference is convened.

The Chinese are reported insisting that the Communist ground forces should push their present advantage as hard as possible on the theory that the United States would not dare to intervene.

Charcoal Plant To Be Re-Opened

BURNSIDE, Ky. (UPI) — A closed - down charcoal briquet plant here will be re - opened. Kingford Charcoal Co. announced Friday it is purchasing the plant, located near the Kentucky-West Virginia border and will spend $500,000 renovating the facility. It plans to employ about 75 workers. Kingsford has a plant at Parsons, W. Va.

97-Year-Old Woman Becomes Citizen

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Doanta Mancinelli became a United States citizen Friday. At 97 years of age and after nearly 50 years in this country, the Weirton, W. Va., woman said it was "the happiest day of my life."

The elderly woman, who came from Italy in 1913, was one of 49 persons naturalized in U. S. District Court here.

Afterwards, with tears in her eyes, the mother of nine said, "The United States has been so wonderful to me. Now I'm a citizen. This is the happiest day of my life."

She said her children urged her to get her citizenship. Two sons accompanied her to the ceremony.

Secrets Of Charm

Refresh Yourself With Reading

New thoughts, new pictures for the mind's eye to dwell upon, are the best means of renewing yourself whenever you're gripped by that "old feeling." If the cares and the chores of your world are too much with you, spirit yourself away from it all in a brief respite of reading.

Call that "old feeling" anything you like—spring fever, cabin fever, housecleaning syndrome or the doldrums. When you have it, it means you've been concentrating too hard on one thing for too long a time. While the pressure is building up, your mental and physical energy is breaking down. You need a change but it has to be a quick one, so that you can return to the job on your mind—and finish it!

You CAN find time in your busy schedule for reading . . . not by the hour, perhaps, but certainly in ten-minutes segments. One librarian suggested this short-cut approach to me which I pass on to you: Set a piece of reading matter in each room of your home . . . or in your desk and purse at work. That way, something good to read will be handy whenever you have a few minutes to fill.

Offer yourself a regular "smorgasbord" of ideas, especially at home, with something different in each room . . . a light mystery, serious fiction, an important biography, several kinds of magazines . . . everything from philosophy to amusing fluff. Don't stick simply to a single style and taste, for this limits the mental exercise you need.

Yet, try to be selective, just as you would when dining from a buffet. Remember, the ideas you gain from each article or chapter are the ones you will carry in your head when you go back to tackling your tasks. You want them to be of the kind and quality that will reward you with real cerebral stimulation, that will provoke new ideas of your own in return when you think them over afterward.

It's surprising how swiftly and smoothly those tedious routines are accompolished when you have something besides their tedium to divert you. Steady reading, even in spurts and snatches, means even more to a woman who must work alone. After all, when she has an unlimited source for thought, she is never really alone at all.

Refresh Yourself With Reading

New thoughts, new pictures for the mind's eye to dwell upon, are the best means of renewing yourself whenever you're gripped by that "old feeling." If the cares and the chores of your world are too much with you, spirit yourself away from it all in a brief respite of reading.

Call that "old feeling" anything you like—spring fever, cabin fever, housecleaning syndrome or the doldrums. When you have it, it means you've been concentrating too hard on one thing for too long a time. While the pressure is building up, your mental and physical energy is breaking down. You need a change but it has to be a quick one, so that you can return to the job on your mind—and finish it!

You CAN find time in your busy schedule for reading . . . not by the hour, perhaps, but certainly in ten-minutes segments. One librarian suggested this short-cut approach to me which I pass on to you: Set a piece of reading matter in each room of your home . . . or in your desk and purse at work. That way, something good to read will be handy whenever you have a few minutes to fill.

Offer yourself a regular "smorgasbord" of ideas, especially at home, with something different in each room . . . a light mystery, serious fiction, an important biography, several kinds of magazines . . . . everything from philosophy to amusing fluff. Don't stick simply to a single style and taste, for this limits the mental exercise you need.

Yet, try to be selective, just as you would when dining from a buffet. Remember, the ideas you gain from each article or chapter are the ones you will carry in your head when you go back to tackling your tasks. You want them to be of the kind and quality that will reward you with real cerebral stimulation, that will provoke new ideas of your own in return when you think them over afterward.

It's surprising how swiftly and smoothly those tedious routines are accompolished when you have something besides their tedium to divert you. Steady reading, even in spurts and snatches, means even more to a woman who must work alone. After all, when she has an unlimited source for thought, she is never really alone at all.

State And Federal Income Tax Deadlines On Monday

Both the federal and state income tax deadlines have been extended to Monday, April 17, and the offices in Cumberland of both agencies report that the bulk of all tax returns have been made by taxpayers in Allegany County.

Tax returns which are mailed direct to Annapolis to the state income tax headquarters and to the federal Internal Revenue district office at Baltimore must be postmarked no later than midnight next Monday.

The local offices of both state and federal tax officials will be open only until 4:30 p. m. Monday. Neither office is open on Saturdays or Sundays.

Edward V. Welsh, manager of the state comptroller's office here, said about 200 taxpayers have been making their returns each day for the past few weeks. A majority of state income taxpayers mail their returns direct to Annapolis, he added.

The Internal Revenue office at the Post Office reports that taxpayers are becoming more adept at making out their returns and the number who come into the office for assistance has decreased since last year.

There were 14 persons who came in who were given direct assistance as they were unable to either write, had poor eyesight or some other handicap. There were 102 persons who came in to get assistance or have their returns checked.

Largest segment of the business during March was the receipt of 633 telephone calls concerning their tax returns.

The daily average of persons appearing at the Internal Revenue office last month was 50 to 75, it was reported.

Both state and federal income tax officials here said the person who had a refund due was usually the one who filed their returns early. The last part of January was the busiest period at the federal agency here with farmers making up the largest number of taxpayers in the middle of February.

First life saving stations for distressed mariners in the U. S. were established in 1787.

Judge Walsh To Speak At Alumni Event

Judge William C. Walsh will address the Loyola College Alumni Association at its annual communion breakfast Sunday at the Andrew White Center on the Baltimore campus.

The breakfast will follow a mass, celebrated by the Rev. Vincent F. Beatty, S. J., president of Loyola College, at 9:30 a. m. in the college chapel.

Judge Walsh will tell of his trip to the Chinese Peoples Republic to visit his brother, the Most Rev. Bishop James E. Walsh, M.M., director of the Catholic Central Bureau in Shanghai and titular bishop of Sata, who is serving a prison sentence under the Chinese communists.

On March 25 of this year, Judge Walsh accepted one of Loyola College's first annual Andrew White medals which was awarded to his absent brother during special Maryland Day ceremonies held at the college.

Born in Cumberland, Judge Walsh was graduated from Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, and received an LLB degree from Catholic University. He was admitted to the bar in 1913.

Joseph M. O'Hara Jr., committee chairman, has announced that there will be no charge for the breakfast, but tickets will be required. They may be obtained at the Alumni House, 4603 Millbrook Road, Baltimore.

Bear Hill Project Set

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners was notified yesterday by Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, that the Bear Hill Road project is ready to be started.

This project will be done with federal aid and by the County Roads Department forces. The asphalt and other materials to be used in the road work will be tested and sampled by the State Roads Commission. Cost of this work will be charged against the county road fund.

Long Urges Action On Pool Repairs

Street Commissioner John J. Long has urged prompt action on repairs to the filtration system at Constitution Park so the swimming pool will be ready for the public when opening day rolls around May 30.

The city has been told by the Health Department that certain improvements will be necessary prior to the opening of the pool. Long, at a conference this week, was told by Assistant City Engineer Charles R. Scarlett that a filter company representative was to meet next week with Recreation Director C. Eugene Mason and himself to work out details of the filter improvement.

Long said the park pool opening was only a little over a month away and he did not want "to see people standing around waiting to go swimming" because repairs were not completed.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said the park crew has completed painting the bathhouse and that sandblasting and painting of the pool will begin the first of next week.

Valentine said the park is beginning to "shape up" as preparations are made for the annual influx of visitors.

In a report to Long, Valentine said that 42 trees in the park had been destroyed during the last heavy snow storm.

Valentine said that a supply of cast iron pipe from the flood control project which had been stored near the tennis courts in the park, is being moved to a storage place in the Lake Gordon watershed and will be used by the Water Department.

Water Department trucks, hoists and men are moving the pipe. Long had made mention of the eyesore in the park several weeks ago and plans for moving the pipe were worked out between the Water and Street Departments.

A good memory is not always a sign of intelligence. "Half-wits" may have good memories.

County Asked To Use Tax Money On Roads System

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday was urged by Harry T. Skelly, roads supervisor, to consider using the anticipated state money which will be derived from the increase in the cigaret tax for the improvement of the county's roads system.

Skelly, in a letter to the board, stated:

"In checking over the county road system it is my opinion and interest to see that the people of Allegany County receive a much better road system than my present budget allows.

"We need to widen, straighten and drain our shale base roads as well as increase the hardsurface mileage over the next 10 to 15 years through a long-range program.

"I believe it is of great importance to all of us in the county to see a good road system tie together our farms and markets, our rural housing developments, incorporated and unincorporated towns, our industry and our state and primary system of roads.

"This improvement would be a tremendous asset to school bus routes, rural mail routes, service of milk, bread, produce and petroleum products to all areas and in general promote new industry.

"It is my opinion that Road Department money should not come out of real estate and property taxes, but it could come from the funds which will be realized by the increased cigaret taxes. Only gasoline tax monies are used for roads at present.

"It is my sincere hope that the county commissioners will give this matter favorable consideration and action," Skelly concluded.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter may strike you as funny but I am serious.

I am a girl 15 who will soon be going on a date with a boy I like a lot. I wear glasses. I'm expecting him to kiss me goodnight. I want to know if I should remove my glasses in preparation for the kiss or would this look obvious?

If I should take off my glasses and he didn't kiss me I would die right then and there on the spot.

Please rush your advice. This is an emergency. — SUE

DEAR SUE: I am typing as fast as I can and I hope the advice reaches you in time. Keep your glasses on. I've been reliably informed that glasses will not interfere with a goodnight kiss.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband works for a company that employs 150 people. They are putting on a big party for out-of-town customers next month when the industry is having a national convention. They are planning a dinner-dance at a swanky hotel — complete with an orchestra, champagne and all the trimmings. Husbands and wives are not invited — only company employes.

My old gaffer is 62. He wants to go. Two years ago I let him go to an office Christmas party and he got home at 5:30 in the morning. For 24 hours he actually thought he was Prince Philip and I was Queen Elizabeth and I am not kidding.

I don't want him to go to this party and have said so. He claims it will hurt him with his boss if he doesn't show up.

Please say yes or no.—BERTHA

DEAR BERTHA: If he were my old gaffer I'd let him go — but this decision is strictly up to the individual. I would not lift a typewriter key to help spring a man or a woman for a company party that might result in family trouble.

The secure husband or wife is willing to give the green light on special occasions, but if it creates problems it's not worth it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine asked me for advice. I don't know what to tell him. Will you help?

This man was divorced 15 years ago. He could have taken the three children from his wife but thought they were better off with their mother. He decided to stay out of their lives so they would not have mixed emotions and split loyalties.

For 15 years he did not see them, although they lived less than 100 miles away.

A few months ago he tried to re-establish a family relationship but they were cold and indifferent. He thinks his wife has poisoned their minds against him.

How can he win their love? — NO HELP

DEAR NO HELP: A man who takes a powder for 15 years can hardly expect his reappearance to be heralded with trumpets and a red rug strewn with roses.

Love and respect is developmental. You can't just bounce in on grown children and say, "I'm your dad, love me," and expect them to fall into your arms.

The children undoubtedly feel rejected and the best he can expect now is polite tolerance. He missed the love-boat 15 years ago.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CRAMPED: Tell your husband it's up to him to get them out of the house at once. You and your family should not have to live like sardines because his brother is "too educated" to work with his hands.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Radar Unit In Operation

The City Police radar unit was placed in operation yesterday for the first time since last fall, according to Chief B. F. Gaffney.

The first areas to be checked were Louisiana Avenue and Fayette Street, the chief said, adding that the equipment will be moved to sites from where the most complaints about speeding are made.

The radar unit was overhauled during the winter months when it was not being used.

Ohio Man Injured In Turnpike Crash

A 75-year-old Ohio man was admitted to Bedford County (Pa.) Memorial Hospital, Bedford, Thursday when he lost control of his vehicle on the Pennsylvania Turnpike and wrecked his car about five miles west of the Breezewood Interchange.

Pennsylvania State Police identified the driver as A. E. Zimmerman, of West Lake, Ohio, who apparently fell asleep while driving. His car ran off the highway, climbed an embankment, tumbled back into a guard rail and then plunged down a 50-foot embankment. His late-model compact was a total loss, police said.

Attaches at the hospital said Zimmerman suffered a severe laceration of the head and multiple abrasions.

State And Federal Income Tax Deadlines On Monday

Both the federal and state income tax deadlines have been extended to Monday, April 17, and the offices in Cumberland of both agencies report that the bulk of all tax returns have been made by taxpayers in Allegany County.

Tax returns which are mailed direct to Annapolis to the state income tax headquarters and to the federal Internal Revenue district office at Baltimore must be postmarked no later than midnight next Monday.

The local offices of both state and federal tax officials will be open only until 4:30 p. m. Monday. Neither office is open on Saturdays or Sundays.

Edward V. Welsh, manager of the state comptroller's office here, said about 200 taxpayers have been making their returns each day for the past few weeks. A majority of state income taxpayers mail their returns direct to Annapolis, he added.

The Internal Revenue office at the Post Office reports that taxpayers are becoming more adept at making out their returns and the number who come into the office for assistance has decreased since last year.

There were 14 persons who came in who were given direct assistance as they were unable to either write, had poor eyesight or some other handicap. There were 102 persons who came in to get assistance or have their returns checked.

Largest segment of the business during March was the receipt of 633 telephone calls concerning their tax returns.

The daily average of persons appearing at the Internal Revenue office last month was 50 to 75, it was reported.

Both state and federal income tax officials here said the person who had a refund due was usually the one who filed their returns early. The last part of January was the busiest period at the federal agency here with farmers making up the largest number of taxpayers in the middle of February.

Search To Discover What Churches Should Look Like Goes In Many Directions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The churches are struggling today to discover what they ought to look like.

In the midst of the biggest religious building boom in American history, a wide-ranging quest is on to develop a style of structure that best meets the needs and expresses the message of 20th-century Christianity.

"The answer has not been found," says Columbia University architect Eugene Raskin. "But in a thousand church-board meeting rooms and a thousand architects' offices, the search goes on."

It is a search that has radiated in many and sundry directions, and resulted in a variegated melange of new church designs, often individualistic and startling, and breaking widely with traditional patterns.

One thing seems clear. The old Gothic spires and arches, the colonial belfries, the elaborate frescos, pillars and porticos are giving way rapidly to more functional, contemporary styles.

A definite turn in the road has been taken, says Boston architect Arland A. Dirlam. "Contemporary architecture has proved itself. It is not longer merely a fad but truly a trend."

He adds, however, that there is "confusion everywhere" — among both church leaders and architects — over just what factors should dominate the design of churches in the present age.

That is the situation, as about 1,200 architects and church leaders got set to meet in Pittsburgh next week, from Tuesday through Thursday, at a national church architectural conference.

"Monstrosities, monuments and models" is the title of the keynote address to be given by Presbyterian theologian Dr. Theophilus M. Taylor. Those words reflect the reactions to the variety of new church buildings now going up.

In any case, at the height of an unprecedented spiral in church building outlays that last year topped a billion dollars for the first time, church design is in a state of flux.

"The dismaying fact is that for the first time in Christian history, the church building has ceased to exercise a formative influence on all architecture," says the Rev. Marvin P. Halverson, a specialist on church art forms.

In past periods, church architecture has taken on definite qualities, reflecting the mood of the times. Out of the Middle Ages, with its view of God as impenetrable mystery, came the awesome cathedrals with dim vaults and remote altars.

"Today the poor architect just does not know what his church is to say," Raskin writes in the Nation. "A new and valid contemporary church expression must be found, regardless of how many eyebrows are lifted or sentiments offended."

Many conditions have arisen in religious life spurring architectural changes, including the demand for educational and recreational facilities. Liturgical reforms also have brought closer ties between congregation and altar.

"We recognize that we are in the ugly duckling stage," Dirlam writes in the Christian Century.

The worship area, he says, still dominates in present churches, but it is complemented with nurseries, modern kitchens, classrooms, business-like administration offices, and youth parlors with coke machines and record players.

The Pittsburgh conference is being sponsored by the Church Architectural Guild of America and the National Council of Churches.

MY WISH

Three is such a tender age. Sue isn't a baby any more, yet she's a long way from being a big girl.

When I watched her blowing out the candles on her cake, I felt a surge of that certain kind of love reserved for mothers. And, while she made her wish, I made mine.

I wished, first, that I might be given the gift of memory, so that I would never forget a child's point of view—the importance of even the littlest promises, the oldest dolls, the smallest nothings.

I wished that I might be given the wisdom to care for Sue's body, mind, and soul. And I was deeply grateful that I had the Church to help me teach her right from wrong, and to aid me in endowing her with a rich measure of faith, of love, and of tolerance toward her fellow man.

Thinking it over, I guess that my wish for Sue might be called a prayer. Each Sunday, in church, I find myself repeating it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Search To Discover What Churches Should Look Like Goes In Many Directions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

The churches are struggling today to discover what they ought to look like.

In the midst of the biggest religious building boom in American history, a wide-ranging quest is on to develop a style of structure that best meets the needs and expresses the message of 20th-century Christianity.

"The answer has not been found," says Columbia University architect Eugene Raskin. "But in thousand church-board meeting rooms and a thousand architects' offices, the search goes on."

It is a search that has radiated in many and sundry directions, and resulted in a variegated melange of new church designs, often individualistic and startling, and breaking widely with traditional patterns.

One thing seems clear. The old Gothic spires and arches, the colonial belfries, the elaborate frescos, pillars and porticos are giving way rapidly to more functional, contemporary styles.

A definite turn in the road has been taken, says Boston architect Arland A. Dirlam. "Contemporary architecture has proved itself. It is not longer merely a fad but truly a trend."

He adds, however, that there is "confusion everywhere" — among both church leaders and architects — over just what factors should dominate the design of churches in the present age.

That is the situation, as about 1,200 architects and church leaders got set to meet in Pittsburgh next week, from Tuesday through Thursday, at a national church architectural conference.

"Monstrosities, monuments and models" is the title of the keynote address to be given by Presbyterian theologian Dr. Theophilus M. Taylor. Those words reflect the reactions to the variety of new church buildings now going up.

In any case, at the height of an unprecedented spiral in church building outlays that last year topped a billion dollars for the first time, church design is in a state of flux.

"The dismaying fact is that for the first time in Christian history, the church building has ceased to exercise a formative influence on all architecture," says the Rev. Marvin P. Halverson, a specialist on church art forms.

In past periods, church architecture has taken on definite qualities, reflecting the mood of the times. Out of the Middle Ages, with its view of God as impenetrable mystery, came the awesome cathedrals with dim vaults and remote altars.

"Today the poor architect just does not know what his church is to say," Raskin writes in the Nation. "A new and valid contemporary church expression must be found, regardless of how many eyebrows are lifted or sentiments offended."

Many conditions have arisen in religious life spurring architectural changes, including the demand for educational and recreational facilities. Liturgical reforms also have brought closer ties between congregation and altar.

"We recognize that we are in the ugly duckling stage," Dirlam writes in the Christian Century.

The worship area, he says, still dominates in present churches, but it is complemented with nurseries, modern kitchens, classrooms, business-like administration offices, and youth parlors with coke machines and record players.

The Pittsburgh conference is being sponsored by the Church Architectural Guild of America and the National Council of Churches.

MY WISH

Three is such a tender age. Sue isn't a baby any more, yet she's a long way from being a big girl.

When I watched her blowing out the candles on her cake, I felt a surge of that certain kind of love reserved for mothers. And, while she made her wish, I made mine.

I wished, first, that I might be given the gift of memory, so that I would never forget a child's point of view—the importance of even the littlest promises, the oldest dolls, the smallest nothings.

I wished that I might be given the wisdom to care for Sue's body, mind, and soul. And I was deeply grateful that I had the Church to help me teach her right from wrong, and to aid me in endowing her with a rich measure of faith, of love, and of tolerance toward her fellow man.

Thinking it over, I guess that my wish for Sue might be called a prayer. Each Sunday, in church, I find myself repeating it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Potomac State Elects Campus Queen Of May

Students Honor Moorefield Girl

KEYSER — Miss Patricia Mathias, of Moorefield, a sophomore home economics major at Potomac State College, will reign as May Queen, as a result of a Student Council sponsored election at Potomac State Wednesday.

May Day at the college will be Saturday, May 13.

The Misses Saundra Rinker, of Romney, a general secretarial science major, and Jacqueline Kendall, of Inwood, a home economics major, will serve as Royal Maids of Honor to the queen. Both women were runners-up in the election for queen.

In the same election, Harold Francis, a physical education major from Hanasquan, N.J., was chosen to be the queen's escort. Jack Canfield, journalism major from Keyser and Michael Montgomery, a pre-medical major from Keyser, will be escorts for the maids of honor.

Princesses for the Royal Court are the Misses Rebecca Bess, Piedmont; Sandra Dixon, Elk Garden; Joan Jamison, East Orange, N.J.; Margaret Judy, Union; Jane Kimble, Maysville; Linda Pearson, Parkersburg; Nancy Pyles, Keyser and Laura Tibbetts, Piedmont.

Their escorts are Robert Allen, Sinks Grove; Larry Anderson, Winchester; Louis E'Nama, Hatboro, Pa.; George Fanady, Parkersburg; Robert Grafton, Moorefield; Robert Hess, Charleston; Larry Martino, Clarksburg and Lynn Workmeister, Cumberland.

Michael Heads Business Unit In Westernport

WESTERNPORT — Former Mayor Okey Michael was elected president of the Westernport Business Improvement Association at a meeting of the group in the Town Council chamber.

Other officers are Joseph Nelson, vice president and Miss Naoma M. Flanagan, secretary.

The widening of Main Street was discussed. If widened sufficiently between Church and Washington streets, giving room for parking on one side, it is expected to improve business in that area.

A committee comprised of George Robertson, chairman, Mrs. Margaret Green and James A. Welsh was appointed to meet with the Town Council on April 19 to request a curb cutback of 18 inches.

Officials pointed out no utilities have an office in the town where citizens can pay monthly accounts. Joseph Nelson, Joseph Ellis and Fred Warnick were named to contact utilities and ask them to send representatives to the next meeting to discuss the problem.

The need of improved Christmas street decorations was cited. Michael appointed Arnold Clark, chairman, Wilmer Murphy, Oliver Custer and Paul Michael to consider necessary action.

James Wills, manager of the Blue Angels Drum Corps of Victory Post 155, American Legion, was invited to attend the next meeting May 4 to explain arrangements for the annual "Blue Angel Week" observance in June.

FSTC Projects Are Started

FROSTBURG — Capital Improvements underway at Frostburg State Teachers College include the construction of a $347,735 dormitory by the John I. Vandegrift Company, Inc., Cumberland.

The residence hall for which the foundation has been laid is on Park Avenue where 13 houses were purchased and removed last spring.

Blueprints for remodeling Allegany Hall will be ready for bidding in May. The work must go forward during June, July and August while students are off-campus.

A number of residences on Maple Street are in the process of being purchased to provide space for another dormitory and a new library. The old dining hall in Frost Hall will be remodeled into a living room, small chapel and infirmary.

Heat and water lines between Frost and Allegany halls will be heplaced this summer. An incinerator, recommended by the Health Department, will be constructed to alleviate the nuisance to neighbors in the burning of trash.

Equipment for new dormitory rooms will be ordered in the early fall.

The Department of Public Improvements is working on blueprints for a new FSTC library to house 120,000 volumes.

The present Lowndes Hall housing library and administration will eventually be converted into office space when the new library is completed.

Girl Scouts To Get Flags

PIEDMONT — Two American flags which have flown over the nation's capitol will be presented to members of Girl Scout Troops 103 and 104 tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Russell McRobie, commander of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, will be master of ceremonies at the program which will take place in front of the Legion home on Second Street.

The program will open with the national anthem and the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Three girls from each troop will accept and unfurl the flags. A concert by the Legion band will conclude the program.

The flags were procured by Congressman Harley O. Staggers at the request of the local Legion post.

Lonaconing Council Plans 30-Day Trial Parking Ban

LONACONING — A 30-day trial period will begin in Lonaconing to eliminate double parking in the business district.

Acting police commissioner, Benjamin Zarger at the Mayor and Council meeting outlined a plan to have three loading and unloading places for commercial vehicles.

Signs will be placed in front of Economy 5 & 10c store and Burns store; in front of Eichhorn Furniture store and Webers 5 & 10c store; and in front of the Republican Club; Miss Mamie Ford's store and Lonaconing Health Center. Five parking meters in these areas will be removed for the trial plan, which will prohibit all double parking.

New ruling of five ton gross weight limit on the Union Street bridge will be put into effect immediately with the 10 ton limit signs removed, abiding by recommendations by the State Roads Commission engineer. Their report in a letter to the town attorney, James S. Getty, from David Fisher, outlines necessary repairs requiring immediate attention because of steel exposure and deterioration. The bridge was built in 1914 and has concrete sidewalks on both sides. Reparing of the bridge will be planned by the Mayor and Council in the near future.

Blacktopping of holes in the streets will be started as soon as good blacktopping weather comes to Lonaconing, council agreed. There are many deep holes caused by the worst winter in decades here, they noted.

Negotiations are continuing with the Cherry Coal Company for the extension of Church Street along the railroad bed to Douglas Avenue for a new road to solve Church Hill conditions of turning and parking.

Acting Police Chief George J. Kirkwood gave his monthly report of 109 violations, parking meter fines, $21.40, parking meter receipts, $229.25, four complaints, seven funerals policed and one arrest.

Insurance on the town hall was discussed and it was decided to leave it at the figure of $13,000.

A donation of $25 was made to the Lonaconing team which has entered the Pen Mar baseball league this year. William Richmond and Everett Spiker Jr. attended the council meeting to request the town's contribution.

Commissioner Zarger will investigate parking above Boal's store on Douglas Aveune for improving traffic movement. Parking on Douglass Avenue is changed to the opposite side annually.

Washing out at a bridge abutment at Beechwood was reported and will be checked for repairing. Church Hill residents complained of surface water flooding their properties and of trouble with water in gas lines.

The gas mains are being checked because of water draining onto Church Street. The town will take steps to alleviate this problem, the mayor said.

Calvin C. James, town clerk, gave a report on establishing a library branch in Lonaconing. Further steps to initiate the housing of the library branch will be taken and the interest of civic groups will be sought.

The Old Iron Furnace landmark on Furnace Street is to be posted with "No Trespassing" signs to warn children and adults to stay away from the deteriorating stone furnace. The mayor and council decided to place signs so that children do not endanger their lives at this site.

A street light will be erected at the rear of East Main Street near the Furnace Street intersection. April 24 will be the next mayor and council meeting. Police Commissioner Robert "Lefty" Groves was absent. He is vacationing with his son in Ohio.

Big Ben, the large bell in the clock tower of the Houses of Parliament in London, was cast in 1856.

Potomac State Elects Campus Queen Of May

Students Honor Moorefield Girl

KEYSER — Miss Patricia Mathias, of Moorefield, a sophomore home economics major at Potomac State College, will reign as May Queen, as a result of a Student Council sponsored election at Potomac State Wednesday.

May Day at the college will be Saturday, May 13.

The Misses Saundra Rinker, of Romney, a general secretarial science major, and Jacqueline Kendall, of Inwood, a home economics major, will serve as Royal Maids of Honor to the queen. Both women were runners-up in the election for queen.

In the same election, Harold Francis, a physical education major from Hanasquan, N.J., was chosen to be the queen's escort. Jack Canfield, journalism major from Keyser and Michael Montgomery, a pre-medical major from Keyser, will be escorts for the maids of honor.

Princesses for the Royal Court are the Misses Rebecca Bess, Piedmont; Sandra Dixon, Elk Garden; Joan Jamison, East Orange, N.J.; Margaret Judy, Union; Jane Kimble, Maysville; Linda Pearson, Parkersburg; Nancy Pyles, Keyser and Laura Tibbetts, Piedmont.

Their escorts are Robert Allen, Sinks Grove; Larry Anderson, Winchester; Louis E'Nama, Hatboro, Pa.; George Fanady, Parkersburg; Robert Grafton, Moorefield; Robert Hess, Charleston; Larry Martino, Clarksburg and Lynn Workmeister, Cumberland.

Michael Heads Business Unit In Westernport

WESTERNPORT — Former Mayor Okey Michael was elected president of the Westernport Business Improvement Association at a meeting of the group in the Town Council chamber.

Other officers are Joseph Nelson, vice president and Miss Naoma M. Flanagan, secretary.

The widening of Main Street was discussed. If widened sufficiently between Church and Washington streets, giving room for parking on one side, it is expected to improve business in that area.

A committee comprised of George Robertson, chairman, Mrs. Margaret Green and James A. Welsh was appointed to meet with the Town Council on April 19 to request a curb cutback of 18 inches.

Officials pointed out no utilities have an office in the town where citizens can pay monthly accounts. Joseph Nelson, Joseph Ellis and Fred Warnick were named to contact utilities and ask them to send representatives to the next meeting to discuss the problem.

The need of improved Christmas street decorations was cited. Michael appointed Arnold Clark, chairman, Wilmer Murphy, Oliver Custer and Paul Michael to consider necessary action.

James Wills, manager of the Blue Angels Drum Corps of Victory Post 155, American Legion, was invited to attend the next meeting May 4 to explain arrangements for the annual "Blue Angel Week" observance in June.

FSTC Projects Are Started

FROSTBURG — Capital Improvements underway at Frostburg State Teachers College include the construction of a $347,735 dormitory by the John I. Vandegrift Company, Inc., Cumberland.

The residence hall for which the foundation has been laid is on Park Avenue where 13 houses were purchased and removed last spring.

Blueprints for remodeling Allegany Hall will be ready for bidding in May. The work must go forward during June, July and August while students are off-campus.

A number of residences on Maple Street are in the process of being purchased to provide space for another dormitory and a new library. The old dining hall in Frost Hall will be remodeled into a living room, small chapel and infirmary.

Heat and water lines between Frost and Allegany halls will be heplaced this summer. An incinerator, recommended by the Health Department, will be constructed to alleviate the nuisance to neighbors in the burning of trash.

Equipment for new dormitory rooms will be ordered in the early fall.

The Department of Public Improvements is working on blueprints for a new FSTC library to house 120,000 volumes.

The present Lowndes Hall housing library and administration will eventually be converted into office space when the new library is completed.

Trinity Church To Honor Youth For Service

FROSTBURG—The Trinity Assembly of God Church will devote Sunday to honoring their youth who are known by the name Christ's Ambassadors all over the nation.

This past week has been marked with several special events geared to the youth. This evening the C. A.'s will be honored with a banquet at Happy Hills Farms, Howard Skidmore, Jr., president of the local organization, will be master of ceremonies.

A film, "Vultures On My Veins" will be shown at the banquet. It gives an accurate account of work presently being done under the unique leadership of Rev. David Wilkerson among the gangs of New York City. Especially treated in this presentation is the deliverances by God's power to many in these gangs from dope addiction.

In the 9:45 aa. m. Sunday School session the group will again be honored.

At 11 a. m., three C. A. slanted talks will be given interspersed with singing.

Taking part will be Howard Skidmore, president, using the theme, 'Christ's Ambassadors and Thought Life"; Jesse Williams, vice-president, "Christ Ambassadors and Activities," and Glenn Stewart, choir leader, "Christ's Ambassadors and Goals." The C. A. choir will be heard during the 7:30 p. m. service. The message will be brought by Rev. Leroy Luttrell, Mathias, W. Va., who will speak on "Above and Beyond."

Keeping Our Heads While Russia Wins

That was quite a stunt the Russians pulled off the other day, no doubt about it. Putting a man into orbit and bringing him back good as new is no easy trick, as our own prolonged, carefully planned and meticulously safety-conscious astronaut program illustrates. But, while we're all impressed by the Russian accomplishment, let's try to keep it in perspective.

Yuri A. Gagarin, the 27-year-old Soviet "cosmonaut" undoubtedly is a very brave young man. Equally without doubt, our own astronauts, and the scores of others who wanted to be first into space, are very brave men, perhaps the more so because they're a bit older than Major Gagarin. Also beyond question is the fact that the Soviet feat is an "outstanding technical accomplishment," as President Kennedy has said. If not, we wouldn't be working so hard to accomplish the same thing, and even more.

But it is nearly impossible for us as private citizens to make any sensible comparison between the Soviet man-in-space program and our own. For one thing, we don't know whether the Russians had some failures before their first success, though they strongly deny it, as always. Our own government isn't much help along that line either, because it obviously doesn't want the Russians to know how much we know about their space program.

All due praise has properly been heaped on the youthful Soviet test pilot who made the flight, and on the Soviet people's paradise for having made it possible. But some of the praise has been a bit overdone. There was, for example, the British scientist who hailed the feat as the greatest scientific achievement in the history of humanity. Obviously, great scientist or no great scientist, he was talking through his hat. He overlooked a few gadgets like the wheel, the lever and so on. Had he said that Major Gagarin's flight may represent the beginning of some of humanity's greatest scientific accomplishments, he might have been closer to the truth. At least, no one would be likely to prove him wrong for perhaps another century or so.

Meanwhile, back in Congress, it's encouraging to note that panic has been kept to a minimum, and that Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of our National Aeronautics and Space Agency, has taken care to point out that dumping big loads of money into our own program will not take the place of time.

The Other Rocking-Chair Craze

Catholic President Welcomes Top Masonic Leaders To White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There was no group in the USA more vigorously opposed to electing a Catholic President last fall than the Scottish Rite leaders of Freemasonry.

But the other day they were received at the White House and enjoyed a cordial visit with the man they had tried to defeat. The meeting for some strange reason escaped attention, but it marked a milestone in wiping out religious hard feelings.

The man who arranged the meeting was Colorado Congressman Wayne Aspinall, himself a 33rd Degree Mason, who once sat next to Kennedy when both were members of the House of Representatives. Kennedy's callers included Masonic leaders from 25 nations who came to Washington fo. the Internationa. Conference of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry. And when Aspinall suggested that Kennedy invite them to the White House, the President promptly issued an invitation and exuded his usual charm as he strolled into the Rose Garden to greet them.

He first pumped the hand of Judge Luther A. Smith, grand commander over the Southern Jurisdiction and president of the International Conference, who once had been extremely skeptical about a Catholic in the White House.

"When my good friend, Congressman Aspinall, said he would have his friends in town, I said I would like to meet with his friends," Kennedy declared. "You are to be congratulated on your aims. We all want universal peace."

Without further formality, the President wandered among the Masons and their wives.

Earlier, Kennedy had told Alabama's Sen. John Sparkman that he would like to talk with Judge Smith about school aid. The Masons support the President's opposition to federal aid for parochial schools, but there was no time to mention the subject during the White House visit.

State Senator Jones

The big untold story in the hot Republican scramble for the New Jersey gubernatorial nomination is the interesting interrelations between State Sen. Walter Jons's political position and his thriving law practice. If a U.S. Senator had operated this way, he would have been in this column long ago.

Jones, the GOP boss of Bergen County, is one of the three candidates for governor in next Tuesday's Republican primary.

Here are the interesting facts about his law practice.

One of Jones's interesting legal fees was a total of $363,775.87, which he eventually collected from the Bergen County Sewer Authority. This happens to be a state agency subject to the New Jersey Legislature in which Jones wields great power.

Apparently sensitive about receiving these fees, Jones arranged for an attorney in his law office to receive them. Then the attorney turned round and wrote personal checks to Jones for the exact amount of the fees. This subterfuge to keep Jones a step removed from the Bergen County Sewer Authority which he actually represented, continued from 1955 until 1959.

Sen. Jones also headed an investigation of garbage collection contracts by the New Jersey Legislature. This brought evidence to light that resulted in the conviction of various municipal officials, including some from Fairlawn.

Having been chairman of the committee which investigated the Fairlawn community, Jones then represented the Fairlawn community in a civil suit to recover damages from the garbage collectors. He reportedly asked for an $85,000 fee, of which only $18,000 has been paid so far.

The state senator also appeared as an attorney against the state in a condemnation proceeding. He won a $1,585,600 award for the estate of the late Mrs. John Burnett, heir to the Timken roller bearing fortune. The condemnation commission, which voted the whopping award, is a state organization.

Jones's fee in this case was reported to be $125,000.

The senator has also handled small cases for clients seeking state favors. A township school board hired him to go after an extra $14,142 in state aid, for which he charged a fee of $4,714. He was also paid $10,000 by the Northern Valley High School District in connection with a bond issue. For arranging a land purchase for the school district, he collected a $928 legal fee, which was $208 more than the owner received for his land.

Political cases are not illegal in New Jersey. But since 1957, the New Jersey Bar Association has fought for a conflict-of-interest statute which would make them illegal.

Meanwhile, the man who aspires to be governor of New Jersey has collected over $500,000 in legal fees on cases involving the state of New Jersey.

Letter-Writing Jackass

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who occasionally has mail problems, was discussing his correspondence with Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio.

"How do you handle ridiculous mail from people who criticize you unfairly?" inquired the Speaker.

"When I get more than one letter from the same individual attacking me unfairly," replied Hays, "I usually write him back a king him if he knows that some jackass has been forging his name on letters to Congress,"

"I may employ the same system on a couple of jackasses down in Texas," grinned Rayburn.

A Quiet April Fool Trick In South Vietnam

By Joseph Alsop

BEN TRE, Kien Hoa Province, Vietnam

As in most of the provinces of South Vietnam at present, the second personage of this smiling delta province is the commander of the local Communist underground. In less fortunate provinces, which are too numerous, the Communist commander is the dominant personage; but in Kien-Hoa, Col. Hung as he is called, has had to take second place.

He has only had to take second place rather recently. This province, with its rich agriculture and fisheries, its maze of waterways, its heavy cover of cocoanut palms, mangoes, and bananas, is ideal guerrilla territory. The Communists made a major effort here from the day in 1959, when they sent their 502nd Battalion into Kien Hoa. Four of President Diem's province chiefs were successively defeated by them.

Col. Hung would probably have accomplished his mission, which was to create an immune Communist base in Kien Hoa, if President Diem had not taken something of a gamble. When his fourth province chief failed, Diem replaced him with an old Communist comrade in arms of Col. Hung's, now Lt. Col. Pham Ngoc Thao of the South Vietnamese army. I have been spending some days with this remarkable man, and although it is hardly current news, I cannot resist describing Col. Thao's April fool surprise for Col. Hung.

The story usefully suggests the present atmosphere in beleaguered Vietnam. It begins with the fact that Col. Thao, being an ex-Communist, understands the arts of infiltration and counter-infiltration just as well as Col. Hung. Therefore, when Col. Hung planned a kind of local coup d'etat in this little provincial capital, Col. Thao had the news the same day.

It was late, all the same—4:30 p. m., April 1, at a moment when almost all the provincial troops were already engaged in operations elsewhere. The most Col. Thao could get back before H-hour, which was announced as 9 p. m. that same evening, were two lonely companies. It was just enough.

The Communist plan of operations was formidably astute. Six trusted cadres, disguised as peasants, were to seize the power house at 9 p. m. with inside help. Another small squad, again with inside help, had the task of seizing the lightly guarded arms depot of the Civil Guard. A further detachment was to move against the jail, with the aim of liberating its several hundred Communist prisoners.

Then, when the detachment directed against the power house had given the signal by turning out the lights of Ben Tre, a hundred Communist regulars were to advance into the town from the neighborhood of the jail. Another, even larger group was to be picked up down river and brought into Ben Tre by trucks secured, yet again by inside help, from the Department of Public Works. Thus Ben Tre was to be taken over.

A little before 8 p. m. Col. Thao's hastily summoned companies rolled into town. He used one company to block the four roads into Ben Tre, and ordered the other to act as a mobile r[illegible]. Loiterers were already reported in front of the power h[illegible] and arms depot when the colonel snatched a hasty planning-session supper with his staff.

"Then I armed the cook—the Communist order said someone in my household was to assassinate me, but I had faith in the cook—and went out of the house to take charge," said the colonel.

A swift patrol showed all the Communist attack groups in place inside the town, but Col. Thao wanted to know who the insiders were. Just before 9 p. m. a power house electrician joined the group there. The order for an immediate arrest was given to men of the reserve company. The second group, by the nearby arms depot, saw what was happening and at once attacked the depot with the help of two Civil Guards. They passed the first gate and wounded the depot guardian.

But more men of the reserve company pounced on the depot and rounded up the lot. Another pounce, and the intending attackers of the jail were in the bag. Another pounce, and three truck drivers of the Public Works Department were also picked up just as they were about to [illegible]ad out of town. Still another pounce, and four men in the market, who had already put on the Communist identification brassards, were added to Col. Thao's collection.

"The last man we got was my gardener, who was the one assigned to kill me," said Col. Thao cheerily. "One of the men at the jail told us about him. The servants in the province chief's house used to be very stylish — French leftovers, well trained. I took soldiers instead because I did not trust them. I should have changed the gardener too."

He added, regretfully, that he thought of turning off the town lights himself, thus giving the secret signal to advance, so that he could ambush the larger Commust groups on their way into town. But the whole roundup had been so quick and quiet that hundreds of people were still watching an outdoor movie in the market place. "And if we'd had a fight, we'd have killed a score or so of innocent men and women." All the same Col. Thao had a good April Fool's day and Col. Hung had a bad one.

Two days later, Col. Hung tried to get his own back, by celebrating the visit to Ben Tre of Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thu, President Diem's brother, with grenade throwing instead of fireworks. But there was another tipoff. The grenades were found in the luggage compartment of a car which one of the town's rich men had contributed to the archepiscopal procession.

"In these two failures," said Col. Thao, "the enemy lost many key cadres. This is the reason, I think, that we had such a quiet election day."

Col. Thao's fairly hair-raising standards of quietness will be understood by those who have read a previous report in this space.

Beauty Is Blight

By John Crosby

There is getting to be an awful fishy smell to Title 1 and to everything connected with that phrase Urban Renewal. Urban Renewal (hideous phrase) sounded splendid when originally proposed. In the 350-odd Title 1 projects now under way from New York to California, invariably the mayor issues the original clarion call. The real estate board and all sorts of Respectable People from the American Establishment get behind what seems like a very good thing. (And for real estate people, it is a very good thing.)

"Twelve thousand homes without flush toilets," says the press release. "Six thousand homes without hot water." My god, you say, can such a thing happen in America? No flush toilets! No hot water! One of the glories of America is that everyone has a toilet to flush. The press release goes on with the other words: blight, slums, blighted area. The word blight you must be especially curious about. Usually, if you investigate a blighted area you will discover it is the loveliest area in town.

In New York, for example, two Title 1 projects under consideration are in Greenwich Village and Brooklyn Heights. Now, God knows, New York is loaded with areas that need fixing up. In fact, New York is rapidly getting to be almost uninhabitable (except for automobiles) but among the few places in town that are worth living in are Greenwich Village and Brooklyn Heights.

The Greenwich Village area contains some of the last eighteenth century houses in Manhattan (there are at least three) and scores of nineteenth century houses. Brooklyn Heights is one of the loveliest parts of New York City, and contains over 1,000 hundred-year-old buildings. In both these areas—to say nothing of Houston, St. Louis, Los Angeles, and hundreds of other American cities—real estate operators come in loaded with Federal money and vast powers and vast responsibilities. They can throw you out of your home, pay you a condemnation price for a house whose mortgage you've been paying off for twenty years, and construct a perfectly hideous anthill in its place which is called luxury housing. All this at the taxpayer's expense.

What is particularly sickening about all this—and it is just as bad in other cities as it is here—is the amount of official deception that invariably accompanies this ravishment of our beauty spots. George Orwell would chuckle with glee at the uses to which language is being put in these affairs. For beauty, say blight. Homes are called slums. Slums are called modern housing. (Modern housing has toilets all right, which can be heard for miles, and a general sleaziness of construction which would be rejected by a French peasant in the sixteenth century.) Has anyone really counted the number of toilets people haven't got—except the real estate speculators who put out the press releases?

Suffern, N. Y., is a little town of 5,000 people that has had urban renewal thrust on it in spite of the anguished complaints of many of its citizens. Says one homeowner in Suffern: "We are a small village, not a slum-ridden city. Suddenly we have urban renewal—the whole works, public housing access roads, total demolition. We were told by the mayor that there would be no public housing in the renewal program. Now he says public housing is required. We were also promised that the costs would not exceed $92,500. Now they claim it was always understood it would cost more than that. In short, we were deceived by our local officials, acting in concert with the federal and state renewal bureaucrats—and the paid planners and others who are getting a piece of the pie."

The classic example of urban renewal is Chavez Ravine, in Los Angeles. Seven thousand homeowners were ousted from their homes for what was called urgently needed public housing. And who got Chavez Ravine? The Dodgers — for a ballpark, for heaven's sake.

At issue is not only that old and discredited idea that a man's home is his castle. In this overpopulated world, we are going to have to get used to the idea that we have to share our homes with others. But the use of eminent domain should be for the benefit of the public, not for a few real estate speculators.

Why does Title have to descend, not on the worst neighborhoods in town, but the best? Americans can never again afford to build homes like those they propose to tear down in Brooklyn—so why not hang on to the ones we have? And why use public funds to build high rental apartments? To me, there is a shocking waste of the national energy in tearing down beautiful buildings that might better be remodeled or rebuilt—at much less expense. (Of course, this reduces the plunder to the builders and the real estate speculators.) Besides there are plenty of places to build buildings that are not currently occupied by homes. Why tear down homes, displace people, when it's unnecessary?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Silenced Songfest

Life in any large city is drab for young people and particularly so for New Yorkers where there seems to be never anywhere to go. That is, to go spontaneously, without pre-arrangement, without the wear and tear of dressing up.

And so, for 17 years, young people have been foregathering in the fountain of Washington Square on a Sunday afternoon to sing folk songs. I do not know who started all this, but it grew so that many came and boy met girl, and mandolins and guitars were brought along. There was a spirit of gaiety and of belonging, although occasionally there, as anywhere else, a bum came among the sheep, a heroin pusher, or a homosexual seeking a mate or something like that. Of course, such will be found in any large crowd in New York and one place is as good or bad as another.

For 17 years, these songfests continued and nobody much bothered about it. The Beatniks came with their whiskers and their gals wore long hair and all their faces were grubby which is their symbol of revolt—but it is better to rebel by not using lipstick than to rebel by throwing bombs. Youth will rebel and these do it by singing folk songs and reciting drab poetry, the kind that depends not upon the depth of thought but upon a sort of onomatopoeia which is hereabouts fashionable, although not as competently done as by Edgar Allan Poe.

And so, of a Sunday, they sang and the police were silent. During most of the 17 years, the Commissioner of Parks in New York City was Robert Moses, the great builder. Robert Moses has a sense of humor as well as wit. No one asked his consent for these folks to sing, but he said nothing about it. In a word, he winked his eye at the rule that to do almost anything in a park one needs a permit. Moses believed that parks were for people, and if the people wanted to sing, surely it was better for their souls than to move about moodily counting their shekels. So he let them sing.

But now, in New York, there is a new Commissioner of Parks, Newbold Morris, who is tall and handsome and correct in his conduct but whose sense of humor is negative. Whereas Moses could be guilty of a belly-laugh, Morris politely smiles. At any rate, he told the police to stop the singing, lest the grass and shrubs suffer. And the Police Commissioner fell in with Morris's plot to silence the singing with the result that the police struck at these young people with clubs and pictures were taken of it all and now Khrushchev can circulate these pictures all over the Earth showing how the American police club the common people, even the bearded ones, whose only crime is that they want to sing.

If our policy suffers because no one takes us seriously, it is due to just such stupidities, for how can anyone believe that this is a free country, if young people are not free to sing? Imagine, the nations of Latin America viewing the pictures that appeared on television of cops heroically clubbing singers, who wanted to sing, "Roll Out the Barrel"? Why send the Peace Corps hither and yon if we also send such photographs not of brutality but of stupidity? Is it possible for anyone anywhere on this Earth to understand why people may not foregather to sing but they may foregather in Central Park to listen to insipid politicians vocalize on the glories of being an American?

Therefore, let all and sundry know that it is no crime to sing anywhere; that what is baneful is gloom and pessimism. It is said that some folks who live on Washington Square resent these young people coming there to have a good time. They feel that there is a traditional exclusiveness about the Washington Square area where once Society bloomed. Well, it is just too bad that the only sounds on the streets are honking horns and the roar of automobiles and buses. There used to be hurdy-gurdies and organ grinders and all sorts of music, including a monkey who would doff his hat to beg for a penny and bring joy to the hearts of children.

God save us from stuffed-shirts.

Steroids Sometimes Help Patchy Baldness

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Mary was horrified when, on looking into the mirror, she saw a bald spot on the side of her head. When another patch appeared a week later, she called her physician. The diagnosis was alopecia areata, one of the easiest disorders to diagnose and — until recently — one of the hardest to treat.

Victims develop baldness varying from a small patch to total loss of hair. The cause is not known, but the condition may follow periods of stress associated with excessive worry, nervousness, and tension. In many instances, hair comes back in time but waiting for the first few tufts to appear is frustrating.

Hydrocortisone is the latest remedy but the way this steroid is used is tricky and tedious. The product is of no value when taken by mouth or administered hypodermically into an arm. It must be injected under the upper layers of the scalp to be effective.

But that's not all. Hair regrows only where the product is injected. Furthermore, the steroid must be in an insoluble form. The results are not good when watery solutions are injected.

Apparently the product is absorbed so rapidly the active ingredients do not have time to work on the hair roots. The insoluble solution remains under the skin, where the active ingredients protect and nurture the hair follicles. Regrowth takes place within three to six weeks after the treatment is started but not everyone gets a luxurious growth. In many it is patchy; in others, little more than a few tufts or fuzz.

Since hair often returns spontaneously in alopecia areata, the ultimate results are good. Hydrocortisone at best stimulates or hastens the process. But of greater importance is the fact that this is only the beginning of new research that may solve many of the problems associated with hair growth.

UP IN THE CLOUDS

J. B. writes: A 19 year old girl has a rapid pulse. Do you think it is because she is going to get married in June?

REPLY

Could be, more so if she is losing appetite, has trouble sleeping, and walks around in a daze.

SCARRING

M. M. writes: Are the lungs left scarred after an attack of pleurisy?

REPLY

Scarring may follow an attack of pleurisy, as evidenced by X-rays taken months or years later.

BRAIN INFECTION

R. P. writes: How would a woman of 75 get encephalitis?

REPLY

From an infected person or animal. Encephalitis is inflammation of the brain, caused by a variety of viruses and bacteria, many of which are contagious. Age is no barrier.

CARRIER'S CALORIES

T. D. writes: How many daily calories does a letter carrier need? He walks about 13 miles a day.

REPLY

From 2,500 to 3,500, depending upon the outside temperature and the man's weight and health.

HEART DISTRESS

E. S. W. writes: What is cardiac distress?

REPLY

Shortness of breath, chest pain, palpitation, dizziness, and other symptoms that develop if the heart is not working efficiently.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

John Parker tells about a prosperous planter in Kentucky who decided to run for governor. He wasn't much on speech making, but he played the violin very well indeed, and backwoods voters flocked to listen to him.

Then his opponent, a no-holds-barred politician, made a valuable discovery. The planter played the fiddle lefthanded. From that day on, the politician's chief campaign argument was, "When my aristocratic opponent plays for his millionaire friends in the big cities, he plays righthanded. But when he comes here to see you country folk—nature's noblemen, the salt of the earth, the backbone of Kaintucky—what does he do? He plays lefthanded. He thinks that's good enough for you. He thinks you're too dumb to know the difference!"

After that all the planter's protestations that he was naturally left-handed were drowned in boos and catcalls. He was luckily to escape with his life.

Keeping Our Heads While Russia Wins

That was quite a stunt the Russians pulled off the other day, no doubt about it. Putting a man into orbit and bringing him back good as new is no easy trick, as our own prolonged, carefully planned and meticulously safety-conscious astronaut program illustrates. But, while we're all impressed by the Russian accomplishment, let's try to keep it in perspective.

Yuri A. Gagarin, the 27-year-old Soviet "cosmonaut" undoubtedly is a very brave young man. Equally without doubt, our own astronauts, and the scores of others who wanted to be first into space, are very brave men, perhaps the more so because they're a bit older than Major Gagarin. Also beyond question is the fact that the Soviet feat is an "outstanding technical accomplishment," as President Kennedy has said. If not, we wouldn't be working so hard to accomplish the same thing, and even more.

But it is nearly impossible for us as private citizens to make any sensible comparison between the Soviet man-in-space program and our own. For one thing, we don't know whether the Russians had some failures before their first success, though they strongly deny it, as always. Our own government isn't much help along that line either, because it obviously doesn't want the Russians to know how much we know about their space program.

All due praise has properly been heaped on the youthful Soviet test pilot who made the flight, and on the Soviet people's paradise for having made it possible. But some of the praise has been a bit overdone. There was, for example, the British scientist who hailed the feat as the greatest scientific achievement in the history of humanity. Obviously, great scientist or no great scientist, he was talking through his hat. He overlooked a few gadgets like the wheel, the lever and so on. Had he said that Major Gagarin's flight may represent the beginning of some of humanity's greatest scientific accomplishments, he might have been closer to the truth. At least, no one would be likely to prove him wrong for perhaps another century or so.

Meanwhile, back in Congress, it's encouraging to note that panic has been kept to a minimum, and that Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of our National Aeronautics and Space Agency, has taken care to point out that dumping big loads of money into our own program will not take the place of time.

The Other Rocking-Chair Craze

Catholic President Welcomes Top Masonic Leaders To White House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There was no group in the USA more vigorously opposed to electing a Catholic President last fall than the Scottish Rite leaders of Freemasonry.

But the other day they were received at the White House and enjoyed a cordial visit with the man they had tried to defeat. The meeting for some strange reason escaped attention, but it marked a milestone in wiping out religious hard feelings.

The man who arranged the meeting was Colorado Congressman Wayne Aspinall, himself a 33rd Degree Mason, who once sat next to Kennedy when both were members of the House of Representatives. Kennedy's callers included Masonic leaders from 25 nations who came to Washington fo. the Internationa. Conference of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry. And when Aspinall suggested that Kennedy invite them to the White House, the President promptly issued an invitation and exuded his usual charm as he strolled into the Rose Garden to greet them.

He first pumped the hand of Judge Luther A. Smith, grand commander over the Southern Jurisdiction and president of the International Conference, who once had been extremely skeptical about a Catholic in the White House.

"When my good friend, Congressman Aspinall, said he would have his friends in town, I said I would like to meet with his friends," Kennedy declared. "You are to be congratulated on your aims. We all want universal peace."

Without further formality, the President wandered among the Masons and their wives.

Earlier, Kennedy had told Alabama's Sen. John Sparkman that he would like to talk with Judge Smith about school aid. The Masons support the President's opposition to federal aid for parochial schools, but there was no time to mention the subject during the White House visit.

State Senator Jones

The big untold story in the hot Republican scramble for the New Jersey gubernatorial nomination is the interesting interrelations between State Sen. Walter Jons's political position and his thriving law practice. If a U.S. Senator had operated this way, he would have been in this column long ago.

Jones, the GOP boss of Bergen County, is one of the three candidates for governor in next Tuesday's Republican primary.

Here are the interesting facts about his law practice.

One of Jones's interesting legal fees was a total of $363,775.87, which he eventually collected from the Bergen County Sewer Authority. This happens to be a state agency subject to the New Jersey Legislature in which Jones wields great power.

Apparently sensitive about receiving these fees, Jones arranged for an attorney in his law office to receive them. Then the attorney turned round and wrote personal checks to Jones for the exact amount of the fees. This subterfuge to keep Jones a step removed from the Bergen County Sewer Authority which he actually represented, continued from 1955 until 1959.

Sen. Jones also headed an investigation of garbage collection contracts by the New Jersey Legislature. This brought evidence to light that resulted in the conviction of various municipal officials, including some from Fairlawn.

Having been chairman of the committee which investigated the Fairlawn community, Jones then represented the Fairlawn community in a civil suit to recover damages from the garbage collectors. He reportedly asked for an $85,000 fee, of which only $18,000 has been paid so far.

The state senator also appeared as an attorney against the state in a condemnation proceeding. He won a $1,585,600 award for the estate of the late Mrs. John Burnett, heir to the Timken roller bearing fortune. The condemnation commission, which voted the whopping award, is a state organization.

Jones's fee in this case was reported to be $125,000.

The senator has also handled small cases for clients seeking state favors. A township school board hired him to go after an extra $14,142 in state aid, for which he charged a fee of $4,714. He was also paid $10,000 by the Northern Valley High School District in connection with a bond issue. For arranging a land purchase for the school district, he collected a $928 legal fee, which was $208 more than the owner received for his land.

Political cases are not illegal in New Jersey. But since 1957, the New Jersey Bar Association has fought for a conflict-of-interest statute which would make them illegal.

Meanwhile, the man who aspires to be governor of New Jersey has collected over $500,000 in legal fees on cases involving the state of New Jersey.

Letter-Writing Jackass

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who occasionally has mail problems, was discussing his correspondence with Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio.

"How do you handle ridiculous mail from people who citicize you unfairly?" inquired the Speaker.

"When I get more than one letter from the same individual attacking me unfairly," replied Hays, "I usually write him back a king him if he knows that some jackass has been forging his name on letters to Congress,"

"I may employ the same system on a couple of jackasses down in Texas," grinned Rayburn.

A Quiet April Fool Trick In South Vietnam

By Joseph Alsop

BEN TRE, Kien Hoa Province, Vietnam

As in most of the provinces of South Vietnam at present, the second personage of this smiling delta province is the commander of the local Communist underground. In less fortunate provinces, which are too numerous, the Communist commander is the dominant personage; but in Kien-Hoa, Col. Hung as he is called, has had to take second place.

He has only had to take second place rather recently. This province, with its rich agriculture and fisheries, its maze of waterways, its heavy cover of cocoanut palms, mangoes, and bananas, is ideal guerrilla territory. The Communists made a major effort here from the day in 1959, when they sent their 502nd Battalion into Kien Hoa. Four of President Diem's province chiefs were successively defeated by them.

Col. Hung would probably have accomplished his mission, which was to create an immune Communist base in Kien Hoa, if President Diem had not taken something of a gamble. When his fourth province chief failed, Diem replaced him with an old Communist comrade in arms of Col. Hung's, now Lt. Col. Pham Ngoc Thao of the South Vietnamese army. I have been spending some days with this remarkable man, and although it is hardly current news, I cannot resist describing Col. Thao's April fool surprise for Col. Hung.

The story usefully suggests the present atmosphere in beleaguered Vietnam. It begins with the fact that Col. Thao, being an ex-Communist, understands the arts of infiltration and counter-infiltration just as well as Col. Hung. Therefore, when Col. Hung planned a kind of local coup d'etat in this little provincial capital, Col. Thao had the news the same day.

It was late, all the same—4:30 p. m., April 1, at a moment when almost all the provincial troops were already engaged in operations elsewhere. The most Col. Thao could get back before H-hour, which was announced as 9 p. m. that same evening, were two lonely companies. It was just enough.

The Communist plan of operations was formidably astute. Six trusted cadres, disguised as peasants, were to seize the power house at 9 p. m. with inside help. Another small squad, again with inside help, had the task of seizing the lightly guarded arms depot of the Civil Guard. A further detachment was to move against the jail, with the aim of liberating its several hundred Communist prisoners.

Then, when the detachment directed against the power house had given the signal by turning out the lights of Ben Tre, a hundred Communist regulars were to advance into the town from the neighborhood of the jail. Another, even larger group was to be picked up down river and brought into Ben Tre by trucks secured, yet again by inside help, from the Department of Public Works. Thus Ben Tre was to be taken over.

A little before 8 p. m. Col. Thao's hastily summoned companies rolled into town. He used one company to block the four roads into Ben Tre, and ordered the other to act as a mobile r[illegible]. Loiterers were already reported in front of the power h[illegible] and arms depot when the colonel snatched a hasty planning-session supper with his staff.

"Then I armed the cook—the Communist order said someone in my household was to assassinate me, but I had faith in the cook—and went out of the house to take charge," said the colonel.

A swift patrol showed all the Communist attack groups in place inside the town, but Col. Thao wanted to know who the insiders were. Just before 9 p. m. a power house electrician joined the group there. The order for an immediate arrest was given to men of the reserve company. The second group, by the nearby arms depot, saw what was happening and at once attacked the depot with the help of two Civil Guards. They passed the first gate and wounded the depot guardian.

But more men of the reserve company pounced on the depot and rounded up the lot. Another pounce, and the intending attackers of the jail were in the bag. Another pounce, and three truck drivers of the Public Works Department were also picked up just as they were about to [illegible]ad out of town. Still another pounce, and four men in the market, who had already put on the Communist identification brassards, were added to Col. Thao's collection.

"The last man we got was my gardener, who was the one assigned to kill me," said Col. Thao cheerily. "One of the men at the jail told us about him. The servants in the province chief's house used to be very stylish — French leftovers, well trained. I took soldiers instead because I did not trust them. I should have changed the gardener too."

He added, regretfully, that he thought of turning off the town lights himself, thus giving the secret signal to advance, so that he could ambush the larger Commust groups on their way into town. But the whole roundup had been so quick and quiet that hundreds of people were still watching an outdoor movie in the market place. "And if we'd had a fight, we'd have killed a score or so of innocent men and women." All the same Col. Thao had a good April Fool's day and Col. Hung had a bad one.

Two days later, Col. Hung tried to get his own back, by celebrating the visit to Ben Tre of Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thu, President Diem's brother, with grenade throwing instead of fireworks. But there was another tipoff. The grenades were found in the luggage compartment of a car which one of the town's rich men had contributed to the archepiscopal procession.

"In these two failures," said Col. Thao, "the enemy lost many key cadres. This is the reason, I think, that we had such a quiet election day."

Col. Thao's fairly hair-raising standards of quietness will be understood by those who have read a previous report in this space.

These Days

The Silenced Songfest

Life in any large city is drab for young people and particularly so for New Yorkers where there seems to be never anywhere to go. That is, to go spontaneously, without pre-arrangement, without the wear and tear of dressing up.

And so, for 17 years, young people have been foregathering in the fountain of Washington Square on a Sunday afternoon to sing folk songs. I do not know who started all this, but it grew so that many came and boy met girl, and mandolins and guitars were brought along. There was a spirit of gaiety and of belonging, although occasionally there, as anywhere else, a bum came among the sheep, a heroin pusher, or a homosexual seeking a mate or something like that. Of course, such will be found in any large crowd in New York and one place is as good or bad as another.

For 17 years, these songfests continued and nobody much bothered about it. The Beatniks came with their whiskers and their gals wore long hair and all their faces were grubby which is their symbol of revolt—but it is better to rebel by not using lipstick than to rebel by throwing bombs. Youth will rebel and these do it by singing folk songs and reciting drab poetry, the kind that depends not upon the depth of thought but upon a sort of onomatopoeia which is hereabouts fashionable, although not as competently done as by Edgar Allan Poe.

And so, of a Sunday, they sang and the police were silent. During most of the 17 years, the Commissioner of Parks in New York City was Robert Moses, the great builder. Robert Moses has a sense of humor as well as wit. No one asked his consent for these folks to sing, but he said nothing about it. In a word, he winked his eye at the rule that to do almost anything in a park one needs a permit. Moses believed that parks were for people, and if the people wanted to sing, surely it was better for their souls than to move about moodily counting their shekels. So he let them sing.

But now, in New York, there is a new Commissioner of Parks, Newbold Morris, who is tall and handsome and correct in his conduct but whose sense of humor is negative. Whereas Moses could be guilty of a belly-laugh, Morris politely smiles. At any rate, he told the police to stop the singing, lest the grass and shrubs suffer. And the Police Commissioner fell in with Morris's plot to silence the singing with the result that the police struck at these young people with clubs and pictures were taken of it all and now Khrushchev can circulate these pictures all over the Earth showing how the American police club the common people, even the bearded ones, whose only crime is that they want to sing.

If our policy suffers because no one takes us seriously, it is due to just such stupidities, for how can anyone believe that this is a free country, if young people are not free to sing? Imagine, the nations of Latin America viewing the pictures that appeared on television of cops heroically clubbing singers, who wanted to sing, "Roll Out the Barrel"? Why send the Peace Corps hither and yon if we also send such photographs not of brutality but of stupidity? Is it possible for anyone anywhere on this Earth to understand why people may not foregather to sing but they may foregather in Central Park to listen to insipid politicians vocalize on the glories of being an American?

Therefore, let all and sundry know that it is no crime to sing anywhere; that what is baneful is gloom and pessimism. It is said that some folks who live on Washington Square resent these young people coming there to have a good time. They feel that there is a traditional exclusiveness about the Washington Square area where once Society bloomed. Well, it is just too bad that the only sounds on the streets are honking horns and the roar of automobiles and buses. There used to be hurdy-gurdies and organ grinders and all sorts of music, including a monkey who would doff his hat to beg for a penny and bring joy to the hearts of children.

God save us from stuffed-shirts.

Steroids Sometimes Help Patchy Baldness

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Mary was horrified when, on looking into the mirror, she saw a bald spot on the side of her head. When another patch appeared a week later, she called her physician. The diagnosis was alopecia areata, one of the easiest disorders to diagnose and — until recently — one of the hardest to treat.

Victims develop baldness varying from a small patch to total loss of hair. The cause is not known, but the condition may follow periods of stress associated with excessive worry, nervousness, and tension. In many instances, hair comes back in time but waiting for the first few tufts to appear is frustrating.

Hydrocortisone is the latest remedy but the way this steroid is used is tricky and tedious. The product is of no value when taken by mouth or administered hypodermically into an arm. It must be injected under the upper layers of the scalp to be effective.

But that's not all. Hair regrows only where the product is injected. Furthermore, the steroid must be in an insoluble form. The results are not good when watery solutions are injected.

Apparently the product is absorbed so rapidly the active ingredients do not have time to work on the hair roots. The insoluble solution remains under the skin, where the active ingredients protect and nurture the hair follicles. Regrowth takes place within three to six weeks after the treatment is started but not everyone gets a luxurious growth. In many it is patchy; in others, little more than a few tufts or fuzz.

Since hair often returns spontaneously in alopecia areata, the ultimate results are good. Hydrocortisone at best stimulates or hastens the process. But of greater importance is the fact that this is only the beginning of new research that may solve many of the problems associated with hair growth.

UP IN THE CLOUDS

J. B. writes: A 19 year old girl has a rapid pulse. Do you think it is because she is going to get married in June?

REPLY

Could be, more so if she is losing appetite, has trouble sleeping, and walks around in a daze.

SCARRING

M. M. writes: Are the lungs left scarred after an attack of pleurisy?

REPLY

Scarring may follow an attack of pleurisy, as evidenced by X-rays taken months or years later.

BRAIN INFECTION

R. P. writes: How would a woman of 75 get encephalitis?

REPLY

From an infected person or animal. Encephalitis is inflammation of the brain, caused by a variety of viruses and bacteria, many of which are contagious. Age is no barrier.

CARRIER'S CALORIES

T. D. writes: How many daily calories does a letter carrier need? He walks about 13 miles a day.

REPLY

From 2,500 to 3,500, depending upon the outside temperature and the man's weight and health.

HEART DISTRESS

E. S. W. writes: What is cardiac distress?

REPLY

Shortness of breath, chest pain, palpitation, dizziness, and other symptoms that develop if the heart is not working efficiently.

To the limit of space questions pertinent to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

John Parker tells about a prosperous planter in Kentucky who decided to run for governor. He wasn't much on speech making, but he played the violin very well indeed, and backwoods voters flocked to listen to him.

Then his opponent, a no-holds-barred politician, made a valuable discovery. The planter played the fiddle lefthanded. From that day on, the politician's chief campaign argument was, "When my aristocratic opponent plays for his millionaire friends in the big cities, he plays righthanded. But when he comes here to see you country folk—nature's noblemen, the salt of the earth, the backbone of Kaintucky—what does he do? He plays lefthanded. He thinks that's good enough for you. He thinks you're too dumb to know the difference!"

After that all the planter's protestations that he was naturally left-handed were drowned in boos and catcalls. He was luckily to escape with his life.

Beauty Is Blight

By John Crosby

There is getting to be an awful fishy smell to Title 1 and to everything connected with that phrase Urban Renewal. Urban Renewal (hideous phrase) sounded splendid when originally proposed. In the 350-odd Title 1 projects now under way from New York to California, invariably the mayor issues the original clarion call. The real estate board and all sorts of Respectable People from the American Establishment get behind what seems like a very good thing. (And for real estate people, it is a very good thing.)

"Twelve thousand homes without flush toilets," says the press release. "Six thousand homes without hot water." My god, you say, can such a thing happen in America? No flush toilets! No hot water! One of the glories of America is that everoyne has a toilet to flush. The press release goes on with the other words: blight, slums, blighted area. The word blight you must be especially curious about. Usually, if you investigate a blighted area you will discover it is the loveliest area in town.

In New York, for example, two Title 1 projects under consideration are in Greenwich Village and Brooklyn Heights. Now, God knows, New York is loaded with areas that need fixing up. In fact, New York is rapidly getting to be almost uninhabitable (except for automobiles) but among the few places in town that are worth living in are Greenwich Village and Brooklyn Heights.

The Greenwich Village area contains some of the last eighteenth century houses in Manhattan (there are at least three) and scores of nineteenth century houses. Brooklyn Heights is one of the loveliest parts of New York City, and contains over 1,000 hundred-year-old buildings. In both these areas—to say nothing of Houston, St. Louis, Los Angeles, and hundreds of other American cities—real estate operators come in loaded with Federal money and vast powers and vast responsibilities. They can throw you out of your home, pay you a condemnation price for a house whose mortgage you've been paying off for twenty years, and construct a perfectly hideous anthill in its place which is called luxury housing. All this at the taxpayer's expense.

What is particularly sickening about all this—and it is just as bad in other cities as it is here—is the amount of official deception that invariably accompanies this ravishment of our beauty spots. George Orwell would chuckle with glee at the uses to which language is being put in these affairs. For beauty, say blight. Homes are called slums. Slums are called modern housing. (Modern housing has toilets all right, which can be heard for miles, and a general sleaziness of construction which would be rejected by a French peasant in the sixteenth century.) Has anyone really counted the number of toilets people haven't got—except the real estate speculators who put out the press releases?

Suffern, N. Y., is a little town of 5,000 people that has had urban renewal thrust on it in spite of the anguished complaints of many of its citizens. Says one homeowner in Suffern: "We are a small village, not a slum-ridden city. Suddenly we have urban renewal—the whole works, public housing access roads, total demolition. We were told by the mayor that there would be no public housing in the renewal program. Now he says public housing is required. We were also promised that the costs would not exceed $92,500. Now they claim it was always understood it would cost more than that. In short, we were deceived by our local officials, acting in concert with the federal and state renewal bureaucrats—and the paid planners and others who are getting a piece of the pie."

The classic example of urban renewal is Chavez Ravine, in Los Angeles. Seven thousand homeowners were ousted from their homes for what was called urgently needed public housing. And who got Chavez Ravine? The Dodgers — for a ballpark, for heaven's sake.

At issue is not only that old and discredited idea that a man's home is his castle. In this overpopulated world, we are going to have to get used to the idea that we have to share our homes with others. But the use of eminent domain should be for the benefit of the public, not for a few real estate speculators.

Why does Title have to descend, not on the worst neighborhoods in town, but the best? Americans can never again afford to build homes like those they propose to tear down in Brooklyn—so why not hang on to the ones we have? And why use public funds to build high rental apartments? To me, there is a shocking waste of the national energy in tearing down beautiful buildings that might better be remodeled or rebuilt—at much less expense. (Of course, this reduces the plunder to the builders and the real estate speculators.) Besides there are plenty of places to build buildings that are not currently occupied by homes. Why tear down homes, displace people, when it's unnecessary?

Meeting On Relocation Needs Planned

The chairman of the State Roads Commission has asked Mayor J. Edwin Keech to arrange for a meeting here in connection with assisting the city solve problems arising from relocation of people because of construction of the Cumberland Thurway.

Mayor Keech said he would begin to make arrangements for such a meeting at once and welcomed the opportunity to meet with the state official.

"It is a good time to find out where we are going and how soon in regard to the thruway project," the mayor said, adding that "anyone with problems in this connection should let us know."

The chairman of the SRC, John B. Funk, in a letter to Keech said while benefits of such a modern expressway to citizens and the economy are well known, such a project sometimes can create problems involving the relocation of people whose homes are purchased for needed rights-of-way.

Funk said the SRC is deeply concerned about it as it relates to Cumberland and other urban regions of the state and has discussed it with Gov. Tawes who was particularly anxious that Funk contact Keech and other municipal executives to determine if the problem exists "and to what extent the State Roads Commission can cooperate with proper city agencies in handling the matter at a local level."

In the past, the State has been able to cope successfully with such problems in the Jones Falls Expressway in Baltimore City and the Baltimore Beltway in the urban section of Baltimore County where substantial segments of the population were relocated with minimum hardship through efforts of public agencies or the ability of private building and real estate enterprise to provide adequate housing, Funk said.

Studies have been made at other contemplated expressway facilities.

"In Cumberland where Thruway construction will be underway soon, we are concerned that a relocation problem may exist for many of the hundreds of Cumberland families whose homes lie in the path of construction. It occurred to Gov. Tawes and myself that a conference between highway officials, municipal officials of Cumberland and representatives of the building and real estate industries of the region would be helpful in determining the extent of the problem and what steps can be taken to assure not only the orderly and efficient relocation of these families, but also to provide for elimination of any delays such a situation might cause in construction of the Thruway," Funk wrote.

Funk said he would be in Cumberland Tuesday, April 25, and could meet with Keech then to discuss the situation further.

Keech said the day of Funk's visit here would be an ideal time for the proposed meeting and he will suggest the same to council Monday.

Church Official Will Speak Here

Dr. Ralph E. Valentine, executive secretary of Christian Churches of West Virginia, with offices in Huntington, will be guest minister at First Christian Church, 312 Bedford Street, at 10:40 a.m.

His subject will be "The Blessing of Life." During the family service at 7 p.m. he will discuss the opportunity of state work and what has been planned ahead for the "Decade of Decision" (1960-70).

He received his A.B. degree from Ohio Wesleyan and his B.D. from Yale Divinity School. The honorary degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on him by Bethany College. He has been executive secretary for 22 years.

State Firemen Meet At LaVale

The executive committee of the State Firemen's Association will meet at 10 a.m. Sunday in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Jack Reckner of Severna Park is president of the state association. About 50 persons are expected. Most of them will be in Allegany County Saturday night to attend the annual smoker of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association at Lonaconing.

Five Divorced In Circuit Court

Five divorces have been granted in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Joseph Acre obtained a divorce from Mary T. Acre and she was given custody of their three minor children. John William Harclerode Jr. was granted a divorce from Jane Deloris Harclerode and she was given custody of their infant child.

Steve Cornachia was awarded a divorce from Thelma Cornachia and she was given the right to resume use of her maiden name of Thelma Growden. Sandra Donaldson was granted a divorce from Kenneth Donaldson and the right to resume her maiden name of Sandra Jones. Lewis Arnold Kelly was awarded a divorce from Constance Marie Kelly and she was authorized to resume use of her maiden name of Constance Marie Brown.

Wills Mt. Road Repair Job Scheduled Next Week

Weather permitting, the Street Department plans to start replacing 75 feet of street off Piedmont Avenue the first of next week.

The street which leads to Allegany Instrument Company is badly deteriorated, according to Street Superintendent Ray Valentine.

Commissioner John J. Long also announced that an agreement has been reached with C&A Gas Company (Columbia Gas of Maryland) in connection with filling of test holes in streets and replacing of gas company lines.

In some cases, resurfacing of streets will be delayed until the gas company has completed its work, Long said.

Arrangements were completed with John S. Wilson, assistant district manager of the gas company, and Long lauded the cooperative effort of the company official.

Wilson told the city a preliminary study of conditions of pipelines where improvements are planned has been completed.

One of these on Central Avenue was started this week by the company. As a result of the study, it was also asked that Columbia Street resurfacing be postponed until at least May 15. The company is also conducting a study of work to be done on Arch Street and it requested that work be postponed there until new pipe projects are completed.

In answer to a city request, Wilson said the company will fill any test holes bored in city streets.

Midland Plans Town Election

MIDLAND — Nominations for three new councilmen will be held at the City Hall, April 17 at 7:30 p.m. Three councilmen will be elected for a one-year term, Monday, May 8.

Mayor Lionel D. Baker and three councilmen were elected last year for a four-year term. Councilmen elected are Harry J. Devlin, Donald Cook and William Kroll. Councilmen whose terms expire this year are Alex Rennie, Dewey Williams and Melvin Loar. Next year three councilmen will be elected to serve for four years. A referendum to extend the term of office for the mayor and councilmen was voted on and passed at last years election.

At the regular meeting Monday, May 1, the city council will decide which streets will be paved. Streets that have been discussed are Wilson's Lane, Railroad Street, extended near the ball park, and the railway crossing that was installed last fall.

CD Alert Slated On April 28

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland officials will move into emergency government headquarters at 4 p. m. April 28 for a nationwide practice air raid alert.

Gov. Tawes and Baltimore's Mayor J. Harold Grady will work out of underground Civil Defense facilities at Pikesville. Officials will work through the night during the emergency exercise.

During the alert, the United States will sustain a simulated attack by "enemy" forces. All television and radio station except the Conelrad system will go off the air for 30 minutes. The governor will address Maryland citizens over Conelrad radio from Pikesville.

Sherley Ewing, Maryland Civil Defense director, said private citizens would not participate in so-called take cover exercises.

Point System Is Effective

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland's point system for traffic violaters is having its effect on the state's motorists, Gov. Tawes said Friday.

His remarks were made in a speech read for him by an administrative assistant, James C. Morton, at a meeting here of the Motor Fleet Supervisors Institute. Tawes, who was scheduled to speak himself, was unable to attend.

The governor said traffic fatalities have declined this year, and that the highway death toll had dropped to 88 persons—compared with 150 during the same period last year.

The point system—providing for license suspensions after 8 points are accumulated by a traffic violater—is the "keystone of our highway safety program," the governor said.

The 1959 Legislature enacted the point system, which went into effect Dec. 31, 1960.

Elderly Judges Urged To Retire

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee suggested Friday that 74 elderly federal judges retire from full-time duty so younger men can be named.

The subcommittee on improvements in judicial machinery said the 74 have reached retirement age and could step down while continuing to serve on an assignment basis.

This, the subcommittee said, would pave the way for the appointment of "74 younger, more vigorous judges," while at the same time providing the courts with the "continuous benefit and wisdom" of the senior judges.

Confessed Rapist Sentenced To Life

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Confessed rapist Jerry Lee Bridwell, 22, Charleston, was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday.

The sentence was imposed in Kanawha County Intermediate Court by Judge William J. Thompson, who could have imposed the death sentence. Bridwell pleaded guilty Feb. 7 to the rape of Cuba Lee Duff, 23, Charleston, last December.

Police said Bridwell admitted forcing his way into a home here where Miss Duff was baby-sitting, and dragging her to his home where she was beaten and raped.

Bridwell was given mental tests at Weston State Hospital after his guilty plea, and hospital officials concluded he was sane.

Traffic Light Is Approved

Commissioner William A. Wilson told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday that he had checked into the matter of paying for a traffic light at the intersection of McMullen Highway and Winchester Road and found that the expense legally should be assessed against the public safety account.

The board then voted unanimously to pay its share of the cost for installing the light. The state will pay the balance of $3,000 for the device.

Last Tuesday the board could not come to an agreement in the matter. Commissioner John J. Rowan objected at that time to the expense being charged against the Roads Department.

SRC Is Named In Equity Suit

An equity suit seeking an injunction to require the State Roads Commission to correct a drainage problem near Braddock Run in LaVale has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was filed by George Christner and Pearl Christner, his wife; Arthur Christner and Emma Christner, his wife, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan.

The Christners own ground on West Street in LaVale, south of the National Highway and between U. S. Route 40 and Braddock Run.

Their bill of complaint contends that the SRC constructed a ditch from Route 40 along the west side of West Street and as a result a large amount of dirt, gravel and rubbish was carried onto the Christner property. They contend it also contaminated a spring on their property.

They seek an injunction requiring the SRC to construct a ditch to prevent any further flooding of their property.

SRC Lists More Route 40 Work

Another phase in the State Roads Commission's program to modernize U. S. Route 40 in Western Maryland begins with the opening of bids May 2 for a project in Allegany County.

The contract calls for grading, drainage and surfacing of relocated U. S. 40 from Sideling Hill Creek to Watson Point Road, a distance of approximately two and one-half miles.

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC, said this will be followed by advertisement of contracts to modernize Route 40 from Fifteen Mile Creek to the top of Polish Mountain, and later, by contracts to build the Town Hill relocation which will replace the tortuous sections of Route 40 across Town Hill and Green Ridge mountains.

The improvement o Route 40 in the mountainous sections of Western Maryland has had top priority in the SRC programming since the passage last year by the General Assembly of the Five-Year "Go" schedule of construction on the state's primary highway system. Work is already under way on the section of Route 40 on the west slope of Martins Mountain.

Meeting On Relocation Needs Planned

The chairman of the State Roads Commission has asked Mayor J. Edwin Keech to arrange for a meeting here in connection with assisting the city solve problems arising from relocation of people because of construction of the Cumberland Thurway.

Mayor Keech said he would begin to make arrangements for such a meeting at once and welcomed the opportunity to meet with the state official.

"If is a good time to find out where we are going and how soon in regard to the thruway project," the mayor said, adding that "anyone with problems in this connection should let us know."

The chairman of the SRC, John B. Funk, in a letter to Keech said while benefits of such a modern expressway to citizens and the economy are well known, such a project sometimes can create problems involving the relocation of people whose homes are purchased for needed rights-of-way.

Funk said the SRC is deeply concerned about it as it relates to Cumberland and other urban regions of the state and has discussed it with Gov. Tawes who was particularly anxious that Funk contact Keech and other municipal executives to determine if the problem exists "and to what extent the State Roads Commission can cooperate with proper city agencies in handling the matter at a local level."

In the past, the State has been able to cope successfully with such problems in the Jones Falls Expressway in Baltimore City and the Baltimore Beltway in the urban section of Baltimore County where substantial segments of the population were relocated with minimum hardship through efforts of public agencies or the ability of private building and real estate enterprise to provide adequate housing, Funk said.

Studies have been made at other contemplated expressway facilities.

"In Cumberland where Thruway construction will be underway soon, we are concerned that a relocation problem may exist for many of the hundreds of Cumberland families whose homes lie in the path of construction. It occurred to Gov. Tawes and myself that a conference between highway officials, municipal officials of Cumberland and representatives of the building and real estate industries of the region would be helpful in determining the extent of the problem and what steps can be taken to assure not only the orderly and efficient relocation of these families, but also to provide for elimination of any delays such a situation might cause in construction of the Thruway," Funk wrote.

Funk said he would be in Cumberland Tuesday, April 25, and could meet with Keech then to discuss the situation further.

Keech said the day of Funk's visit here would be an ideal time for the proposed meeting and he will suggest the same to council Monday.

Wills Mt. Road Repair Job Scheduled Next Week

Weather permitting, the Street Department plans to start replacing 75 feet of street off Piedmont Avenue the first of next week.

The street which leads to Allegany Instrument Company is badly deteriorated, according to Street Superintendent Ray Valentine.

Commissioner John J. Long also announced that an agreement has been reached with C&A Gas Company (Columbia Gas of Maryland) in connection with filling of test holes in streets and replacing of gas company lines.

In some cases, resurfacing of streets will be delayed until the gas company has completed its work, Long said.

Arrangements were completed with John S. Wilson, assistant district manager of the gas company, and Long lauded the cooperative effort of the company official.

Wilson told the city a preliminary study of conditions of pipelines where improvements are planned has been completed.

One of these on Central Avenue was started this week by the company. As a result of the study, it was also asked that Columbia Street resurfacing be postponed until at least May 15. The company is also conducting a study of work to be done on Arch Street and it requested that work be postponed there until new pipe projects are completed.

In answer to a city request, Wilson said the company will fill any test holes bored in city streets.

Midland Plans Town Election

MIDLAND — Nominations for three new councilmen will be held at the City Hall, April 17 at 7:30 p.m. Three councilmen will be elected for a one-year term, Monday, May 8.

Traffic Light Is Approved

Commissioner William A. Wilson told the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday that he had checked into the matter of paying for a traffic light at the intersection of McMullen Highway and Winchester Road and found that the expense legally should be assessed against the public safety account.

The board then voted unanimously to pay its share of the cost for installing the light. The state will pay the balance of $3,000 for the device.

Last Tuesday the board could not come to an agreement in the matter, Commissioner John J. Rowan objected at that time to the expense being charged against the Roads Department.

Official Faces Income Tax Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — The government Friday charged a former U.S. commissioner at Salisbury with failing to file federal income tax returns for five years.

Lewis C. Merryman, the former official, was charged with violations from 1954 to 1958. Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert E. Cahill filed the criminal information in federal court here.

Merryman held the federal position in Salisbury from 1932 to 1958.

Legion Rejects Project Bids

PIEDMONT — All bids submitted to Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion, for the purchase of its building on Second Street have been rejected as inadequate. Additional bids are being requested.

Plans for the Legions proposed new home on Green Street are being prepared and will be available within a week or ten days.

The post recently purchased the Dixon lot on Green Street. The building which houses the Tasker Furniture Store will be demolished to make room for the new structure.

PTA To Elect

The Parent-Teacher Association of SS. Peter and Paul Parochial School will elect officers at a meeting Sunday in the parish hall.

P. Raymond Shaffer, president, said the business meeting will begin at 2 p. m., followed by classroom visitation until 4:30 p. m.

SRC Is Named In Equity Suit

An equity suit seeking an injunction to require the State Roads Commission to correct a drainage problem near Braddock Run in LaVale has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suit was filed by George Christner and Pearl Christner, his wife; Arthur Christner and Emma Christner, his wife, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan.

The Christners own ground on West Street in LaVale, south of the National Highway and between U. S. Route 40 and Braddock Run.

Their bill of complaint contends that the SRC constructed a ditch from Route 40 along the west side of West Street and as a result a large amount of dirt, gravel and rubbish was carried onto the Christner property. They contend it also contaminated a spring on their property.

They seek an injunction requiring the SRC to construct a ditch to prevent any further flooding of their property.

SRC Lists More Route 40 Work

Another phase in the State Roads Commission's program to modernize U. S. Route 40 in Western Maryland begins with the opening of bids May 2 for a project in Allegany County.

The contract calls for grading, drainage and surfacing of relocated U. S. 40 from Sideling Hill Creek to Watson Point Road, a distance of approximately two and one-half miles.

John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC, said this will be followed by advertisement of contracts to modernize Route 40 from Fifteen Mile Creek to the top of Polish Mountain, and later, by contracts to build the Town Hill relocation which will replace the tortuous sections of Route 40 across Town Hill and Green Ridge mountains.

The improvement o Route 40 in the mountainous sections of Western Maryland has had top priority in the SRC programming since the passage last year by the General Assembly of the Five-Year "Go" schedule of construction on the state's primary highway system. Work is already under way on the section of Route 40 on the west slope of Martins Mountain.

Mrs. Mary D. Ruddle Is W.Va. Mother Of Year

FRANKLIN, W. Va. — Mrs. Mary Dunkle Ruddle, 62, of Franklin, has been selected "West Virginia Mother of the Year of 1961," according to Mrs. John W. Clark, of Charleston, state chairman for the American Mothers Committee, Inc.

Mrs. Ruddle was nominated by the Pendleton County Farm Women's Council. She will go to New York this month to represent West Virginia in the selection of the "American Mother of the Year." While in New York, she will attend the annual Mother's Conference where she will make a short talk. She will stay at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

Mrs. Ruddle is the widow of the late N. Dick Ruddle, who was sheriff of Pendleton county from 1932 to 1936. He died shortly before the birth of their ninth child and she was left with the responsibility of rearing a large family.

The youngest child died at the age of three, but the remaining eight children are now grown and responsible citizens. They are Maurice Dunkle Ruddle, Bassett, Va.; Newton Decatur Ruddle, Franklin; Mrs. Helen McGhee, Miss Mary Lee Ruddle and Mrs. Jo Anne Rinaldi, all of Rockville, Md.; Mrs. Eloise Richard, Columbia, Mo.; Miss Carolyn Ruddle, Franklin, and Mrs. Nancy Walker, Williamsburg, Va.

Mrs. Ruddle is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth I. Dunkle, of Deer Run, and the late Wirt Dunkle. She attended Shenandoah College one year and taught six terms in the the Pendleton county school system. She is a member of Franklin Presbyterian Church and an active member of the Franklin Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Ruddle and her family lived on a farm at Ruddle from 1937 to 1954 when they moved to Franklin.

Judges for the state contest were Miss Mary Katherine Barnes and Mrs. E. Forrest Jones of Charleston, Mrs. Don Carnohan of Huntington, Mrs. Fred Cook of Bluefield, Mrs. Perry E. Gresham of Bethany, Mrs. John F. McCuskey of Clarksburg and Mrs. James Vencill of Dixie.

Highway Hearing Set At Maysville

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The West Virginia Road Commission has scheduled hearings this month on highway and bridge projects in Pocahontas, Grant and Hardy counties.

One hearing is set for April 27, at Maysville. It will concern construction of the Scherr Bridge and the Robinson Run Bridge and their approaches, both on W. Va. 42 in Grant County.

The same day a hearing will be held at Lost River involving the construction of the Needmore Bridge and the Baker Bridge and their approaches, both on W. Va. 55 in Hardy County.

A third hearing will be conducted on April 28 at Arborvale. A new bridge on W. Va. 28 over Deer Creek at Boyer in Pocahontas County will be discussed.

Court Probates Rudolph Will

The will of John Henry Rudolph, who was a 73-year-old resident of 614 Baltimore Avenue at the time of his death March 30, was probated Tuesday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

A son, Paul R. Rudolph, 415 North Mechanic Street, qualified as executor of the estate under a $500 bond. The estate was left equally to his children. Besides Paul, he leaves another son, Frank Henry, and a daughter, Verna E. Rudolph. The will was dated June 4, 1951.

Rotary Meeting Begins April 30

Former governors of Maryland and West Virginia will be speakers at the annual conference of District 735, Rotary International, April 30 through May 2 at Bedford Springs Hotel.

The Cumberland and Frostburg Rotary clubs are members of the district. The Hagerstown club will be host for the 1961 convention of clubs from Central Pennsylvania, Western Maryland and Northern West Virginia.

The conference will be opened at 9 a. m. Sunday, April 30, with registration followed by a hospitality hour at 1:30 p. m., the "House of Friendship" tea at 3 p. m. and an international program at 4 p. m.

Former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland will speak at the dinner at 6 p. m. The Hagerstown South High School Orchestra will give a concert at 8 p. m.

The luncheon on Monday, May 1, will be sponsored by the Clearfield, Pa., Club.

The afternoon session of the second day will find forum assemblies covering four avenues of Rotary service.

Among the moderators will be Edward Ewald, Frostburg, formerly of Cumberland, on community service.

The conference dinner will be held at 7 p. m. on May 1 with Rev. William Slider of Kentucky as speaker.

The district governor's reception and ball will be held at 10 p. m. that day.

The closing session the following day will have former Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia as speaker.

Columbian Squires Open Cage Tournament Today

Seven Quints Vie For 22 Trophies; Finals Set Sunday

The Columbian Squires Maryland State Basketball Tournament will get under way at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium today with Frostburg meeting Mt. Savage at 9 a. m.

Westernport and Cumberland play in the second game and Marian Circle, Baltimore, opposes Patapsco of Catonsville in the third contest. Notre Dame of Baltimore drew a bye in the opening round of the seven-team tourney.

Semi-finals get under way today at 7 p. m., with the winners of games one and two meeting in the opener and Baltimore facing the victor in the third contest.

The consolation final is billed for Sunday at 2 p. m., and the championship game at 3:15.

A total of 22 trophies will be distributed on Sunday.

The Wilbert Memorial Trophy, donated by the Firlie family, will go to the winning team. This trophy must be won three times by the same team to become a permanent possession. Wilbert Firlie, who died in 1957, served as manager of several LaSalle basketball teams in the late 1920s.

Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, is donating a permanent first place trophy in memory of their departed brothers and Frostburg Council No. 1442 is giving the second place trophy as a memorial to John Casey.

Other trophies include:

Third Place — by Mt. Savage Council No. 1058.

Team Sportsmanship — Father Bradley Memorial Trophy by Frostburg Circle of Columbian Squires.

Sportsmanship Award — donated by Vincent Leasure.

Five trophies for all-tournament team — donated by Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree, K. of C.

Most Valuable Player Trophy — to be presented by James Brailer, state chairman, Columbian Squires.

The Mt. Savage Old Germans of the Pen Mar Baseball League will practice Sunday at 1 p. m. on the Mt. Savage diamond, Manager Kenny Johnson announced last night.

West Virginia Frosh Play At Potomac State

Stopped by rain earlier in the week when the Shepherd and Frostburg State games were postponed, Potomac State College hopes to resume baseball action today against the West Virginia University Freshmen at Keyser at 3 p.m.

The Little Mountaineers and the Catamounts will be meeting on the diamond for the first time since 1958 when Coach John Fox's tossers beat the Morgantown team, 11-4 and 2-1 behind "Bink" Barlow and "Tuffy" Richardson.

Today's game is the sixth of the season for Potomac State which won the opener and then dropped four in a row.

Bobcats' Ohio Trip Cancelled

Mt. Union Tilts Off, Play At Hub Monday

Coach Harold Cordts announced last evening that the Frostburg State Teachers College - Mount Union College baseball doubleheader scheduled for today at Alliance, Ohio, has been cancelled on account of wet grounds.

Cordts was advised yesterday by Mount Union College that the rainy weather of the past several days has made the field unfit for play and as a result the two games were washed off the schedule this season.

Frostburg State hopes to start its season on Monday with Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City. Next Thursday the Bobcats are scheduled to play Shippensburg State Teachers College at Shippensburg, Pa.

Members of the Frostburg squad are as follows:

SENIOR—Terry Rizer, Frostburg, and Carroll Staggs, Frostburg.

JUNIORS—Don McIntyre, Westernport; Joe Loveless, Westminster; Bill Andrews, Frostburg; George Kuhn, Hagerstown; Bill Siebert, Frostburg; Jack Densmore, Frostburg; Bob Wiles, New Market; Geoff Whitmore, Silver Spring; Bill Bruchey, Frederick; Ronnie Mann, Oxon Hill; R. F. Bittner, Cumberland.

Cincinnati Rally Beats Cards, 7-3

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds staged a five-run ninth-inning rally off Cardinal relief pitcher Al Cicotte to down St. Louis Friday night, 7-3, in the National League opener here.

Cicotte, who relieved starter Curt Simmons in the eighth, had a 3-2 lead going into the final inning. He was rapped for a double by Ed Bailey with one out and walked pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Gus Bell, batting for pitcher Bill Henry, singled in the tying run.

Knuckle ball artist Bob Tiefenauer entered the game for St. Louis and former Cardinal Eddie Kasko unloaded a single that pushed pinch runner Claude Osteen across the plate. Vada Pinson doubled home two more runs and scored on Frank Robinson's single.

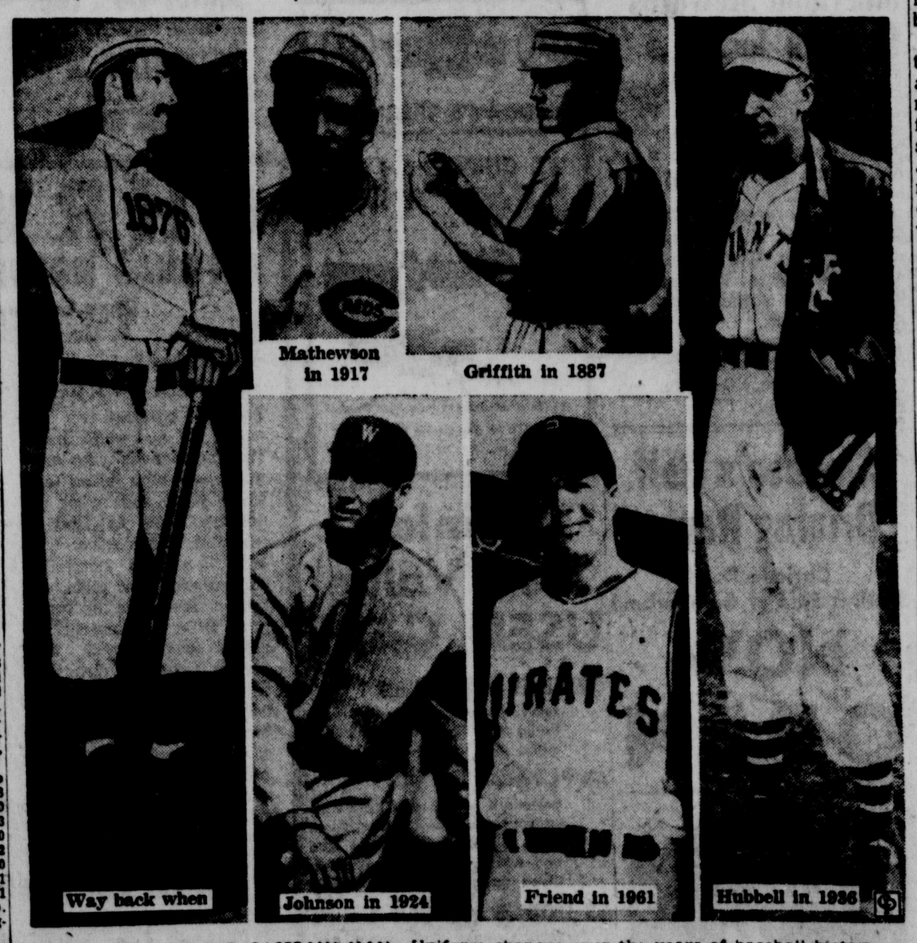
The Frostburg Merchants of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will practice Sunday at 2:30 p. m., on the Beall High School parking lot because the other fields are covered by snow.



CLOTHES MAKE THE (BASEBALL) MAN—Uniform changes over the years of baseball history have come, naturally, although there isn't a heck of a lot of difference in recent years. Styles of the uniforms from way back to the present day are depicted here with comfort and safety accented as signs of progress. The early baseball pants went down to the players' ankles, then were shortened and Carl Hubbell, among others, took the elastic out to make 'em long again. Of most importance in recent years has been the headgear, the helmets which are worn by the batters while at the plate. Helping illustrate above are Clark Griffith, an outstanding pitcher before he became an executive; Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson and Bob Friend. The early uniform at left is on exhibition at Cooperstown, N. Y., site of baseball's shrine.

Florida Grid Coaches Hurt In Explosion

Five Are Injured In Fire On Yacht

St. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —A 42-foot yacht exploded and caught fire in Tampa Bay Friday, injuring five members of the University of Florida football coaching staff and a local television executive.

Bill Black, captain of the plush vessel and the only other person aboard, escaped injury but was hurled several feet by the explosion.

Among those injured was former All-American Jack Green, defensive line coach at the Florida school. Green, who played on the famed Army team of 1945 with Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, suffered burns on his hands and face when he was blown from the boat into the water.

Three Seriously Hurt

Authorities said those most seriously hurt in the mishap were Franklin (Pepper) Rodgers, 29, University of Florida backfield coach; end coach Jim Powell, 39, and Ray Ellis, 56, business manager of Tampa educational television station WEDU.

The other two who were injured were Jimmy Dunn, 23, varsity backfield coach and former star Florida quarterback and John Donaldson, 35, defensive backfield coach.

Capt. Black said the vessel's engines quit and he opened the engine compartment and manually turned the ignition switch. Nothing happened, but when he tried it a second time the blast occurred.

Dragged From Flames

Rodgers was sucked into the engine compartment by the explosion and had to be dragged from the flame by companions.

Dunn, who cannot swim, was supported for 10 minutes in the water before two rescue vessels arrived.

Donaldson, a strong swimmer, returned once to the burning wreckage to get life preservers for his companions. He burned a hand in his effort.

McClain Beats Cleveland, 3-2

Washington Rookie Victor Over Bell

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joe McClain, a bargain in the baseball grab-bag of last December, gave the new Washington Senators their first victory Friday night when he beat the Cleveland Indians on a seven-hitter, 3-2, before a crowd of 10,126.

McClain was purchased from the now - defunct minor league Charleston, W.Va., Senators for $25,000.

The 27-year-old righthander had a shutout for the first seven innings. He retired the first 12 men he faced.

Gary Bell, who started for Cleveland, yielded all Washington's runs and six hits.

The Senators scored twice in the third inning when Pete Daley walked and scored on McClain's long double to center. Marty Keough singled in McClain.

Gene Woodling singled in the sixth with two out. Jim King ran for him and moved up when Willie Tasby walked. Danny O'Connell drove in what later proved to be the winning run with a single.

The Indians were helpless until the eighth. Bubba Phillips singled and moved to third on John Romano's double. Bob Hale batted for pitcher Bob Allen and hit a sacrifice fly, scoring Phillips. Johnny Temple singled in the final Cleveland run before McClain cut off the rally. The rookie walked none and struck out two.

Pittsburgh Scores 6-3 Victory Over Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates came up with a big inning Friday, pushing over four runs in the third when nine men went to bat, then holding on for a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Usually dependable Jim Gilliam's second error in two innings opened the gate in the third for the Pirate rally. When second baseman Bill Mazeroski sacrificed to second, the Pirates came up with four straight hits to push over the four runs.

The only extra base blow of the quartet was shortstop Dick Groat's double.

Dodger starter Sandy Koufax then settled down and pitched two more innings without damage before being lifted for a pinch hitter.

The Dodgers had a big scoring opportunity in the fifth when they loaded the bases on three singles, but first baseman Frank Howard flied out to end the threat.

Pirate hurler Joe Gibbon held the Dodgers scoreless until outfielder Tommy Davis averted a shutout with a homer over the left field screen in the eighth inning leadoff spot.

Howard then singled, but the Pirates came up with their third double play of the game. Roberto Clemente made a series of outstanding catches to contribute also to the defensive heroics.

Tommy Davis got his fourth hit in five times at bat in the ninth inning when the Dodgers loaded the bases, and Gibbon was replaced by ex-Dodger Clem Labine. He struck out the first two men he faced, only to have Davis single in two runs.

But then Duke Snider, who came in as a pinch-hitter, grounded out to the dismay of a crowd of 28,371.

Fisher Loses To Twins, 3-2

Pascual Fans 12 Baltimore Batters

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Camilo Pascual pitched the Minnesota Twins to their second straight victory Friday night, a five-hit, 3-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Cuban righthander fanned 12 in outpitching a trio of Oriole hurlers. Jack Fisher, who worked the first six and two-third innings for the Orioles, was the loser. Billy Hoeft and Hoyt Wilhelm finished up.

Fisher, who whiffed seven, was the victim of an unearned run in the fourth that proved the difference. In all, the Twins had only seven hits.

Zorro Versalles, a light - hitting shortstop, supplied Pascual with the winning run in the seventh with a two-out line single to left. The blow brought in Billy Gardner, who had doubled.

Ridgeley High Holds Annual Sports Dinner

Fox Is Principal Speaker At Program

John Fox, baseball coach at Potomac State College, last night stressed optimism and the importance of an education in an address at the annual Ridgeley High School sports banquet, sponsored by the school PTA and Booster Club.

Mr. Fox told the assembled group of athletes and cheerleaders that they should "set your goals in life very high and then strive to achieve them."

He pointed out the importance of obtaining as much education as possible and told the football, basketball and baseball players that they should be able to take wins and losses in stride.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark of Keyser High School was toastmaster for the annual event which honored the school's athletes and cheerleaders.

Approximately 50 youths who took part in the school's athletic events were among the honored guests. The cheerleaders were cited also for being selected the best cheerleaders in Section 16 of West Virginia.

Guests also included Melvin Dawson, president of the school PTA; James Phillips, president of the Boosters Club; and Jayvees football and basketball officials.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Lewis Bloom, pastor of the Ridgeley Church of the Brethren.

Other remarks were made by Melvin M. Heiskell, principal at Ridgeley High School; Thomas O'Connor, football and basketball coach; and Edgar Tucker, assistant coach.

Entertainment was provided by a boys' quartet, composed of George Ott, Dwight Bloom, Eddie Litten and Jack McFarland.

Hawks Explode In 3d; Defeat Red Wings, 6-3

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks exploded for three third-period goals Friday night to overwhelm the Detroit Red Wings, 6-3, and take the lead of three games to two in their best of seven championship series for the Stanley Cup.

Stan Mikita, who contributed two of the three last-period scores, got the eventual game winner when Detroit was short two men and Chicago one. It came on a short poke after Pierre Pilote's long shot rebounded off Sawchuk's stick.

Mikita's second tally was a 20-footer with less than seven minutes to play.

Meanwhile Pilote drove home a 60-footer from just inside the blue line.

Murray Balfour netted two of Chicago's first three goals and Ron Murphy got the other score for the victors.

Longest shot in the Caliente Future Book on the Kentucky Derby, coming up May 6, is Bren Brad, 1,000 to 1.

The victory was the third straight for Coach Ed Schwarz's thinclads this season.

Cincinnati Rally Beats Cards, 7-3

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds staged a five-run ninth-inning rally off Cardinal relief pitcher Al Cicotte to down St. Louis Friday night, 7-3, in the National League opener here.

Cicotte, who relieved starter Curt Simmons in the eighth, had a 3-2 lead going into the final inning. He was rapped for a double by Ed Bailey with one out and walked pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Gus Bell, batting for pitcher Bill Henry, singled in the tying run.

Knuckle ball artist Bob Tiefenauer entered the game for St. Louis and former Cardinal Eddie Kasko unloaded a single that pushed pinch runner Claude Osteen across the plate. Vada Pinson doubled home two more runs and scored on Frank Robinson's single.

Columbian Squires Open Cage Tournament Today

Seven Quints Vie For 22 Trophies; Finals Set Sunday

The Columbian Squires Maryland State Basketball Tournament will get under way at SS. Peter & Paul gymnasium today with Frostburg meeting Mt. Savage at 9 a. m.

Westernport and Cumberland play in the second game and Marian Circle, Baltimore, opposes Patapsco of Catonsville in the third contest. Notre Dame of Baltimore drew a bye in the opening round of the seven-team tourney.

Semi-finals get under way today at 7 p. m., with the winners of games one and two meeting in the opener and Baltimore facing the victor in the third contest.

The consolation final is billed for Sunday at 2 p. m., and the championship game at 3:15.

A total of 22 trophies will be distributed on Sunday.

The Wilbert Memorial Trophy, donated by the Firlie family, will go to the winning team. This trophy must be won three times by the same team to become a permanent possession. Wilbert Firlie, who died in 1957, served as manager of several LaSalle basketball teams in the late 1920s.

Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus, is donating a permanent first place trophy in memory of their departed brothers and Frostburg Council No. 1442 is giving the second place trophy as a memorial to John Casey.

Other trophies include:

Third Place — by Mt. Savage Council No. 1058.

Team Sportsmanship — Father Bradley Memorial Trophy by Frostburg Circle of Columbian Squires.

Sportsmanship Award — donated by Vincent Leasure.

Five trophies for all-tournament team — donated by Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree, K. of C.

Most Valuable Player Trophy — to be presented by James Brailer, state chairman, Columbian Squires.

West Virginia Frosh Play At Potomac State

Stopped by rain earlier in the week when the Shepherd and Frostburg State games were postponed, Potomac State College hopes to resume baseball action today against the West Virginia University Freshmen at Keyser at 3 p.m.

The Little Mountaineers and the Catamounts will be meeting on the diamond for the first time since 1958 when Coach John Fox's tossers beat the Morgantown team, 11-4 and 2-1 behind "Bink" Barlow and "Tuffy" Richardson.

Today's game is the sixth of the season for Potomac State which won the opener and then dropped four in a row.

Bobcats' Ohio Trip Cancelled

Mt. Union Tilts Off, Play At Hub Monday

Coach Harold Cordts announced last evening that the Frostburg State Teachers College - Mount Union College baseball doubleheader scheduled for today at Alliance, Ohio, has been cancelled on account of wet grounds.

Cordts was advised yesterday by Mount Union College that the rainy weather of the past several days has made the field unfit for play and as a result the two games were washed off the schedule this season.

Frostburg State hopes to start its season on Monday with Hagerstown Junior College in the Hub City. Next Thursday the Bobcats are scheduled to play Shippensburg State Teachers College at Shippensburg, Pa.

Members of the Frostburg squad are as follows:

SENIOR—Terry Rizer, Frostburg, and Carroll Staggs, Frostburg.

JUNIORS—Don McIntyre, Westernport; Joe Loveless, Westminster; Bill Andrews, Frostburg; George Kuhn, Hagerstown; Bill Siebert, Frostburg; Jack Densmore, Frostburg; Bob Wiles, New Market; Geoff Whitmore, Silver Spring; Bill Bruchey, Frederick; Ronnie Mann, Oxon Hill; R. F. Bittner, Cumberland.

CLOTHES MAKE THE (BASEBALL) MAN—Uniform changes over the years of baseball history have come, naturally, although there isn't a heck of a lot of difference in recent years. Styles of the uniforms from way back to the present day are depicted here with comfort and safety accented as signs of progress. The early baseball pants went down to the players' ankles, then were shortened and Carl Hubbell, among others, took the elastic out to make 'em long again. Of most importance in recent years has been the headgear, the helmets which are worn by the batters while at the plate. Helping illustrate above are Clark Griffith, an outstanding pitcher before he became an executive; Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson and Bob Friend. The early uniform at left is on exhibition at Cooperstown, N.Y., site of baseball's shrine.

Florida Grid Coaches Hurt In Explosion

Five Are Injured In Fire On Yacht

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —A 42-foot yacht exploded and caught fire in Tampa Bay Friday, injuring five members of the University of Florida football coaching staff and a local television executive.

Bill Black, captain of the plush vessel and the only other person aboard, escaped injury but was hurled several feet by the explosion.

Among those injured was former All-American Jack Green, defensive line coach at the Florida school. Green, who played on the famed Army team of 1945 with Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, suffered burns on his hands and face when he was blown from the boat into the water.

Three Seriously Hurt

Authorities said those most seriously hurt in the mishap were Franklin (Pepper) Rodgers, 29, University of Florida backfield coach; end coach Jim Powell, 39, and Ray Ellis, 56, business manager of Tampa educational television station WEDU.

The other two who were injured were Jimmy Dunn, 23, varsity backfield coach and former star Florida quarterback and John Donaldson, 35, defensive backfield coach.

Capt. Black said the vessel's engines quit and he opened the engine compartment and manually turned the ignition switch. Nothing happened, but when he tried it a second time the blast occurred.

Dragged From Flames

Rodgers was sucked into the engine compartment by the explosion and had to be dragged from the flame by companions.

Dunn, who cannot swim, was supported for 10 minutes in the water before two rescue vessels arrived.

Donaldson, a strong swimmer, returned once to the burning wreckage to get life preservers for his companions. He burned a hand in his effort.

McClain Beats Cleveland, 3-2

Washington Rookie Victor Over Bell

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joe McClain, a bargain in the baseball grab-bag of last December, gave the new Washington Senators their first victory Friday night when he beat the Cleveland Indians on a seven-hitter, 3-2, before a crowd of 10,126.

McClain was purchased from the now - defunct minor league Charleston, W.Va., Senators for $25,000.

The 27-year-old righthander had a shutout for the first seven innings. He retired the first 12 men he faced.

Gary Bell, who started for Cleveland, yielded all Washington's runs and six hits.

The Senators scored twice in the third inning when Pete Daley walked and scored on McClain's long double to center. Marty Keough singled in McClain.

Gene Woodling singled in the sixth with two out. Jim King ran for him and moved up when Willie Tasby walked. Danny O'Connell drove in what later proved to be the winning run with a single.

The Indians were helpless until the eighth. Bubba Phillips singled and moved to third on John Romano's double. Bob Hale batted for pitcher Bob Allen and hit a sacrifice fly, scoring Phillips. Johnny Temple singled in the final Cleveland run before McClain cut off the rally. The rookie walked none and struck out two.

Pittsburgh Scores 6-3 Victory Over Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates came up with a big inning Friday, pushing over four runs in the third when nine men went to bat, then holding on for a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Usually dependable Jim Gilliam's second error in two innings opened the gate in the third for the Pirate rally. When second baseman Bill Mazeroski sacrificed to second, the Pirates came up with four straight hits to push over the four runs.

The only extra base blow of the quartet was shortstop Dick Groat's double.

Dodger starter Sandy Koufax then settled down and pitched two more innings without damage before being lifted for a pinch hitter.

The Dodgers had a big scoring opportunity in the fifth when they loaded the bases on three singles, but first baseman Frank Howard flied out to end the threat.

Pirate hurler Joe Gibbon held the Dodgers scoreless until outfielder Tommy Davis averted a shutout with a homer over the left field screen in the eighth inning leadoff spot.

Howard then singled, but the Pirates came up with their third double play of the game. Roberto Clemente made a series of outstanding catches to contribute also to the defensive heroics.

Tommy Davis got his fourth hit in five times at bat in the ninth inning when the Dodgers loaded the bases, and Gibbon was replaced by ex-Dodger Clem Labine. He struck out the first two men he faced, only to have Davis single in two runs.

But then Duke Snider, who came in as a pinch-hitter, grounded out to the dismay of a crowd of 28,371.

Fisher Loses To Twins, 3-2

Pascual Fans 12 Baltimore Batters

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Camilo Pascual pitched the Minnesota Twins to their second straight victory Friday night, a five-hit, 3-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The Cuban righthander fanned 12 in outpitching a trio of Oriole hurlers. Jack Fisher, who worked the first six and two-third innings for the Orioles, was the loser. Billy Hoeft and Hoyt Wilhelm finished up.

Fisher, who whiffed seven, was the victim of an unearned run in the fourth that proved the difference. In all, the Twins had only seven hits.

Ridgeley High Holds Annual Sports Dinner

Fox Is Principal Speaker At Program

John Fox, baseball coach at Potomac State College, last night stressed optimism and the importance of an education in an address at the annual Ridgeley High School sports banquet, sponsored by the school PTA and Booster Club.

Mr. Fox told the assembled group of athletes and cheerleaders that they should "set your goals in life very high and then strive to achieve them."

He pointed out the importance of obtaining as much education as possible and told the football, basketball and baseball players that they should be able to take wins and losses in stride.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark of Keyser High School was toastmaster for the annual event which honored the school's athletes and cheerleaders.

Approximately 50 youths who took part in the school's athletic events were among the honored guests. The cheerleaders were cited also for being selected the best cheerleaders in Section 16 of West Virginia.

Guests also included Melvin Dawson, president of the school PTA; James Phillips, president of the Boosters Club; and Jayvees football and basketball officials.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. Lewis Bloom, pastor of the Ridgeley Church of the Brethren.

Other remarks were made by Melvin M. Heiskell, principal at Ridgeley High School; Thomas O'Connor, football and basketball coach; and Edgar Tucker, assistant coach.

Entertainment was provided by a boys' quartet, composed of George Ott, Dwight Bloom, Eddie Litten and Jack McFarland.

Hawks Explode In 3d; Defeat Red Wings, 6-3

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Black Hawks exploded for three third-period goals Friday night to overwhelm the Detroit Red Wings, 6-3, and take the lead of three games to two in their best of seven championship series for the Stanley Cup.

Stan Mikita, who contributed two of the three last-period scores, got the eventual game winner when Detroit was short two men and Chicago one. It came on a short poke after Pierre Pilote's long shot rebounded off Sawchuk's stick.

Mikita's second tally was a 20-footer with less than seven minutes to play.

Meanwhile Pilote drove home a 60-footer from just inside the blue line.

Murray Balfour netted two of Chicago's first three goals and Ron Murphy got the other score for the victors.

Two Division High School Baseball Loop Opens Thursday

LaSalle Plays Sentinels In Initial Game

Six Other Teams To Launch 23rd Race On Friday

The twenty-third annual race of the Allegany County High School Baseball League opens with a "natural" next Thursday when Fort Hill High School's defending champions entertain the LaSalle Explorers.

The LaSalle-Fort Hill game is also the first of six in the annual city championship race. Fort Hill captured city honors last year with a 3-1 record.

The six other schools in the circuit will kick off the lid next Friday when the Allegany Campers visit Flintstone, Beall is at Mt. Savage and Valley at Bruce.

Allegany, Beall, Fort Hill and LaSalle have been members of the league since it was formed in 1939. Bruce joined the race in 1950, Flintstone in 1952, Mt. Savage in 1953 as successor to Barton and Valley supplanted Central in 1954.

Sentinels Won Last 12

Fort Hill closed out its 1960 league campaign with a 12-game winning streak and finished with a 13-1 record. The Sentinels, under Coach John J. Cavanaugh, have been the winningest team in the circuit, having captured outright or shared in nine of the 22 championships. Beall has finished on top six times and LaSalle five. Beall is the only school that ever has won 'em all, posting a 13-0 record during the 1951 season.

George Geatz Returns

George Geatz returns as LaSalle High's baseball mentor after an absence of four years. The Explorers' basketball mentor coached the LaSalle tossers in 1954, 1955 and 1956 and replaces Norman Sell, who tutored the diamond outfit for the past four seasons.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh is dean of league coaches, having handled the reins at Fort Hill since the circuit started. This is Orville "Stony" Jackson's 10th year at Flintstone, John C. Meyers' 8th at Valley, Leonard Ritchie's 6th at Bruce, Joe Carter's 6th at Mt. Savage, Chester G. Payne's 4th at Allegany and Enordo "Moose" Arnone's third at Beall.

Two-Division Circuit

For the first time the league will operate in two divisions with Flintstone, LaSalle, Allegany and Fort Hill in the Eastern and Beall, Mt. Savage, Valley and Bruce in the Western. In each division teams will play home-and-home games with each other and meet the teams of the other division only once. At the close of the regular season there will be interdivision games between the two top finishers. Semi-finals are set for May 26 and the championship game on May 29. Each team will play a schedule of ten games, not including playoffs. Last season the nines played 14 games and started the schedule one week earlier.

Here are the past winners in the league:

Webb Meets Tiger In Ring Return

NEW YORK (AP) — Spider Webb, who quit the ring 14 months ago as a winner and high-ranking middleweight, returns to action Saturday night against Nigeria's Dick Tiger in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

The 29-year-old former Olympian from Chicago bumps into a tough opponent in his first comeback effort. Although he outpointed Tiger in London three years ago, Webb is the 7-5 underdog.

Frostburg K. of C. Score Over Peck's

The Knights of Columbus of the Frostburg Shuffleboard League defeated Peck's Cafe of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League Thursday night at Peck's Cafe by the score of 84-61 and won the six-game series between the teams by the margin of nine points.

Peck's had won the first three games on the K. of C. board by 14 points.

DeSales Colgan was high scorer for the K. of C. with 21 points and Gus Peretti's 22 was high for Peck's.

Trout Season Opens Today In Maryland

Streams Are Cloudy, Daily Limit Seven

Streams are high and the waters are cloudy for the opening of the trout season today, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Conditions will remain this way for several days and Minke urged anglers not to be disappointed if they are unable to get their creel limit.

Release 145,000 Trout

The Game and Inland Fish Department had stocked 47 streams in ten counties with the first of what will total around 145,000 trout to be released this year. The stocking program compares with 110,000 released last year.

Stocking of streams will continue each week after the opening day, Minke stated.

Approximately 10,000 trout placed in streams of Garrett, Washington and Allegany counties came from the federal hatchery at Elkins, W. Va.

The legal limit has been increased on trout. You can catch up to seven fish a day this year, or have that many in your possession at one time. This is two more than were allowed last year. Trout under seven inches should be returned to the streams.

Fishing Hours Set

The hours of fishing are 5:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. They'll change to 6:30 a.m., to 9 p.m., local time in most waters when the state, except Garrett county, switches to Daylight Saving Time April 30. Game wardens will observe Eastern Standard Time for law enforcement.

Anglers have been warned to have their licenses with them. A license is required for anyone over 16 and game wardens will be checking for them.

Streams stocked with trout include:

Allegany County — Evitts Creek, Mill Run, Staub Run, Winebrenner Run, Laurel Run, Mathew Run, Flintstone Creek, Jennings Run, Wolfden Run.

Garrett — Savage River, New Germany, Potomac River, Muddy Creek, Mill Run, Buffalo Run, Piney Run, Puzzley Run, Big Yough River, Little Yough River, Bear Creek, Salt Block.

Washington County — Beaver Creek, St. James Run, Marsh Run, Little Antietam Creek, Little Tonoloway Creek, Semples Run.

Louise Suggs Leads In Civitan Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Louise Suggs, leading money winner in women's golf, shot a methodical one-under-par 70 Friday to take the lead at the midway point in the $10,000 Dallas Civitan Open. She had 145 for 36 holes as she sought her third straight Dallas Open title.

The Atlanta veteran finished the second round with a flourish of birdies to topple Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth. Miss Haynie, leader in the first round with a 73, had another 73 Friday, good for second place.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., had a 72 Friday for 147 and third place in the tourney at the 6,238-yard Glen Lakes Country Club course.

Sunday School League Dinner Slated Tonight

The annual Sunday School Basketball League dinner is slated tonight at 6 o'clock at St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Approximately 350 persons are expected to attend the affair at which the coaches and players of the 31-team circuit will be honored.

Trophies will be awarded to Grace Baptist, First Methodist and First Evangelical United Brethren teams, victors in the regular season and in the league playoffs.

Floyd "Pete" Elliott, president of the league, will be the master of ceremonies at tonight's dinner.

Favorites Named

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI —South African golfing star Gary Player was rated Friday as a 6-1 favorite along with Arnold Palmer in the $40,000 Tournament of Champions May 4-7.

Listed as second choices at 8-1 were Billy Casper Jr., and Sam Snead. Ken Venturi was quoted at 10-1.

Laurel, Golden Gate Feature Derby Eligibles

Others Run Today At Kentucky, Aqueduct

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 87th Kentucky Derby will be raced in Louisville in three weeks and 3-year-old horses eligible for that classic will be seen in the California Derby and the Chesapeake Stakes Saturday.

Six of the seven entered for the $50,000-added California Derby at Golden Gate Fields will be attempting to justify a crack at the big one in Louisville May 6. The probable favorite for the West Coast race is Canadian-owned Flutterby from the Alberta Ranches, Ltd.

Twelve were entered for the $25,000-added Chesapeake at Laurel, Md., but only Alfred Vanderbilt's Ring Around and Ben Weiner's Orleans Doge were nominated for the Kentucky Derby.

The California Derby and Chesapeake both are run at 1⅛ miles and are the final major derby tests in their respective areas.

In addition, four derby candidates headed by the King Ranch's Bal Musette and Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away will appear in the Walnut Ridge Purse, secondary attraction at Aqueduct. The main event at Aqueduct is the $25,000-added Excelsior Handicap, with the Calumet Farm entry of Pied D'Or and On-and-On the probable favorite.

Along with Flutterby, other Kentucky Derby eligibles entered in the California Derby are the Kerr Stable pair of Gay Landing and Mr. Consistency, Crosby and Lovelady's Mighty Mine, W. G. Gilmore's Indian Ali and C. V. Whitney's Songman.

Eleven 3-year-old fillies were entered for the $20,000-added Ashland Stakes at Keeneland, with Calumet Farm's Plum Cake favored under 118 pounds. Top weight in the 6-furlong Ashland is Charlton Clay's Rose Bower, 121.

Maxwell, Souchak Grab Second Round Lead In Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Mike Souchak and Billy Maxwell moved into the 36-hole lead of the $22,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Friday with 138 totals, two shots ahead of first-day leader Charlie Sifford.

Souchak, after a four-under-par front nine 31, slid over on the back side for a 68 while Maxwell turned in his second 69.

Sifford, fighting faulty iron play, carded a 72 for his 140 total that put him a stroke ahead of Don Massengale, Jacksboro, Tex.

The field was trimmed from 115 to the low 60 pros and 10 amateurs for the final two days' play. The cutoff point for the pros was 153, highest of the year's professional tour.

Tied for fifth place at 142, four strokes off the pace, were Gene Littler, Jerry Steelsmith and Dan Sikes.

Defending champion and seven-time winner Sam Snead was tied at 143 with three others.

Rod Hundley Signs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rod Hundley, colorful backcourt star and Ray Felix, veteran center, have signed contracts with the Los Angeles Lakers basketball squad for the 1961-62 season, General Manager Lou Mohns announced Friday.

No terms were disclosed, but Mohs said both players got increases over last season.

REJECTS BRIBE — Lowery Kirk, Memphis State basket ball star, turned down a $1,000 bribe offer to control the point spread in his team's game with Villanova last February, according to Dr. C. C. Humphries, president of MSU. Humphries said the offer was telephoned to Kirk by an unidentified caller from New York two days before the game in Philadelphia. (AP Photofax)

Bribe Offer Rejected By Lowery Kirk

Memphis State Star Turned Down $1,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Lowery Kirk, Memphis State basketball star, turned down a $1,000 bribe offer to control the point spread in his team's game with Villanova last February, the Memphis State president disclosed Friday.

Dr. C. C. Humphreys said the offer came from an unidentified man who telephoned Lowery from New York, two days before the Feb. 11 game in Philadelphia.

Kirk rejected the offer and promptly reported it to the Memphis State coaching staff. Police here and in Philadelphia were notified.

"Three weeks later," President Humphreys said, "we were advised by New York investigators that this was part of a nationwide 'point shaving' scheme."

Memphis State, rated a slight underdog to Villanova, won 78-74. Kirk played one of his best games, scoring 11 points and grabbing 10 rebounds.

Orioles' Ticket Stealers Nabbed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stealing tickets to Oriole baseball games doesn't pay.

Burglars took 408 of them from M. Coker & Co. in downtown Baltimore—along with $200 in cash, police said Friday.

Later a druggist in West Baltimore reported to authorities that two men tried to sell him 65 tickets to Orioles home games.

Police then arrested three men, including a Sparrows Point steelworker who officers say had 117 baseball tickets in his locker.

Duke Beats Terps

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Duke's baseball team, taking advantage of six errors, whipped Maryland 11-5 Friday to remain undefeated in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 3-0 record.

Don Altman, right-handed pitcher for the Blue Devils, gained his third victory of the season, although he gave up 10 hits and five earned runs.

The loss was Maryland's fifth for the season against three victories.

Taylor's Homer Defeats Braves

Buhl Victim Of Cub Blast In Ninth, 3-2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sammy Taylor drove a two-run homer into the centerfield bleachers with two outs in the ninth inning Friday and gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves in a successful home debut before 11,299 fans.

It was the smallest opening day crowd since World War II.

Taylor's blow came on a 3-and-2 count off righthander Bob Buhl who was coasting to his first mound victory of the year. Buhl retired Ernie Banks and struck out Frank Thomas before he was nicked for a single by Al Heist.

Taylor, who came in as a pinch-hitter and struck out in the seventh inning connected with a waist-high pitch that landed in the second row of the 400-foot-distant centerfield bleachers, scoring Heist ahead of him.

Home runs by Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron gave the Braves a 2-1 lead heading into the ninth. The pitching victory went to Don Elston, who came on in relief after starter Bob Anderson went out for a pinchhitter in the seventh.

Rinaldi To Train In Parking Lot

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy's Giulio Rinaldi, who meets Archie Moore for the light heavyweight boxing title June 10, will end his training in a parking lot in the heart of New York.

Madison Square Garden, which is promoting the title fight in the Garden, said Friday it has arranged for Rinaldi to train the last 10 days in a lot adjacent to an Italian restaurant at 48th Street near Broadway.

Rinaldi will eat in the restaurant and live in a penthouse atop the restaurant.

Laver, Ayala Reach Oaks Semi-Finals

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rod Laver of Australia and Luis Ayala of Chile completed an all-foreign semifinal lineup for the 27th River Oaks Tennis Tournament Friday by defeating Wolfgang Stuck and Frank Froehling.

Ayala guaranteed the departure of the Oaks Trophy from the United States for the first time by defeating Froehling, 19, Coral Gables, Fla., 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

The second-seeded Laver eliminated Stuck, Germany's No. 1 player, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Maryland Stewards Suspend Jockey

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Stewards at Laurel Race Course Friday suspended both jockey Colin Shaw and the horse he rode to a last-place finish in Wednesday's seventh race.

Shaw was accused of giving Overton Miss an unsatisfactory ride. Overton Miss, trained by Arthur H. Bowen, was set down for what the stewards described as inconsistency.

Both suspensions will run 10 racing days, with neither the jockey nor the horse eligible for competition until April 27.

Lary Hurls One-Hitter, Tigers Beat Chisox, 7-0

Landis' Scratch Hit Spoils Effort, Colavito Homers

DETROIT (UPI) — Jim Landis' scratch single in the fifth inning prevented Frank Lary from pitching his first no-hit game Friday but the veteran righthander's one-hitter was more than enough to spark the Detroit Tigers to a 7-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Lary, making his first start of his eighth season with the Tigers, had a no-hitter going when Landis came up with two outs in the fifth.

Lary's teammates solidly backed him with a seven run outburst in the first three innings.

They scored once in the first off starter Frank Baumann, on a single by Jake Wood and Al Kaline's double.

Detroit added a pair in the second when Fernandez singled with two out and scored on Lary's double. Lary scored on a single by Wood.

Then the Tigers shelled reliefer Bob Shaw for four runs in the third.

Rocky Colavito slammed a two-run homer, scoring behind Kaline, and Fernandez' double drove home Norm Cash and Steve Boros with the other runs.

Conflict Of Racing Dates Is Unsettled

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) —W. P. C. Perry, chairman of the West Virginia Racing Commission, said Friday he expected no decision at Saturday's commission meeting on a conflict of summer racing dates at two state tracks.

Perry said he expected the meeting would deal only with several jockey cases. In any case, he said, the commission could not act on the racing date conflict until formal applications for dates have been submitted by Charles Town Race Course and Shenandoah Downs.

The two tracks informally had asked for meeting dates that overlap.

Judge Dismisses Grid Fan's Suit Against Railroad

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Ray Harrelson, an avid University of Alabama football fan, couldn't make it to the Bluebonnet Bowl game in Houston, Tex., last Dec. 17.

Harrelson sued the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, claiming his train made an unscheduled stop in New Orleans the evening before the game. The disappointed rooter asked $10,000 damages because he missed the contest between Alabama and the University of Texas.

Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones dismissed the suit, ruling Harrelson could have found a means to get to Houston in time for the game.

Two Division High School Baseball Loop Opens Thursday

LaSalle Plays Sentinels In Initial Game

Six Other Teams To Launch 23rd Race On Friday

The twenty-third annual race of the Allegany County High School Baseball League opens with a "natural" next Thursday when Fort Hill High School's defending champions entertain the LaSalle Explorers.

The LaSalle-Fort Hill game is also the first of six in the annual city championship race. Fort Hill captured city honors last year with a 3-1 record.

The six other schools in the circuit will kick off the lid next Friday when the Allegany Campers visit Flintstone. Beall is at Mt. Savage and Valley at Bruce.

Allegany, Beall, Fort Hill and LaSalle have been members of the league since it was formed in 1939. Bruce joined the race in 1950, Flintstone in 1952, Mt. Savage in 1953 as successor to Barton and Valley supplanted Central in 1954.

Sentinels Won Last 12

Fort Hill closed out its 1960 league campaign with a 12-game winning streak and finished with a 13-1 record. The Sentinels, under Coach John J. Cavanaugh, have been the winningest team in the circuit, having captured outright or shared in nine of the 22 championships. Beall has finished on top six times and LaSalle five. Beall is the only school that ever has won 'em all, posting a 13-0 record during the 1951 season.

George Geatz Returns

George Geatz returns as LaSalle High's baseball mentor after an absence of four years. The Explorers' basketball mentor coached the LaSalle tossers in 1954, 1955 and 1956 and replaces Norman Sell, who tutored the diamond outfit for the past four seasons.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh is dean of league coaches, having handled the reins at Fort Hill since the circuit started. This is Orville "Stony" Jackson's 10th year at Flintstone, John C. Meyers' 8th at Valley, Leonard Ritchie's 6th at Bruce, Joe Carter's 6th at Mt. Savage, Chester G. Payne's 4th at Allegany and Enordo "Moose" Arnone's third at Beall.

Two-Division Circuit

For the first time the league will operate in two divisions with Flintstone, LaSalle, Allegany and Fort Hill in the Eastern and Beall, Mt. Savage, Valley and Bruce in the Western. In each division teams will play home-and-home games with each other and meet the teams of the other division only once. At the close of the regular season there will be interdivision games between the two top finishers. Semi-finals are set for May 26 and the championship game on May 29. Each team will play a schedule of ten games, not including playoffs. Last season the nines played 14 games and started the schedule one week earlier.

Here are the past winners in the league:

Webb Meets Tiger In Ring Return

NEW YORK (AP) — Spider Webb, who quit the ring 14 months ago as a winner and high-ranking middleweight, returns to action Saturday night against Nigeria's Dick Tiger in a television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

The 29-year-old former Olympian from Chicago bumps into a tough opponent in his first comeback effort. Although he outpointed Tiger in London three years ago, Webb is the 7-5 underdog.

Frostburg K. of C. Score Over Peck's

The Knights of Columbus of the Frostburg Shuffleboard League defeated Peck's Cafe of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League Thursday night at Peck's Cafe by the score of 34-61 and won the six-game series between the teams by the margin of nine points.

Peck's had won the first three games on the K. of C. board by 14 points.

DeSales Colgan was high scorer for the K. of C. with 21 points and Gus Peretti's 22 was high for Peck's.

Trout Season Opens Today In Maryland

Streams Are Cloudy, Daily Limit Seven

Streams are high and the waters are cloudy for the opening of the trout season today, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

Conditions will remain this way for several days and Minke urged anglers not to be disappointed if they are unable to get their creel limit.

Release 145,000 Trout

The Game and Inland Fish Department had stocked 47 streams in ten counties with the first of what will total around 145,000 trout to be released this year. The stocking program compares with 110,000 released last year.

Stocking of streams will continue each week after the opening day, Minke stated.

Approximately 10,000 trout placed in streams of Garrett, Washington and Allegany counties came from the federal hatchery at Elkins, W. Va.

The legal limit has been increased on trout. You can catch up to seven fish a day this year, or have that many in your possession at one time. This is two more than were allowed last year. Trout under seven inches should be returned to the streams.

Fishing Hours Set

The hours of fishing are 5:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. They'll change to 6:30 a.m., to 9 p.m., local time in most waters when the state, except Garrett county, switches to Daylight Saving Time April 30. Game wardens will observe Eastern Standard Time for law enforcement.

Anglers have been warned to have their licenses with them. A license is required for anyone over 16 and game wardens will be checking for them.

Streams stocked with trout include:

Allegany County — Evitts Creek, Mill Run, Staub Run, Winebrenner Run, Laurel Run, Mathew Run, Flintstone Creek, Jennings Run, Wolfden Run.

Garrett — Savage River, New Germany, Potomac River, Muddy Creek, Mill Run, Buffalo Run, Piney Run, Puzzley Run, Big Yough River, Little Yough River, Bear Creek, Salt Block.

Washington County — Beaver Creek, St. James Run, Marsh Run, Little Antietam Creek, Little Tonoloway Creek, Semples Run.

Louise Suggs Leads In Civitan Open

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Louise Suggs, leading money winner in women's golf, shot a methodical one-under-par 70 Friday to take the lead at the midway point in the $10,000 Dallas Civitan Open. She had 145 for 36 holes as she sought her third straight Dallas Open title.

The Atlanta veteran finished the second round with a flourish of birdies to topple Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth. Miss Haynie, leader in the first round with a 73, had another 73 Friday, good for second place.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., had a 72 Friday for 147 and third place in the tourney at the 6,238-yard Glen Lakes Country Club course.

Sunday School League Dinner Slated Tonight

The annual Sunday School Basketball League dinner is slated tonight at 6 o'clock at St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Approximately 350 persons are expected to attend the affair at which the coaches and players of the 31-team circuit will be honored.

Trophies will be awarded to Grace Baptist, First Methodist and First Evangelical United Brethren teams, victors in the regular season and in the league playoffs.

Floyd "Pete" Elliott, president of the league, will be the master of ceremonies at tonight's dinner.

Favorites Named

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI —South African golfing star Gary Player was rated Friday as a 6-1 favorite along with Arnold Palmer in the $40,000 Tournament of Champions May 4-7.

Listed as second choices at 8-1 were Billy Casper Jr., and Sam Snead. Ken Venturi was quoted at 10-1.

Laurel, Golden Gate Feature Derby Eligibles

Others Run Today At Kentucky, Aqueduct

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 87th Kentucky Derby will be raced in Louisville in three weeks and 3-year-old horses eligible for that classic will be seen in the California Derby and the Chesapeake Stakes Saturday.

Six of the seven entered for the $50,000-added California Derby at Golden Gate Fields will be attempting to justify a crack at the big one in Louisville May 6. The probable favorite for the West Coast race is Canadian-owned Flutterby from the Alberta Ranches, Ltd.

Twelve were entered for the $25,000-added Chesapeake at Laurel, Md., but only Alfred Vanderbilt's Ring Around and Ben Weiner's Orleans Doge were nominated for the Kentucky Derby.

The California Derby and Chesapeake both are run at 1⅛ miles and are the final major derby tests in their respective areas.

In addition, four derby candidates headed by the King Ranch's Bal Musette and Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away will appear in the Walnut Ridge Purse, secondary attraction at Aqueduct. The main event at Aqueduct is the $25,000-added Excelsior Handicap, with the Calumet Farm entry of Pied D'Or and On-and-On the probable favorite.

Along with Flutterby, other Kentucky Derby eligibles entered in the California Derby are the Kerr Stable pair of Gay Landing and Mr. Consistency, Crosby and Lovelady's Mighty Mine, W. G. Gilmore's Indian Ali and C. V. Whitney's Songman.

Eleven 3-year-old fillies were entered for the $20,000-added Ashland Stakes at Keeneland, with Calumet Farm's Plum Cake favored under 118 pounds. Top weight in the 6-furlong Ashland is Charlton Clay's Rose Bower, 121.

Maxwell, Souchak Grab Second Round Lead In Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Mike Souchak and Billy Maxwell moved into the 36-hole lead of the $22,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Friday with 138 totals, two shots ahead of first-day leader Charlie Sifford.

Souchak, after a four-under-par front nine 31, slid over on the back side for a 68 while Maxwell turned in his second 69.

Sifford, fighting faulty iron play, carded a 72 for his 140 total that put him a stroke ahead of Don Massengale, Jacksboro, Tex.

The field was trimmed from 115 to the low 60 pros and 10 amateurs for the final two days' play. The cutoff point for the pros was 153, highest of the year's professional tour.

Tied for fifth place at 142, four strokes off the pace, were Gene Littler, Jerry Steelsmith and Dan Sikes.

Defending champion and seven-time winner Sam Snead was tied at 143 with three others.

Rod Hundley Signs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rod Hundley, colorful backcourt star and Ray Felix, veteran center, have signed contracts with the Los Angeles Lakers basketball squad for the 1961-62 season, General Manager Lou Mohns announced Friday.

No terms were disclosed, but Mohs said both players got increases over last season.

REJECTS BRIBE — Lowery Kirk, Memphis State basketball star, turned down a $1,000 bribe offer to control the point spread in his team's game with Villanova last February, according to Dr. C. C. Humphries, president of MSU. Humphries said the offer was telephoned to Kirk by an unidentified caller from New York two days before the game in Philadelphia. (AP Photofax)

Bribe Offer Rejected By Lowery Kirk

Memphis State Star Turned Down $1,000

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Lowery Kirk, Memphis State basketball star, turned down a $1,000 bribe offer to control the point spread in his team's game with Villanova last February, the Memphis State president disclosed Friday.

Dr. C. C. Humphreys said the offer came from an unidentified man who telephoned Lowery from New York, two days before the Feb. 11 game in Philadelphia.

Kirk rejected the offer and promptly reported it to the Memphis State coaching staff. Police here and in Philadelphia were notified.

"Three weeks later," President Humphreys said, "we were advised by New York investigators that this was part of a nationwide 'point shaving' scheme."

Memphis State, rated a slight underdog to Villanova, won 78-74. Kirk played one of his best games, scoring 11 points and grabbing 10 rebounds.

Orioles' Ticket Stealers Nabbed

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stealing tickets to Oriole baseball games doesn't pay.

Burglars took 408 of them from M. Coker & Co. in downtown Baltimore—along with $200 in cash, police said Friday.

Later a druggist in West Baltimore reported to authorities that two men tried to sell him 65 tickets to Orioles home games.

Police then arrested three men, including a Sparrows Point steelworker who officers say had 117 baseball tickets in his locker.

Duke Beats Terps

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Duke's baseball team, taking advantage of six errors, whipped Maryland 11-5 Friday to remain undefeated in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 3-0 record.

Don Altman, right-handed pitcher for the Blue Devils, gained his third victory of the season, although he gave up 10 hits and five earned runs.

The loss was Maryland's fifth for the season against three victories.

Taylor's Homer Defeats Braves

Buhl Victim Of Cub Blast In Ninth, 3-2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sammy Taylor drove a two-run homer into the centerfield bleachers with two outs in the ninth inning Friday and gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves in a successful home debut before 11,299 fans.

It was the smallest opening day crowd since World War II.

Taylor's blow came on a 3-and-2 count off righthander Bob Buhl who was coasting to his first mound victory of the year. Buhl retired Ernie Banks and struck out Frank Thomas before he was nicked for a single by Al Heist.

Taylor, who came in as a pinch-hitter and struck out in the seventh inning connected with a waist-high pitch that landed in the second row of the 400-foot-distant centerfield bleachers, scoring Heist ahead of him.

Home runs by Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron gave the Braves a 2-1 lead heading into the ninth. The pitching victory went to Don Elston, who came on in relief after starter Bob Anderson went out for a pinchhitter in the seventh.

Rinaldi To Train In Parking Lot

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy's Giulio Rinaldi, who meets Archie Moore for the light heavyweight boxing title June 10, will end his training in a parking lot in the heart of New York.

Madison Square Garden, which is promoting the title fight in the Garden, said Friday it has arranged for Rinaldi to train the last 10 days in a lot adjacent to an Italian restaurant at 48th Street near Broadway.

Rinaldi will eat in the restaurant and live in a penthouse atop the restaurant.

Laver, Ayala Reach Oaks Semi-Finals

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Rod Laver of Australia and Luis Ayala of Chile completed an all-foreign semifinal lineup for the 27th River Oaks Tennis Tournament Friday by defeating Wolfgang Stuck and Frank Froehling.

Ayala guaranteed the departure of the Oaks Trophy from the United States for the first time by defeating Froehling, 19, Coral Gables, Fla., 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

The second-seeded Laver eliminated Stuck, Germany's No. 1 player, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Maryland Stewards Suspend Jockey

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Stewards at Laurel Race Course Friday suspended both jockey Colin Shaw and the horse he rode to a last-place finish in Wednesday's seventh race.

Shaw was accused of giving Overton Miss an unsatisfactory ride. Overton Miss, trained by Arthur H. Bowen, was set down for what the stewards described as inconsistency.

Both suspensions will run 10 racing days, with neither the jockey nor the horse eligible for competition until April 27.

Lary Hurls One-Hitter, Tigers Beat Chisox, 7-0

Landis' Scratch Hit Spoils Effort, Colavito Homers

DETROIT (UPI) — Jim Landis' scratch single in the fifth inning prevented Frank Lary from pitching his first no-hit game Friday but the veteran righthander's one-hitter was more than enough to spark the Detroit Tigers to a 7-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Lary, making his first start of his eighth season with the Tigers, had a no-hitter going when Landis came up with two outs in the fifth.

The Chicago center fielder sent a sharp grounder between third and short and the ball deflected off shortshop Chico Fernandez' glove for a hit.

Lary's teammates solidly backed him with a seven run outburst in the first three innings.

They scored once in the first off starter Frank Baumann, on a single by Jake Wood and Al Kaline's double.

Detroit added a pair in the second when Fernandez singled with two out and scored on Lary's double. Lary scored on a single by Wood.

Then the Tigers shelled reliefer Bob Shaw for four runs in the third.

Rocky Colavito slammed a two-run homer, scoring behind Kaline, and Fernandez' double drove home Norm Cash and Steve Boros with the other runs.

Conflict Of Racing Dates Is Unsettled

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) —W. P. C. Perry, chairman of the West Virginia Racing Commission, said Friday he expected no decision at Saturday's commission meeting on a conflict of summer racing dates at two state tracks.

Perry said he expected the meeting would deal only with several jockey cases. In any case, he said, the commission could not act on the racing date conflict until formal applications for dates have been submitted by Charles Town Race Course and Shenandoah Downs.

The two tracks informally had asked for meeting dates that overlap.

Judge Dismisses Grid Fan's Suit Against Railroad

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Ray Harrelson, an avid University of Alabama football fan, couldn't make it to the Bluebonnet Bowl game in Houston, Tex., last Dec. 17.

Harrelson sued the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, claiming his train made an unscheduled stop in New Orleans the evening before the game. The disappointed rooter asked $10,000 damages because he missed the contest between Alabama and the University of Texas.

Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones dismissed the suit, ruling Harrelson could have found a means to get to Houston in time for the game.

Upward Shift In Stocks Seen In Irregular Session

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market shifted its balance to the upside Friday in an irregular session. Turnover became heavier as prices improved.

All the Big Three Motors showed plus signs and Ford was outstanding with a gain of 2½. Coppers, some steels, electronics and a wide range of selected issues produced enough gainers to out-balance the losers.

A boost of production schedules at Chrysler, the recalling of hundreds of workers by Ford, a government report that housing starts in March were 8 per cent ahead of February and that industrial production had held steady in March all combined to produce a more optimistic atmosphere in Wall Street.

The rise was highly selective and the best gains were made by specially situated issues.

Volume was 5.24 million shares compared with 4.77 million Thursday.

Of 1,285 issues traded, 596 advanced and 485 declined. It was the first time since Monday that gainers had exceeded losers. New 1961 highs totaled 110 and new lows 10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .40 to 245.50 with industrials up 1.40, rails off .60 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.70 to 693.72, close to its historic closing peak of 694.11.

The 15 most active issues showed a heavy preference for the upside, 13 advancing and 2 declining.

American Stock Exchange prices moved higher on volume of 3.56 million shares compared with 3.18 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. governments showed little change.

Volume totaled $6.67 million par value, compared with $6.82 million Thursday.

Upward Shift In Stocks Seen In Irregular Session

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market shifted its balance to the upside Friday in an irregular session. Turnover became heavier as prices improved.

All the Big Three Motors showed plus signs and Ford was outstanding with a gain of 2½. Coppers, some steels, electronics and a wide range of selected issues produced enough gainers to out-balance the losers.

A boost of production schedules at Chrysler, the recalling of hundreds of workers by Ford, a government report that housing starts in March were 8 per cent ahead of February and that industrial production had held steady in March all combined to produce a more optimistic atmosphere in Wall Street.

The rise was highly selective and the best gains were made by specially situated issues.

Volume was 5.24 million shares compared with 4.77 million Thursday.

Of 1,285 issues traded, 596 advanced and 485 declined. It was the first time since Monday that gainers had exceeded losers. New 1961 highs totaled 110 and new lows 10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .40 to 245.50 with industrials up 1.40, rails off .60 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.70 to 693.72, close to its historic closing peak of 694.11.

The 15 most active issues showed a heavy preference for the upside, 13 advancing and 2 declining.

American Stock Exchange prices moved higher on volume of 3.56 million shares compared with 3.18 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. governments showed little change.

Volume totaled $6.67 million par value, compared with $6.82 million Thursday.

Basic Phone Rates To Drop In Cumberland

Westernport Also Affected By Change

Telephone subscribers in Cumberland and Westernport will be given a decrease in their basic monthly service rates as a result of a recent ruling by the Public Service Commission affecting the annual income of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Actually, the PSC gave the C&P Company permission to increase its rates to provide an annual increase in gross revenue, but local and Westernport subscribers will be given a cut on their monthly bills.

The decrease in the bills for customers in these two exchanges is due to the method of establishing rate classifications proposed by the telephone company.

The PSC made the ruling on the maximum annual increase in gross revenue of $458,000 on April 6, and gave the telephone company until today to file the new rate schedules.

Some Increases

Some telephone subscribers in certain exchanges in Allegany County will be given slight increases in their monthly bills, while certain other charges will be reduced or eliminated.

All changes in the new rate schedule are effective today.

Following is a statement by Robert G. Garner, local manager of the C&P Company, on the rate changes for this area:

"A change in the method of establishing rate classifications by including only main telephones in the base on which rates are calculated has resulted in the reduction in the charge for business and residence main service for Cumberland and Westernport subscribers.

In the other exchanges in Allegany County, the charges for business and residence main telephones will increase 10 cents per month.

"The reduction in local service charges should make telephone service even more valuable in the Cumberland and Westernport exchanges for residence users and businessmen alike.

Other Changes

"We feel that the new rate schedules demonstrate once again the telephone company's desire to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.

"A number of subscribers who have been paying mileage for for telephone service beyond the base rate area will find these charges have been reduced due to the continued growth and expansion of the telephone service in the area.

"Among the other incidental charges in the new schedules, residence extensions will go up five cents per month. Installation charges have been eliminated in some cases on items such as extension bells and push buttons, and color sets are now installed on a volume discount basis.

"Subscribers will be advised on their next bill of the effective date of the charges and any retro-active credits."

Reservoir Is Cleaned

Crews from the Lake Gordon filtration plant yesterday scrubbed down the Fort Hill water reservoir.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the job of scrubbing, hosing down, inspecting and sterilizing the 3,500,000 gallon reservoir was started yesterday at 7 a. m.

The task was completed by noon, when refilling operations began.

Charles R. Scarlett, assistant city engineer, inspected the reservoir during the operation and reported it was in good condition.

A crew headed by Ray Nixon, filter plant foreman, did the work.

Water pressure in the area served by the reservoir was expected to return to normal by today.

Scout Training Sessions Planned

Several training courses for leaders of Nemacolin Trail District, Potomac Council, Boy Scouts are scheduled next week here.

The first one will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for the Catholic committee on scouting training.

The other will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. and will be the third session in the basic scout leaders training course. It will be given at Central YMCA.

C&O Canal Hikers Plan Annual Reunion May 5-6

The seventh annual reunion of the C&O Canal hikers who walked the 185-mile towpath from here to Washington, D. C., in March 1954 has been set for May 5 and 6.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who led the original hike to start the move to make the entire canal a National Park, will again lead the hikers.

In 1957 the group incorporated as the C&O Canal Association "to sponsor and encourage the conservation and development of the recreational resources of the Potomac River Basin."

Dr. John H. Cover, association president, said the camp-out and annual meeting will be held near Seneca on the evening of May 5.

The following morning the reunion hike will begin at the historic Canal aqueduct at Seneca and proceed downstream 16 miles to the Sycamore Island footbridge about 1½ miles above the District line.

The annual banquet is slated that evening at the Westmoreland Congregational Church at Westmoreland Circle on the Maryland-District line on Massachusetts Avenue N. W. The banquet is an informal public dinner and business meeting where annual reports are made on the state of the Potomac Basin and the Canal.

Among those who have accepted invitations to hike or attend the dinner include Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, (D. Colo.) and Henry S. Reuss (D. Wis.).

Concert Assn. Member Drive Ends Today

Today winds up the third annual membership week of the Tri-State Community Concert Association with every prospect that last season's record membership of 1,420 will be exceeded.

In order to allow time for processing the tremendous number of returns, the office on North Liberty Street across from the Fort Cumberland Hotel will be closed at 1 p. m. today so the booking committee may know early this afternoon how much can be spent on next season's atractions.

Anyone missed by workers may secure a membership by going to the campaign office before 1 p. m.

No tickets will be available next season for single attractions as the membership will fill the capacity of Fort Hill Hill auditorium. As of yesterday evening, the 1961-62 membership was within 120 of the seating capacity of Fort Hill auditorium. No seats are reserved, but no more memberships will be sold after the auditorium capacity is taken.

Grand opera, a 92-piece symphony orchestra and a dance revue are already booked. At least one, maybe two more, events will be booked today for next season.

Signs Topic Of Zoning Board Meet

The LaVale Zoning Board will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday, April 24 at the fire hall in that community to advise commercial establishments on the zoning regulations regarding signs.

Lloyd H. Buchanan, chairman, said a similar meeting was held earlier this week at the fire hall and all commercial organizations in LaVale were invited to attend.

Mr. Buchanan said there are about 100 commercial establishments in the community although only 19 organizations were represented at the meeting.

He said the board will continue to make every effort to bring about compliance with the zoning ordinance.

Those commercial organizations which were not in attendance at the this week's meeting are urged to attend the April 24 meeting.

Water Line Is Repaired

Water Department crews yesterday afternoon completed repairs to a six-inch water main which broke at the intersection of Lee and Washington streets yesterday morning.

Simon K. Carroll, water superintendent, said the broken line was repaired at 2 p. m., restoring service to several sections on the West Side.

Affected by the break which occurred at 8:15 a. m. were Washington and Fayette Streets, from Smallwood Street to the railroad, and Lee Street from Greene to Fayette Street.

Officials said the new radio communications system helped to speed the repairs.

Library Week Observance Planned Here

Bookmobile Schedule Set

A special schedule has been arranged for the Allegany County bookmobile next week in observance of National Library Week, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Meanwhile, Miss Walsh also pointed out that today is the deadline for filing entries in the National Library Week poster contest sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce in cooperation with the County Library.

"For A Richer, Fuller Life—Read" is the poster contest theme.

As a highlight of the Library Week observance, the new bookmobile Monday will visit the county's two largest communities outside of Cumberland. It will be in Frostburg on Main Street in front of the American Legion from 10 a. m. until noon Monday. Westernport will be visited from 2 until 4 p. m. Monday when the bookmobile stops at the City Hall parking lot. Special programs are planned at both library branches.

The schedule for the rest of the week:

Tuesday, McCoole, school parking area, 10 a. m. until noon; Mt. Savage, Poland's Service Station, 2 to 4 p. m.; Wednesday, Eckhart, school parking area, 10 a. m. until noon; LaVale, library, 1:30 until 4 p. m.; Thursday, Piney Plains, school, 10 a. m. until noon; Flintstone, post office, 1 to 2 p. m.; Oldtown, Lewis Store, 3 to 4 p. m.; Friday, Midland, American Legion parking lot, 11 a. m. until 12:30 p. m., and Lonaconing, front of old post office on Union Street, 2 until 4 p. m.

Maintenance Of Way Lodge Will Meet

Cumberland Lodge 1028, Brotherhod of Maintenance of Way Employes, will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, 125 South Liberty Street.

Walter R. House, secretary-treasurer, said all members are urged to attend, as business of interest to members will be transacted.

Asks Truck Bids

The Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland, is advertising for bids, to be opened April 28 at 2 p. m., for a ¾-ton pickup truck.

Union Gives To SA

Members of Local 261, International Chemical Workers union at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory have contributed $300 to the Christmas shoes fund of the local Salvation Army, union officers announced.

Teachers Will Attend County Conference

Baltimore Educator Will Address Group

Although the Allegany County public school pupils will have a holiday Monday, all of the county's teachers, principals and supervisors will be busy all day attending an annual conference at Allegany High School.

Dr. George B. Brain, the 40-year-old superintendent of public instruction in Baltimore city, will deliver the principal address at 9:15 a.m. Monday in the Allegany auditorium. "Today's Challenges in Education" will be the conference theme as well as the topic for Dr. Brain's remarks.

The Baltimore superintendent assumed his present position in January 1960. Before that he had been a school administrator in the State of Washington.

Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will give the invocation at the opening program. LaVern J. Hahn, supervisor of music education in the county schools, will lead the group of more than 700 persons in the National Anthem and Pledge of Allegiance.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster will extend greetings. Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer then will be called upon to introduce platform guests. Mr. Webster will introduce the guest speaker.

After Dr. Brain's address, Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools, will review the program planned for the day.

Some 51 exhibits will be set up in the Allegany gymnasium for the enlightment of the county's educators. These exhibits will include textbooks, maps, globes, visual aid equipment, films and film strips, typewriters and other office machines used in commercial courses and physical education equipment.

Elementary school teachers will visit the exhibits in the morning and attend group discussion meetings in the afternoon. The high school teachers will have their group meetings in the morning and will visit the exhibits in the afternoon.

Lunch will be served in the Allegany cafeteria by Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias, and her staff.

Plavnick Asked To Confer With Planning Unit

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission is tentatively scheduled to meet with a Washington, D.C., planner here April 21 at 7:30 p.m. in connection with its search for a planning consultant.

Robert L. Plavnick is a planner for the National Capital Parks and Planning Commission. He is being asked to come here to discuss factors in the selection at the suggestion of Milton B. Millon, director of the Technical Advisory Service of the University of Maryland.

During the past few months, the commission has met with representatives of four firms which are interested in doing planning work for the city.

'The Torch' Given Top Honor By Press Group

LaSalle High School's monthly publication, "The Torch," has been given a first-place rating by the National Scholastic Press Association sponsored by the University of Minnesota.

Brother G. Richard, FSC, English instructor at the local high school and advisor for the newspaper said "The Torch" joined the association only last September.

The rating is based on layout, content, balance, photography, and coverage of school, alumni and faculty activities, he said.

LaSalle's newspaper was entered in competition with schools having an enrollment of 200 students of fewer. At least two or three issues were submitted to the national association to be rated with other schools of the country.

Editor of the newspaper is William Leasure, a senior. John Sitter, a junior, and Gary Peterson, a senior, are co-editors. James Sisk, a junior is feature editor and Michael Patton, a senior, is sports editor.

The local school paper has been affiliated with the Maryland State Press Association.

Economists Meet Today

All home economists from five counties are invited to a meeting of the Western Maryland Home Economics Group from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. today at Frostburg State Teachers College, according to Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton.

Mrs. Eaton, who is supervisor of cafeterias in Allegany County public schools, is in charge of arrangements.

The principal speaker will be Mrs. Roger L. Hosbein of Frostburg. "Modes of Living Around The World" will be her topic. She will show films taken on her own trip around the world.

Home economists from Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Carroll counties have been invited to the meeting.

Two Injured In Separate Accidents

Two persons were injured in separate automobile accidents late last night, and at least one was hospitalized.

William Maynard Bishop, 49, of RD 5, Cumberland, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital with multiple injuries after he was hit by a car while crossing U.S. 220 at the Fairgo Road intersection.

Trooper Joseph Smith said Mr. Bishop was hit by a car driven by Robert Lee Clayton, 22, of 528 Columbia Avenue at 10:35 p. m.

Raymond Wills, 16, of 708 Montgomery Avenue, was at Memorial Hospital last night after the car he was driving missed a curve on a road near Cumberland Country Club and rolled down an embankment, spilling Wills and two passengers from the car.

The passengers, Kenneth Brown, 15, of 459 Goethe Street, and William Weigelt, also 15, of 342 Reservoir Avenue, were not hospitalized, and it was uncertain last night whether young Wills' injuries were serious enough to require hospitalization.

Trooper Willis Foreman investigated the accident, which occurred at about 10:20 p. m.

Two Enlist In Army

Two young men have enlisted in the Army for three years, according to Sgt. Thomas Walbert, local Army recruiting officer. John M. Riggs, 525 Virginia Avenue, has enlisted in the airborne and Robert F. Cecil, Lonaconing, has enlisted in the ballistic missile repair course.

Sgt. Walbert is conducting preprocessing sessions for high school students on Saturdays in the recruiting office. Physical tests are given, along with the Army battery qualification test.

Three Allegany and three Mt. Savage students have taken the tests, and on April 22, three Ridgeley and two Mt. Savage students will be pre-processed. Ten Oldtown High School students will take the tests May 6.

Students who are pre-processed are not obligated to enlist in the Army, but those taking the test who qualify may request specific Army school courses if they decide to enlist.

Huge Natural Gas Reserves Are Purchased

Move Is Expected To Stabilize Costs

The upward trend of gas prices in this area may level off as the result of the purchase by the Columbia Gas System, Inc., of 6.2 trillion cubic feet of natural gas from wells in Southwest Texas.

The gas is to be delivered over the next quarter of a century and the company said it "will be acquired at a relatively firm price over a long term, and will tend to level off the upward trend of prices which we have been experiencing."

The plan was announced this week by Humble Oil and Refining Company and the Columbia Gas System.

The oil firm is joining in the formation of a new interstate pipeline company, Monterey Gas Transmission Company, and will sell to the new firm reserves of 6.2 trillion cubic feet.

At the same time, Columbia Gas announced a system company will enter into a long-term gas purchase contract for the gas reserves.

Under present plans, the pipeline to be built by Monterey will begin late next year to move some 700 million cubic feet of gas each day from Texas to Alexandria, La., for sale to United Fuel Gas Company, principal supplier of gas to other Columbia Gas System companies.

A Columbia Gas subsidiary will transport the gas from Alexandria to Columbia's consuming area.

Jobless File For Emergency Benefit Checks

Up to 800 residents of Allegany County are expected to begin drawing checks during the last week of April under the federal program of extended unemployment benefits.

Francis A. Kenney, manager, said 437 unemployed workers signed up at the Cumberland office of the Department of Employment Security on April 8, and that from 20 to 30 have applied each day this week.

Those eligible under the emergency program may draw up to half of the amount they originally were paid in regular benefits.

The program is a temporary one in Maryland and applies only to unemployment between April 9, 1961, and June 30, 1962.

Eligible are workers who have exhausted their regular benefits since June 30, 1960, and are now unemployed, able to work and available for work.

The benefits will average $30 a week and will be payable to those who cannot secure work during the period.

Mr. Kenney said the number of claimants in this county may reach 1,000 before the end of the 13-week period.

Tawes Names 15 Judges

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes named a 15-judge Municipal Court for Baltimore City Friday with T. Barton Harrington, former Democratic state chairman to serve as chief judge.

Tawes chose all the judges from a controversial list of 40 names submitted to him by a subcommittee of the Baltimore City Bar Association and which the association, but a majority vote Thursday night, urged him to ignore.

Five of those appointed are presently traffic or police magistrates in the system of magisterial courts which will be replaced by the new Municipal court May 1.

He named Harrington, Howard L. Aaron and John McGuire from among present police magistrates and William H. Hudnet and I. Sewell Lamdin from among present traffic court magistrates.

Posts also went to two members of the Maryland Legislature—Sen. Aaron A. Baer and Del. Jerome Robinson, both Democrats from Baltimore's 4th district.

The other appointees to take seats May 1 are Robert Hammerman, Basil A. Thomas and Miss Mary Arabian, presently an assistant attorney general.

Four additional judges are to be added after June 1 under terms of a separate legislative act. The governor is appointing Albert H. Blum, A. Jerome Diener, Joseph C. Finnerty and William L. K. Barrett to these seats.

Harrington will receive $16,000 a year as chief judge. The associates will be paid $15,000 each.

Federal Prisoner Held

East Side firemen were called to Henderson Avenue and Knox Street at 10:32 p.m. yesterday when a car owned by A. A. Healy of Alton, Ill., caught fire. Damage was confined to scorched paint on the hood.

Basic Phone Rates To Drop In Cumberland

Westernport Also Affected By Change

Telephone subscribers in Cumberland and Westernport will be given a decrease in their basic monthly service rates as a result of a recent ruling by the Public Service Commission affecting the annual income of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

Actually, the PSC gave the C&P Company permission to increase its rates to provide an annual increase in gross revenue, but local and Westernport subscribers will be given a cut on their monthly bills.

The decrease in the bills for customers in these two exchanges is due to the method of establishing rate classifications proposed by the telephone company.

The PSC made the ruling on the maximum annual increase in gross revenue of $458,000 on April 6, and gave the telephone company until today to file the new rate schedules.

Some Increases

Some telephone subscribers in certain exchanges in Allegany County will be given slight increases in their monthly bills, while certain other charges will be reduced or eliminated.

All changes in the new rate schedule are effective today.

Following is a statement by Robert G. Garner, local manager of the C&P Company, on the rate changes for this area:

"A change in the method of establishing rate classifications by including only main telephones in the base on which rates are calculated has resulted in the reduction in the charge for business and residence main service for Cumberland and Westernport subscribers.

In the other exchanges in Allegany County, the charges for business and residence main telephones will increase 10 cents per month.

"The reduction in local service charges should make telephone service even more valuable in the Cumberland and Westernport exchanges for residence users and businessmen alike.

Other Changes

"We feel that the new rate schedules demonstrate once again the telephone company's desire to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.

"A number of subscribers who have been paying mileage for for telephone service beyond the base rate area will find these charges have been reduced due to the continued growth and expansion of the telephone service in the area.

"Among the other incidental charges in the new schedules, residence extensions will go up five cents per month. Installation charges have been eliminated in some cases on items such as extension bells and push buttons, and color sets are now installed on a volume discount basis.

"Subscribers will be advised on their next bill of the effective date of the charges and any retro-active credits."

Share Leading Roles

The roles of Pawnee Bill and Chief Sitting Bull will be portrayed by John Rossi, left, and Dr. C. N. Foose, respectively, in the Cumberland Elks Lodge 63 show to be presented Monday and Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. in the Maryland Theater for the Allegany League for Crippled Children. Tickets for the Broadway musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," will be sold today and tomorrow from noon to 2 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. in the lobby of the Second National Bank. "Good seats are available," according to Joseph F. Stakem, general chairman. A matinee will be held Monday at 2:30.

C&O Canal Hikers Plan Annual Reunion May 5-6

The seventh annual reunion of the C&O Canal hikers who walked the 185-mile towpath from here to Washington, D. C., in March 1954 has been set for May 5 and 6.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who led the original hike to start the move to make the entire canal a National Park, will again lead the hikers.

In 1957 the group incorporated as the C&O Canal Association "to sponsor and encourage the conservation and development of the recreational resources of the Potomac River Basin."

Dr. John H. Cover, association president, said the camp-out and annual meeting will be held near Seneca on the evening of May 5.

The following morning the reunion hike will begin at the historic Canal aqueduct at Seneca and proceed downstream 16 miles to the Sycamore Island footbridge about 1½ miles above the District line.

The annual banquet is slated that evening at the Westmoreland Congregational Church at Westmoreland Circle on the Maryland-District line on Massachusetts Avenue N. W. The banquet is an informal public dinner and business meeting where annual reports are made on the state of the Potomac Basin and the Canal.

Among those who have accepted invitations to hike or attend the dinner include Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, (D. Colo.) and Henry S. Reuss (D. Wis.).

Concert Assn. Member Drive Ends Today

Today winds up the third annual membership week of the Tri-State Community Concert Association with every prospect that last season's record membership of 1,420 will be exceeded.

In order to allow time for processing the tremendous number of returns, the office on North Liberty Street across from the Fort Cumberland Hotel will be closed at 1 p. m. today so the booking committee may know early this afternoon how much can be spent on next season's atractions.

Anyone missed by workers may secure a membership by going to the campaign office before 1 p. m.

No tickets will be available next season for single attractions as the membership will fill the capacity of Fort Hill Hill auditorium. As of yesterday evening, the 1961-62 membership was within 120 of the seating capacity of Fort Hill auditorium. No seats are reserved, but no more memberships will be sold after the auditorium capacity is taken.

Grand opera, a 92-piece symphony orchestra and a dance revue are already booked. At least one, maybe two more, events will be booked today for next season.

Reservoir Is Cleaned

Crews from the Lake Gordon filtration plant yesterday scrubbed down the Fort Hill water reservoir.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said the job of scrubbing, hosing down, inspecting and sterilizing the 3,500,000 gallon reservoir was started yesterday at 7 a. m.

The task was completed by noon, when refilling operations began.

Charles R. Scarlett, assistant city engineer, inspected the reservoir during the operation and reported it was in good condition.

A crew headed by Ray Nixon, filter plant foreman, did the work.

Water pressure in the area served by the reservoir was expected to return to normal by today.

Scout Training Sessions Planned

Several training courses for leaders of Nemacolin Trail District, Potomac Council, Boy Scouts are scheduled next week here.

The first one will be held Monday at 7:30 p. m. at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for the Catholic committee on scouting training.

The other will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. and will be the third session in the basic scout leaders training course. It will be given at Central YMCA.

Signs Topic Of Zoning Board Meet

The LaVale Zoning Board will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday, April 24 at the fire hall in that community to advise commercial establishments on the zoning regulations regarding signs.

Lloyd H. Buchanan, chairman, said a similar meeting was held earlier this week at the fire hall and all commercial organizations in LaVale were invited to attend.

Mr. Buchanan said there are about 100 commercial establishments in the community although only 19 organizations were represented at the meeting.

He said the board will continue to make every effort to bring about compliance with the zoning ordinance.

Those commercial organizations which were not in attendance at the this week's meeting are urged to attend the April 24 meeting.

Water Line Is Repaired

Water Department crews yesterday afternoon completed repairs to a six-inch water main which broke at the intersection of Lee and Washington streets yesterday morning.

Simon K. Carroll, water superintendent, said the broken line was repaired at 2 p. m., restoring service to several sections on the West Side.

Affected by the break which occurred at 8:15 a. m. were Washington and Fayette Streets, from Smallwood Street to the railroad, and Lee Street from Greene to Fayette Street.

Officials said the new radio communications system helped to speed the repairs.

Library Week Observance Planned Here

Bookmobile Schedule Set

A special schedule has been arranged for the Allegany County bookmobile next week in observance of National Library Week, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Meanwhile, Miss Walsh also pointed out that today is the deadline for filing entries in the National Library Week poster contest sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce in cooperation with the County Library.

"For A Richer, Fuller Life—Read" is the poster contest theme.

As a highlight of the Library Week observance, the new bookmobile Monday will visit the county's two largest communities outside of Cumberland. It will be in Frostburg on Main Street in front of the American Legion from 10 a. m. until noon Monday. Westernport will be visited from 2 until 4 p. m. Monday when the bookmobile stops at the City Hall parking lot. Special programs are planned at both library branches.

The schedule for the rest of the week:

Tuesday, McCoole, school parking area, 10 a. m. until noon; Mt. Savage, Poland's Service Station, 2 to 4 p. m.; Wednesday, Eckhart, school parking area, 10 a. m. until noon; LaVale, library, 1:30 until 4 p. m.; Thursday, Piney Plains, school, 10 a. m. until noon; Flintstone, post office, 1 to 2 p. m.; Oldtown, Lewis Store, 3 to 4 p. m.; Friday, Midland, American Legion parking lot, 11 a. m. until 12:30 p. m., and Lonaconing, front of old post office on Union Street, 2 until 4 p. m.

Teachers Will Attend County Conference

Baltimore Educator Will Address Group

Although the Allegany County public school pupils will have a holiday Monday, all of the county's teachers, principals and supervisors will be busy all day attending an annual conference at Allegany High School.

Dr. George B. Brain, the 40-year-old superintendent of public instruction in Baltimore city, will deliver the principal address at 9:15 a.m. Monday in the Allegany auditorium. "Today's Challenges in Education" will be the conference theme as well as the topic for Dr. Brain's remarks.

The Baltimore superintendent assumed his present position in January 1960. Before that he had been a school administrator in the State of Washington.

Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will give the invocation at the opening program. LaVern J. Hahn, supervisor of music education in the county schools, will lead the group of more than 700 persons in the National Anthem and Pledge of Allegiance.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster will extend greetings. Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer then will be called upon to introduce platform guests. Mr. Webster will introduce the guest speaker.

After Dr. Brain's address, Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools, will review the program planned for the day.

Some 51 exhibits will be set up in the Allegany gymnasium for the enlightment of the county's educators. These exhibits will include textbooks, maps, globes, visual aid equipment, films and film strips, typewriters and other office machines used in commercial courses and physical education equipment.

Elementary school teachers will visit the exhibits in the morning and attend group discussion meetings in the afternoon. The high school teachers will have their group meetings in the morning and will visit the exhibits in the afternoon.

Lunch will be served in the Allegany cafeteria by Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias, and her staff.

Walker Cast In Authentic Role On TV

Very often an actor will go to great extremes in an effort to develope the proper mood for his next role. Many have traveled thousands of miles to absorb the native atmosphere for the part, occasionally, but very rarely a role so parallels the real life of an actor that it would seem almost made to order. In the area of TV Westerns this has not been the case too often. The hordes of "Cigar store cowboys' are more the rule. However, there is one outstanding exception, Clint Walker.

Clint Walker, the tall hero of "Cheyenne" not only looks, talks and acts like a cowboy but has lived and worked outdoors since the age of nine and has been a real cowpoke in Texas and a Deputy Sheriff in Las Vegas. In addition, while he was punching cows in Texas he did a great deal of prospecting using a pick and shovel.

Actually, he has never given up the urge to see if there is gold in "them thar hills." Today, Clint hunts uranium, as well as gold and does it scientifically. Now he does his prospecting with a Geiger Counter, scintillation and black light.

"On the Waterfront," Columbia Pictures' 1954 Academy Award winner, will be released to television in 1963.

BOB HOPE: Presides over Oscars

Bob Hope Again Will Emcee Oscar Show

Although the excitement, glamour, suspense and pathos are still the same, there have been many changes since the first Oscars were awarded in 1928 to Janet Gaynor, best actress for her performance in "Seventh Heaven"; Emil Jannings, the best actor for "The Way of All Flesh," and the unforgettable "Wings" for the best motion picture.

For the first time in 11 years the spectacle will not come from the Pantages Theatre. To the more than 100 million viewers and listeners via ABC Television and Radio Networks in the United States and CBC in Canada, the impact of the on-stage excitement will be for the first time at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

Valentine Davies, Academy President, will officially open the ceremonies, then on a pre-arranged cue, Bob Hope, in traditional white tie and tails, will make his entrance on stage to the strains of "Thanks For the Memory," take his place at a lectern and begin his barrage of buffoonery.

Hope's selection as the master of ceremonies for the star-studded telecast marks the second successive year he has been its sole master of ceremonies and the ninth time since 1939 that the comedian has taken the emcee's role for the presentations.

A highlight of last year's show was the surprise presentation to Hope of the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award "for outstanding philanthropic contributions to the film industry."

Walker Cast In Authentic Role On TV

Very often an actor will go to great extremes in an effort to develope the proper mood for his next role. Many have traveled thousands of miles to absorb the native atmosphere for the part, occasionally, but very rarely a role so parallels the real life of an actor that it would seem almost made to order. In the area of TV Westerns this has not been the case too often. The hordes of "Cigar store cowboys' are more the rule. However, there is one outstanding exception, Clint Walker.

Clint Walker, the tall hero of "Cheyenne" not only looks, talks and acts like a cowboy but has lived and worked outdoors since the age of nine and has been a real cowpoke in Texas and a Deputy Sheriff in Las Vegas. In addition, while he was punching cows in Texas he did a great deal of prospecting using a pick and shovel.

Actually, he has never given up the urge to see if there is gold in "them thar hills." Today, Clint hunts uranium, as well as gold and does it scientifically. Now he does his prospecting with a Geiger Counter, scintillation and black light.

"On the Waterfront," Columbia Pictures' 1954 Academy Award winner, will be released to television in 1963.
